Trade Proposals Ticketed First for Congress

Counter Offensive Plan Would Suffer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may tackle President Kennedy's proposal for a new trade program as its first major piece of business in 1962, if the strategy under consideration by administration leaders is adopted.

The idea would be to give opponents as little time as possible to mount a counter offensive to the administration's intense campaign for a broadened trade act—a campaign that has been under way since Congress adjourned in September.

Many Push Theme

The theme that the United States must promptly come to an agreement with the booming European Common Market or risk being squeezed out of vital export markets has been hammered by high officials in speech after speech during the recess.

A joint economic subcommittee headed by international trade-minded Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., has provided a forum for additional arguments in favor of increasing the President's tariff-cutting powers.

The stiffest opposition to an expanded reciprocal trade program comes from Congress members scattered across the country and in both parties but united in having industries at home that consider themselves particularly vulnerable to foreign competition.

May Sidetrack One

It was learned today that the House Ways and Means Committee, which has charge of this and other major administration proposals, may be asked to sidetrack one of the others in order to rush a reciprocal trade bill to the floor.

Even under forced draft, several weeks would be required to conduct hearings and shape a measure that would stand a chance of House passage. The key consideration likely would be proposals for help to vulnerable industries to diversify or otherwise adjust themselves to increased competition. Kennedy is expected to make detailed recommendations soon after Congress reconvenes Jan. 10.

Administration strategists say they have the votes in the powerful 25-man committee to approve legislation substantially in accord with Kennedy's ideas. Some Republican members are known to favor broadened reciprocal trade arrangements and will likely concentrate on obtaining what they consider favorable domestic industry relief provisions.

Alderman From 11th Spokesman

GOP Councilmen Vote Him Leader

The Republican members of the 1962 Common Council last night selected Alderman Joseph F. Carroll Jr., as minority leader. The voting took place during a Republican caucus attended by the aldermen-elect at last night's Common Council meeting.

Starting his second term as alderman from the 11th ward with the next session, Carroll has been an active and articulate member of the minority during his two years in the Council. He has been a member of the Laws and Rules Committee, the Building and Supply Committee, the Urban Renewal Committee, and was appointed chairman of a special committee to study the possibility of Permanent Personal Registration.

Popular With Voters

A conscientious representative of the people of the 11th ward, he attended all meetings of the Council, and increased his majority from 60 to 200 votes during the last election.

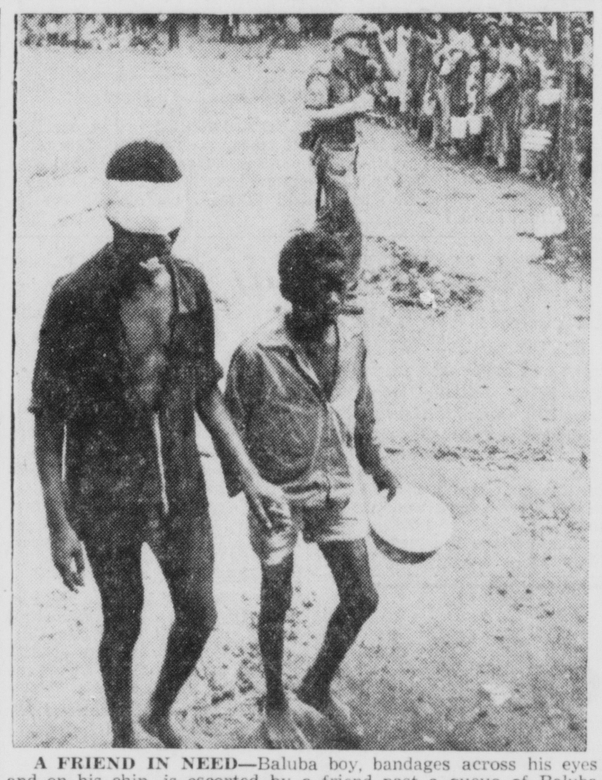

Active in community affairs, he has been city chairman and county co-chairman for Muscular Dystrophy, and is a member of the American Legion and the St. Joseph's Holy Name Society. He is employed by Bull Markets, Inc.

Born in Springfield, Mass., and raised in Kingston, he attended St. Joseph's School and is a graduate of Kingston High School.

He lives at 116 Linderman Avenue with his wife, the former Margaret Blackwell of Selma, N. C., and their three children: Jay, seven; Margaret, two; and John, four months.

Invasion Of Kuwait Is Feared

Carrier Leading Warship Armada

LONDON (AP)—British officials today disclosed an armada is hurrying toward the Persian Gulf oil sheikhdom of Kuwait to meet a suspected Iraqi military threat.

The admiralty said that at least six warships, led by the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Centaur, have sailed from the East African base of Mombasa for an unannounced destination.

Other Moves Underway

Other officials reported that the ships—which include two frigates, a tank landing ship and two big fleet auxiliaries—are heading for the Kuwait area.

They added several other precautionary British fleet moves are under way but are secret.

Over the Christmas weekend, intelligence and diplomatic reports from the region indicated to the British government that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassim has been massing troops, possibly as the prelude to an invasion to achieve the annexation of Kuwait he threatened last summer.

Troops Standing By

The Defense Ministry announced Tuesday that 300 troops, most of them transport aircraft crewmen, had been put on the alert, and troops were reported standing by to be flown from Nairobi, Kenya, if needed.

Britain forestalled an Iraqi invasion last July by landing troops in Kuwait at the request of Sheik Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah after Kassim renewed his country's claim to the little neighboring territory.

Britain is bound by treaty to protect the sheikdom on the northern end of the Persian Gulf. Kuwait was a British protectorate until last June. British forces withdrew from Kuwait in September after Arab League countries, despite Iraq's objections, sent 2,000 troops to Kuwait to protect it.

Not Considered Imminent

The British announcement asserted that "during the past 24 hours our forecast that the Christmas period might be used to increase tension has been partially confirmed as far as the Middle East is concerned.

"Although oprations are not thought to be imminent, certain small-scale precautionary meaures have again had to be taken."

Two Eye State House Posts

Ribicoff Would Accept Senate Draft by Conn.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff says he would accept a draft to run for the U.S. Senate from Connecticut next year.

Ribicoff, one of President Kennedy's earliest political supporters, said Tuesday night that a story in the Hartford Courant saying he might accept the draft for the Democratic nomination was "basically correct."

Stratton, Alford Ready

His statement followed the declarations of two Democratic congressmen that they will seek the governorships of their states in 1962.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, a two-term Democrat from Schenectady who has fared well politically in a Republican area, announced he will seek the governorship of New York.

Rep. Dale Alford, elected to Congress in the aftermath of school integration troubles in his home town of Little Rock, declared he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor of Arkansas.

Would Oppose Bush

Ribicoff has been rumored as a possible opponent for Sen. Prescott Bush, a Republican who has said he will seek reelection.

Ribicoff told a newsman he would not seek the nomination at the state Democratic convention next June. But he confirmed the report in the Courant that he would accept a draft.

Stratton has received scattered support from upper New York State Democratic organizations. However, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City is expected to play a major role in selecting the party's nominee and may even decide to make the race himself.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee in 1964, has said he will seek another four-year term as governor.

Clears Some Smoke

Alford's announcement cleared some smoke from Arkansas' political scene.

Three-way jockeying for two jobs has been anticipated. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, already has announced his candidacy for another six-year term. Alford, a doctor, previousiy said he would seek the governorship if Gov. Orval E. Faubus challenged Fulbright in the Democratic primary.

Faubus still hasn't announced his plans. He said Alford's announcement will have no bearing on them. Faubus is serving his fourth two-year term as governor.

Ryan Appointed To Planning Job, Quits Ward Post

Appointment of Alderman James K. Ryan (D-10th Ward) to the Kingston Planning Board and resignation of Ryan as alderman, were announced today by Mayor Edwin F. Radel, who said he had requested the alderman to accept the appointment.

Ryan's resignation becomes effective immediately, and the mayor appointed Alderman-elect Donald Quick to fill out Ryan's last few days of his term.

Ryan will serve the unexpired term of Edwin Davey, who resigned. The term expires Feb. 5, 1964.

Calls Him Qualified

The mayor said that Ryan told him after Tuesday night's Common Council meeting that he was interested in continuing in governmental work and he felt his knowledge of the planning and urban renewal programs, would qualify him as a member of the Planning Board.

Ryan was alderman of the 10th

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Reported Gravely Ill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is gravely ill with a respiratory infection and complications, her physician says.

The doctor reported Tuesday night that the 89-year-old widow of the former president, has been ill for three weeks. He said her condition grew worse several days ago but now is slightly improved.

Mrs. Wilson is at her Washington home where she and the president moved after he left the White House in 1921.

Pay Hike Refused For Mitchell by NewburghCouncil

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—The Newburgh City Council has refused by a 2-2 vote to give City Manager Joseph Mitchell a $2,900 annual salary increase.

It also voted to cancel the $1,500 a year compensation now received by each council member and turned down proposed salary increases totaling $3,000 for two other city officials.

Mitchell, whose welfare policies have made him a center of national controversy, presently earns $14,100 a year.

He told the City Council Tuesday that he had not requested the raises and that he was not supporting them. He said, however, that the planned city budget would not be disrupted by the salary boosts.

Davis Votes With GOP

Council Ballot Leaves Parking Up to Schwenk

Solution of the city's off-street parking problems was left with the administration of Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk by Common Council action Tuesday night.

The aldermen voted against a $290,000 project which had been planned for some time for the uptown area. A 9-4 vote was required to approve the necessary bond issue, but with Alderman William G. Davis (D-L) 13th Ward opposing, the normal 9-4 council majority vote was lacking.

No Specific Plan

Legislation, as presented, gave no specific description of the area to be involved, other than to indicate that an ingress and egress system would be provided on the north side of North Front Street between Fair and Converse streets, in accordance with plans by Brinnier & Larios.

Alderman Davis, in opposing the project, said he had been in the council for four years, and the plan, as proposed, appeared to him a last-minute solution of the uptown parking problem. He also felt that the last election was an indication of some dissatisfaction and thought opportunity should be provided for the mayor-elect, in his two years, to present his views and plans.

Thinks of Taxpayers

Alderman Joseph F. Carroll of the 11th ward, in expressing the minority opinion, said he felt it would be unwise to commit the incoming administration to additional financial problems through the passage of a bond issue, in view of the $110,000 deficit shown in the 1962 budget of the present administration. He further pointed out that there were only six days remaining until the new administration takes office, and that Mayor-elect John Schwenk had indicated that he had an off-street parking program prepared for 800 cars in the uptown and central business district, 250 of

Public Hearing Set Tonight on Kingston Budget

Estimates for the City of Kingston 1962 budget as prepared by Mayor Edwin F. Radel, will be officially submitted and discussed at a public hearing to be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the Common Council Chambers, City Hall, as provided by Section 122 of the City charter.

The budget, fixing a city tax rate of $63.38 per $1,000 assessed valuation, Mayor Radel said is based on $2,555,664.75 to be raised by taxation. The new rate is $3.28 above the $60.10 fixed for this year.

Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk, who will take office on Jan. 1, 1962, told The Freeman on Saturday he had not seen the budget and didn't have a copy of it. He stated he is inclined to believe he will not attend the public hearing, but will study the

Two Are Retiring From Ulster Sheriff's Staff

Retirement of two key persons in Sheriff Claude Bell's official family will take place at the close of the year.

They are Mrs. Mabel A. O'Reilly, who has been associated with the sheriff's office as matron since April 1, 1944, and Wesley A. O'Brien, who had served since 1949 as head jailor. O'Brien's service in the sheriff's office dates back to 1930 with a break during World War II when he served as a guard for the New York Central Railroad on the West Shore bridge over Rondout Creek at Wilbur.

Mrs. O'Reilly became matron at the Ulster County jail on April 1, 1944, when her husband, the late Frank O'Reilly, became night jailor, and she would have completed 18 years of service as jail matron on April 1, 1962.

Her husband, the late Frank O'Reilly, for many years associated with his father in the blacksmithing business on lower Broadway, was named jailor by the late Sheriff Abram F. Molyneaux. Mr. O'Reilly had served the Eighth ward as supervisor for two terms from 1928 to 1931.

Mrs. O'Reilly plans to make her home on John Street in Kingston. During her term as matron she has occupied the residence quarters in the county court house.

Wesley A. O'Brien is retiring due to ill heaith, aggravated by an attack by an inmate during an attempted jail break several years ago. A veteran of World War I, Mr. O'Brien served with

Stratton Says He'll Fight for Top State Job; Just Pitch Man: Morhouse

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady, now a declared candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will wage an intensive, grass-roots campaign designed to establish himself as the choice of the party's rank-and-file.

The man who now holds the job of governor, Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller, plans an equally vigorous campaign to keep it and opened today a series of high-level meetings to chart election-year strategy.

Stratton is a 45-year-old former teevision news commentator, college lecturer and Schenectady city councilman. He was first elected to congress in 1958 from a district that ordinarily voted 3-1 Republican. He was re-elected last year by an increased margin.

Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse asserted that Stratton was 'not a serious candidate for governor....he is being used by Bobby (U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert) Kennnedy and Democratic National Chairman) John Bailey as a hatchet man against Governor Rockefeller. .Stratton is a slick, glib political pitch man... a nimble demagogue who double-talks...a hawker of half-truths...."

Stratton said at his news conference Tuesday that Rockefeller had failed as governor and had been 'preoccupied with interests and concerns outside the borders of the state..."

REP. S. S. STRATTON

Stratton, divorced and remarried, disposed quickly and crisply of questions regarding the potential political effect of Rockefellers impending divorce.

Divorce is a personal matter, Stratton said.

Stratton and Rockefeller, 53, are alike in many ways, particularly in their campaign techniques of the friendly grin and "folkey" approach to voters.

Stratton has support from Democratic organizations or leaders in 13 upstate counties, which, he says, will have 100 votes in the 1962 state convention. Approximately 500 votes will be needed for nomination.

Stratton said he would campaign throughout all 62 counties of the state.

In so doing, he apparently would be trying to build enough strength to force party leaders to recognize him, despite his present lack of significant, organizational strength.

The congressman has announced that he also is a candi-

Food Firm Has Signed to Omit False Advertising

NEW YORK (AP)—The Below Zero Food Service Corp., of Herkimer, N.Y., has signed an agreement promising to "cease and desist" from making allegedly false statements in newspaper advertisements concerning its food freezer plan, State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said today.

Lefkowitz said an investigation by his office showed that the company's advertisements contained statements such as "not just meat but all foods," "free life insurance," and "dependable statewide service."

Lefkowitz said the agreement provides that the company will no longer represent that it supplies all foods, life insurance and specific services unless it actually does so.

Lefkowitz said the company also has agreed that if it violates any part of the agreement the attorney general may bring an action without further notice for a permanent injunction restraining continuance of the allegedly fraudulent practices.

The company has signed a code of ethics which the attorney general has promulgated.

Schmitt has been an advocate of legal betting both on and off the tracks for a number of years.

Education Assn. Convention Starts In Penn Today

HARRISBURG (AP)—The 109th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association gets under way in Harrisburg today with compulsory school district reorganization expected to draw most of the attention.

More than 2,000 educators from across Pennsylvania began streaming into the state's capital city Tuesday for the start of the three-day session.

The PSEA represents some 80,000 teachers and school administrators.

Although many subjects were to be put before the group, it was a foregone conclusion compulsory reorganization—a product of the 1961 legislature—would be one of the prime topics.

The delegates will formally present their views at a general session Thursday afternoon when resolutions are considered.

The PSEA long has endorsed compulsory reorganization in principle.

Five Youngsters Suffering Shock

WARREN, Pa. (AP)— Five young sisters, injured in a Christmas Eve highway crash that killed their parents and two other adults, are stilll suffering from shock.

This was the word Tuesday from an official of Warren General Hospital where the girls are confined.

He said the Campman sisters—Judy, 15; Rita, 13; Sandra, 11; Mona, 10; and Janet, 3—are listed in satisfactory condition, although the full extent of their injuries has not been determined.

Physicians, the spokesman said, are quite concerned about the condition of Janet, who has multiple chest injuries.

The collision of the Campman's station wagon and a car occurred Sunday on U. S. 6 about seven miles west of Warren, killing the girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Campman of Falconer, R. D. 1, N. Y., and a man and woman in the auto.

The girls learned of their mother and father's deaths on Christmas Day.

Two unidentified physicians brought the sisters gifts that had been purchased for their own children.

Funeral services for the Campmans will be held in Warren Friday, and burial will be at Tylersburg, Pa.

The hospital spokesman said that most likely none of the Campman children will be able to attend the services.

Statutes of Limitations Vary on Unpaid Bills

BY FAYE HENLE

Q—Is there any legal time beyond which I cannot hope to collect on bills owed me by patients?—Dr. J. M.

Dear Dr. J. M.: Statues of limitations vary by state, ranging from 3 to 8 years for oral agreements and 5 to 20 years for written agreements.

Determine what statute of limitations rules in your state and feel free to press for payment during the period.

You can also extend the legal time limit by getting written confirmation that your patient will pay up, since the legal period will begin upon the date he repledges payment. In some states when a patient leaves the state, later to return, years away do not count under the state's statuory limitation period.

Q—Which is the best way to write a will to insure members of the family get an equal share without too much federal taxes? —M. W.

A—Dear M. W.: There is only one way of reducing the federal estate tax: reduce the size of the estate before death. You can do this by making gifts. Under the law you are permitted to make a once-in-a-lifetime gift of $30,000, or $60,000 if you are married, and your spouse agrees.

You can also make as many annual gifts of $3,000, or $6,000 jointly as you desire, without having to pay gift taxes. Willing precious items such as paintings to an institution removes them from the estate tax.

Estate taxes can also be avoided by setting up an irrevocable trust. If you give away principal plus income during your life-time this money would not form part of your estate and thus would not be taxable.

Q—I understand that there is a deadline on filing for Social Security disability protection for those with longstanding disabilities. When is the deadline? —N. Z.

A—Dear N. Z.: The 1961 amendments give a worker with long-standing disabilities until June 30, 1962 to apply for benefits under the Social Security disability provisions, one year longer than under the old law.

Mother, 2 Sons Perish in Blaze

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—A fire in a basement storage bin killed a mother and her two young sons Tuesday night.

Mrs. Marjorie Stirling, 36, was killed when she vainly tried to rescue her son, Glenn, 2, from the burning bin. The other son, Cameron, 5, was found dead near the front door on the ground floor of the home.

A fire official said he believed both boys were in the basement when the fire began. The bin held clothing and also may have contained combustible material, police said.

Firemen kept the flames from spreading to the rest of the house.

Indict Teamster In Money Change, 2 Others Named

NEW YORK (AP)—Milton Holt, Teamsters Union official, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of accepting $92,000 from two officials of vending machine corporations of Westbury, N.Y.

The six-count indictment Tuesday also named the two officials and the three corporations in which they had an interest.

Holt, of Flushing, Queens, is secretary-treasurer of Local 805 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The indictment said he accepted the $92,000 in three payments between 1957 and 1959 from Harold Roth, 42, of Hewlett Park, president of the three corporations, and Herbert S. Sternberg, 44, of Syossset, a former executive in each corporation.

Roth, who said he also was speaking for Sternberg, denied the charges.

Only one of the three corporations still is in existence—the Continental Vending Machine Corp. of Westbury.

This corporation was merged in 1958 into National Vending Corp., which in turn was merged the same year into Continental Industries Inc.—the other corporations involved.

The defendants will plead to the indictment in Federal Court on Jan. 4.

License Suspended

NEW YORK — Secretary of State Caroline K. Simon has suspended for 60 days the real estate broker's license of Leon R. Edelstein of 75 Belmont Avenue, West Babylon. It was established after hearings that Edelstein had acted improperly in serving as a broker for parties selling a piece of property when he was president of the holding company that purchased the property. Following hearings before A. S. Wechsler, director of licenses of the Department of State, at the New York City office of the Department, 270 Broadway, it was determined that Edelstein's holding company, Homeland Holding Corp., had purchased the property for $30,000 and simultaneously had re-sold the property to the Suffolk County Water Authority for $31,500. It was found Edelstein had also collected commission for representing the original sellers.

Slayer Is Hunted In Fire Death of Retired Minister

BROOKLYN, Mich. (AP) — A slayer was hunted today in the death of a retired Methodist minister who was beaten with a hammer, bound with rope and then set afire in a room of his farm home.

The body of the Rev. Roy R. Decker, 70, of Tecumseh, Mich., was found beneath a smoldering blanket by firemen Tuesday. His hands were tied behind his back.

State police said the death "definitely was murder." They said they were looking for a suspect who fled in the minister's car.

The body was found in a bedroom of the two-story, frame farm home owned by the Rev. Mr. Decker. A ball-peen hammer was found near the charred body.

State Police Lt. Joseph Liebherr said that the minister was knocked unconscious with the hammer, bound and then doused with gasoline or kerosene and set afire.

The minister and his family moved to the farm home near Brooklyn about a year and a half ago, following his retirement as minister of Grace Methodist church in Meadville, Pa.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 27, 1961

U.N. MONEY CRISIS

United Nations Secretary General U Thant set some disturbing figures before the world when he warned of the international organization's growing financial crisis. These figures showed how the unpaid obligations of U.N. members have steadily risen since 1956 while cash received has steadily declined from year to year.

In 1956, he pointed out, net cash amounted to 14.7 million dollars, unpaid obligations to 24 million. The deficit that year was 9.3 million. The estimated figures for 1961 are 6.9 million dollars net cash and 114.4 million unpaid, leaving a deficit of 107.5 million.

This situation has come about largely because of the refusal of the Soviet Union and several other countries—France, Belgium, South Africa, Portugal, the bulk of the Arab states—to pay their share of the heavy Congo expenses. The Soviet bloc and most of the Arab states also have balked at helping to pay the costs of troops that patrol the Egyptian-Israeli borders for the United Nations.

This intransigence has saddled the United States with a greater burden, but that is not the most distressing thing about the matter. Our costs, though heavy, do not bulk large in our total national budget. The real trouble is that the United Nations is threatened with being rendered ineffective for lack of funds.

U Thant has bluntly declared that the tasks entrusted to him can be done "only if pledges of goodwill are accompanied by a readiness to provide the financial support and resources essential for their fulfillment." The secretary general had previously suggested floating a 200-million-dollar bond issue to keep the United Nations solvent. This or some other means of maintaining solvency will have to be undertaken, and soon.

WISHBONE EVERGREEN

Our policy of keeping readers informed as to latest developments in the arts and sciences leads us now to consideration of a Christmas tree created by a Minnesota couple. What with trees of metal, wood and assorted exotic materials, it is getting hard to produce a really unique Christmas tree. This one, we wager, is unique.

It has been fashioned of wishbones—855 of them from a collection of about 1,500 assembled by A. F. Reuther since he was seven years old. He will be 75 next February. What's more, these wishbones are not garnered from neighborhood feasts. Says Reuther: "I don't take anybody else's wishbones. I have to eat the meat off myself."

The wishbones come from not only domestic fowl, but from "every game bird known to Minnesota." Painted green and fastened to artificial limbs, they make a tree that, as the saying goes, will be a conversation piece. This advice comes too late for this Christmas, we realize, but it's a thought for next year.

FOLLOW THE RULES

Ever wake up in the night with a splitting headache? Or a pain in your interior? And stumble into the bathroom and reach for a bottle in the medicine cabinet? And gulp down a pill or two, or a swallow of medicine?

Just about all of us, if we're honest, must answer Yes to such questions. And that means that we've all risked serious—even fatal—trouble.

The American Medical Association offers a few simple rules for taking medicine—and they should be read, remembered and observed by every member of every family.

Never take medicine in the dark—be certain you know what's in the bottle or the pill box. Read the directions carefully before taking—they are there to protect and aid you. Don't increase the dose or take it more often than directed without checking with your doctor. If the label says "Shake Before Using," it means it—so shake. Don't take a medicine prescribed for someone else—this is a case where one man's meat can be another man's poison. Keep medicine out of reach of children. Put the cap back on the bottle and screw it down — some medicines change strength when exposed to air. Keep any medicine in its original box — for instance, putting sleeping pills in an aspirin bottle could produce dire effects for someone in the family.

Simple rules? Easy-to-follow rules? They certainly are. And they can prevent trouble, illness, pain, and even, needless dead.

AN INFLATED EGO

Mrs. H. C. Brote of Covington, Louisiana, desires an inflated ego and has the courage to write to an editor to ask for one. It is a very good idea. No tonic does better than an inflated ego. I am I. That is terrific.

However, don't get me wrong. Mrs. Brote does not wish an inflated ego for herself. She wants it for the United States. She just cannot help feeling that an American is as good as a Congolese or Katangese or an Indochinese or even a Russian. She denies racial superiority and is sure that no Uzbeg is superior to an American. Stalin was a Georgian and Khrushchev is an Ukrainian (Ukrainians are requested not to write denying the Landsmannschaft as my files are full of such letters). But we, to go back to where this sentence started, are Americans and if anyone dares to say that we are not the Chosen People, ahead of all else, we shall punch them square on the nose.

Mrs. Brote wrote:

"We hear a great deal about Russian superiority because the Russians plan it that way. We are frightfully impressed by the fact that chess is their national pastime. To play chess, after a fashion, does not require any more intelligence than bridge, baseball or football. We know that the Russians constantly fail in the realm of agriculture. Our farmers are more impressive than their chess players. I have read that their run of the mill doctors are comparable to our hospital orderlies and their engineers build roads that sink into the jungle while ours succeed."

I know nothing about the value of chess in establishing the superiority of a man. It is an old game that originated in India and my only interest is in chessmen made of ivory or jade that fetch quite a price in any flea market. I do not go in for games, indoor or outdoor, having long ago discovered that all forms of physical effort are not beneficial for either the mind or the body. Myself I prefer sitting exercises and use my eyes and ears most frequently.

As for whether playing chess requires less or greater intelligence than playing bridge, football or baseball, I must leave that to Mrs. Brote. I have never played bridge but have watched others at it and it seems to be a stimulant for divorce. As for baseball and football, only now, in my ancient years, do I go to such frivolities, my Democratic friend, Jim Farley, taking me to sit with him, the value of my presence being that some Democrats might believe that if James Aloysius Farley were nominated to run for Governor of New York State against Nelson Rockefeller, some Republicans might vote for him—Which is not to be sneezed at.

If any Americans base their superiority upon the popularity of bridge over chess, it might be called to their attention that it was a White Russian, Ely Culbertson, who earned a living telling Americans how to play the game. Culbertson never lost his Russian accent, but his father was originally an American engineer in Russia.

Mrs. Brote knows that the Russians always fail in agriculture which is more than I know, for way back in the time of the Caesars in Rome, Russia was the bread-basket of Europe and the reason that the Latins go in for so much bread and pastry is that they found so much wheat in Russia.

The misery of misinformation is that language mixes us all up. Russian medical terms come from the German and a Russian doctor may be called by all sorts of names; nevertheless, Mrs. Brote forgets that Russia existed before Lenin was born and Metchnikoff lived before the Smolny Institute ceased being a girls' academy and became the citadel of Marxism. It is wrong to believe that the other fellow knows nothing at all when the fact is that he has more than 1,000 years of valid history. One does not have to like the Russian to tell the truth about him. In fact, Maxim Gorki, who loved Russia, told some horrible tales about the Russians.

Well, it is of value to know these little items and I am sure Ely Culbertson, in whatever heaven he is, will be happy that an old friend remembered him in the Christmas season.

It Is Possible to Undo Birth Control Surgery

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Q—Six weeks ago, after my first baby was born, my tubes were tied off at my request. I am a professional dancer and I thought I didn't want to have any more babies. Now my husband and I are just nervous wrecks because of what we did.

I don't think I will ever be interested in dancing again. Since bringing my baby home, I can't think of doing anything else except taking care of her.

If anything should happen to her and I couldn't have other children, I don't think I could live.

All my life I have done things without thinking them through and a lot of times I've been sorry. But this is the worst. I feel very guilty about the whole thing.

I am writing you to see if there isn't some way to sew the tubes together again. If so, how soon can it been done? And would I then be in danger of a tubal pregnancy?

A—You have indeed been rash and ill-advised. However, it is quite possible that what has been done may be undone. I cannot, of course, recommend a specific surgeon but you may get complete information from the Secretary of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, 2105 Adelbert Road, Cleveland 6, Ohio. At your request, I am sure he will give you the name of qualified specialists in your locality.

Q—In July, I had an ovarian cyst removed and, just a few days ago, I had a sedatious cyst removed from behind my right ear. Is there any connection between these cysts? Will they become cancerous?

A—There is no relationship between the ovarian and the sebaceous cyst behind your ear to which, I am sure, you have reference. And there is no more than the remotest chance that either will become malignant.

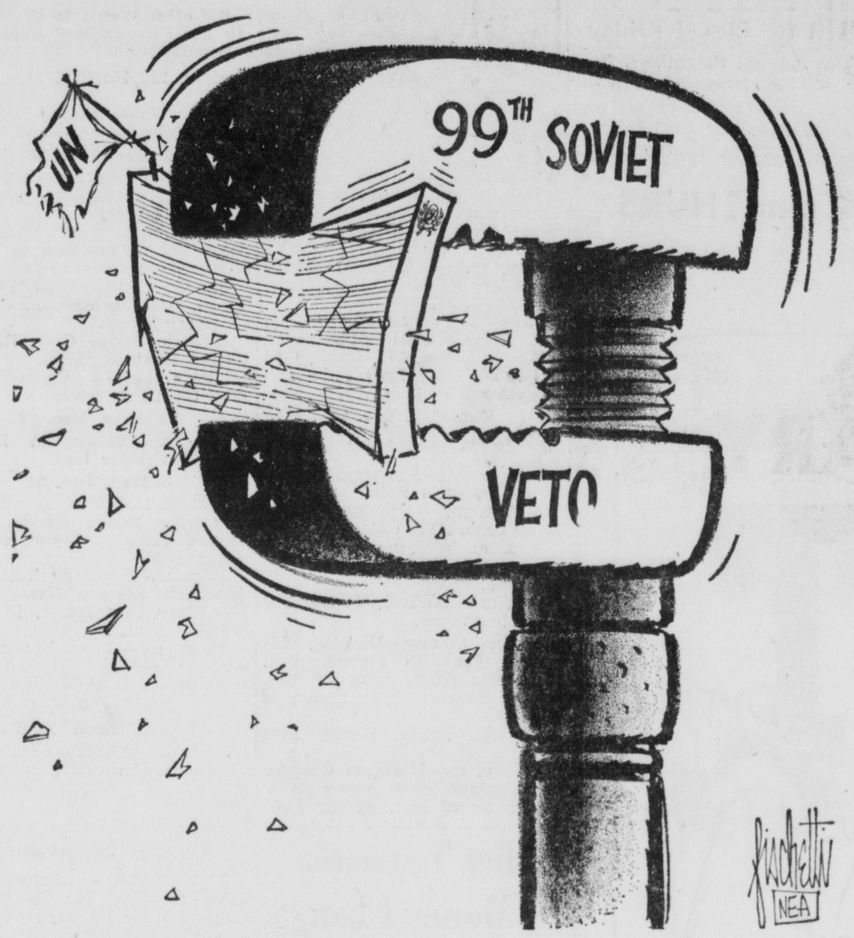

Q—Is it necessary to use a douche after menstruating?

A—Most informed physicians and many specialists are of the opinion that douching is either a useless or a harmful procedure under any circumstances.

As a consultant recently wrote in the Journal of the American Medical Association "many women emotionally consider douching essential to cleanliness. A little training is all that is necessary to correct this belief in most instances."

However, if douche you must, avoid alkaline solutions and never use anything stronger or more complicated than one that contains two to four tablespoonsfuls of white or brown vinegar to two quarts of warm water.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA)— Economists forecasting business conditions for 1962 are practically unanimous in predicting continued recovery and a good new year. The range is from National Planning Association's continued recovery at a moderate pace" to Fortune Magazine's expectations for a super-boom with inflationary consequences." This is holiday cheer people like to hear.

But the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. Survey — which should be conservative enough for anyone's taste — raises the ugly question, "When the next recession?"

Since postwar experience has shown that recessions did follow in 1949, 1954, 1958 and 1960, after periods of rapid recovery, this is a good question.

Two years ago, after the short and mild recession of 1959, everyone was predicting continued boom through 1960. It didn't come off. This might happen again.

SO IN ANSWER TO ITS OWN QUESTION, Morgan Survey comments:

"A downturn in general business prior to the end of 1962 would make the current expansion the shortest in the post-war period — briefer even than the recovery of 1958-60.

In support of such a possibility, the Morgan Survey lists factors which the optimists mention, but minimize:

The Department of Commerce forecast for high level housing starts is classified by builders as likely to crest out by mid-year or shortly thereafter.

No one can predict the outcome of negotiations for a new contract in the steel industry. But the 116-day strike in 1959 slowed the whole economy.

If the steel contract is successfully renegotiated without a strike, then the inventory build-up already beginning may fall to levels warranted by normal business conditions.

Only in the case of intended new plant and equipment expenditures does it now seem probable that performance in the second half of the year will be stronger than in the first half.

This might slow the rise of the gross national product in the third quarter and beyond. Business expansion might still continue, but not through the entire economy.

IF THIS IS REGARDED as a pessimistic survey, it must also be regarded as a realistic and cautious one. And to these purely economic factors, there must be added the uncertainly of what will come out of Washington in the next six months.

Early indications are that there will be Kennedy administration requests for far more government spending.

A $90 to $100 billion budget is being discussed, with national defense taking a good half of it. Earlier promises of a balanced budget for 1963 are open to question.

The $700 million civil defense shelter program, just proposed is a new item.

Foreign aid programs will unquestionably call for added appropriations in view of this year's cutbacks and the desire to expand Latin-American Alliance for Progress and other underdeveloped country operations.

The space program will call for additional millions. There are proposals for still more federal aid for urban transportation, area redevelopment, labor retraining and education.

WHILE THERE IS MUCH SPECULATION about a new tax program, nothing indicates that taxes can be reduced. The Kennedy foreign trade program may call for subsidies to industries injured by general tariff reductions.

What Congresss does about any or all of these major issues is unpredicted. The first half of the year may be required to resolve them. And even, if all should be approved, their full effect might not be felt during the second half of 1962.

It is their carry over into 1963 that is important. Here they could be inflationary or counteract a late-1962 recession.

Anything that affects foreign aid, foreign military assistance and foreign investments has a definite impact on the American balance-of-payment position.

Even the most optimistic economists point out that the four year decline and continuing deficit in balance of payments is the most serious threat to the U. S. economy because of the restrictive measures they might call for.

Are Principles Obsolete? Bias Story Is Deplored

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Orators for decades have been extolling "principles" and "honest convictions," but certain news dispatches out of Washington recently give an impression that there are no such things nowadays. "Expediency" and what are termed "practical considerations" seem to be a controlling influence in making governmental policy.

Thus, the United Press International, in a dispatch a few days ago from Washington, said:

"An order by President Kennedy prohibiting racial and religious discrimination in Federally assisted housing has been shelved for the time being, it was learned yesterday.

"It will not be issued until after the 1962 Congressional session and possibly not until after the November elections, highly placed administration sources said. Chief reason the President is postponing the order is that it would antagonize Southern Democrats in Congress whose votes he sorely needs in the coming session.

"Defection of Southern Democrats could wipe out the already tenuous prospects for passage of tax revision, medical care and tariff-cutting bills. One Capitol Hill observer explained that with many Southern Democrats more conservative than Mr. Kennedy and reluctant about his legislative program, his issuance of an anti-discrimination executive order would be "just like waving a red flag in front of them. The White House just isn't in a position to alienate anybody."

Tragic Emphasis

This is a tragic emphasis on elements that sometimes govern decisions on the so-called political front. It seems incredible that there should be such reasoning, and even more incredible that it should be so frankly avowed. It would be easier to believe that the postponement of the order was not prompted by any such motive but stemmed possibly from the fear by some of the building and construction people that its issuance could slow up recovery in that field of the economy.

Material considerations are often more persuasive than adherence to principle or conviction when controversial questions are up for settlement in the inner precincts of government. But it is surprising to find high officials hesitating to issue an order on the subject of racial discrimination when such ardent support has been given in recent months by the administration to the "civil rights" agitators. Maybe there will soon be a group of "Freedom Riders" in front of the White House to help get this executive order on the shelf.

For certainly if the Federal government really has authority to take action under the so-called "law of the land" doctrine, then catering to fears of how this might annoy Southern Congressmen would hardly seem to be heroic. One would think that convictions are worthy of fulfilment, whether in a year of Congressional elections or in the months immediately afterward. It certainly doesn't reflect much confidence in the common sense or perspicacity of Southern Congressmen to assume that they will gladly go along with the President's' legislative program next spring on the dubious assumption that Federally assisted housing will not be interfered with, only to discover a few months later that they have been duped by a political maneuver.

What the Order Says

The Federal order being discussed has no specific authorization in law, but it is based on the broad theory that the Federal government can withhold support from any building operation for which it would normally spend or lend money if there is any racial or religious discrimination involved. The Federal authority is being interpreted to mean also that Federal commitments to guarantee mortgages can be canceled if a builder in a new development refuses to accept the bid of a Negro to buy a house.

The doctrine could be extended to cover tax exemptions, too, and any private club which engages in discrimination could, under penalty of losing its tax privilege, be coerced into opening its doors to all candidates. The proposed executive order, which is confined largely to new housing, also could affect indirectly many private mortgages. The same UPI dispatch, quoted above, adds:

"Whether the order should also ban discrimination in the making of home loans by Federally regulated banks and savings and loan associations has not been decided by the White House. Failure to resolve that question was said to be a secondary reason the President has postponed issuance of the order."

One would think these are questions for the people's representatives in Congress to decide, and that law-making is still a function of the Senate and the House. But nowadays an "executive order" seems to be synonymous with "decree" or "edict." Maybe it's because too many Congressmen are also fearful of political consequences if they become involved in voting on such issues, and they prefer to have the Administration act on its own. "Honest convictions" seem to be obsolete.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Dec. 27, 1941—Mayor Heiselman included in the 1942 budget a $100 cost-of-living bonus for police and fire department personnel.

Miss Jennie McKittrick, of Henry Street, died at Kingston Hospital.

The area overnight temperature was 29 degrees.

A few delayed Christmas parties for children were held in the area.

Dec. 27, 1951—Plans were in progress by the Rondout National Bank for a drive-in type bank at Broadway and Henry Street.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk asked for a stay of the Public Service Commission order to curb local bus service.

Three Hudson policemen were asked to resign or be fired as the result of a crime commission investigation there.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I have been loaned a delightful little book by O. A. Goodsell, of 43 Crane Street. It is called the Kingston-Rondout-Wiltwyck Directory of 1858, more than a hundred years old. It has some 150 pages of illustrations and information of that period.

Those who are interested in boats on the Hudson would enjoy this book. The Cornell Daily Towing Line between Rondout and New York, and Rondout and Albany in 1858 is covered. "The steamboats Norwich, Emerald, Mohegan, Highlander, James Madison, Santa Claus, will form a daily line for towing between Rondout and New York, and intermediate places, and between Rondout and Albany, and intermediate places. For particulars inquire of Thomas Cornell, Rondout; H. P. Farrington, agent, 47 Jay Street, New York."

It further said "Boats towed above Fulton Ferry, East River, will be charged extra. All contracts will cease as soon as the river is obstructed with ice. All boats will be towed at the risk of the captains or owners."

I wonder why a steamer was named, Santa Claus, its captain was Charles Brodhead. H. E. Barber was captain of the Highlander. Henry Marsh, was captain of the Norwich at the time. J. S. Barber, captain of the James Madison. C. L. Traver was captain of the Emerald. E. Rogers was captain of the Mohegan. These were all owned by Thomas Cornell. The W. B. Crane steamer was captained by Peter Dubois, and owned by Cornell and Dubois.

There was a steamer called Rondout and captained by D. Relyea, and owned by Relyea and Co. The Maurice Wurts steamer was owned by Delaware and Hudson Canal Co. and its captain was George Dubois. The Pittston steamer was owned by the Penn. Coal Co. and captained by William Murray. I am sure there are relatives of these boatmen still living on the shores of the Hudson.

I wonder if steamboating will ever come back to Rondout. In 1858 the day boats from New York and Albany touched at Kingston Point. Steamer Camilla, from Newburgh to Albany, landed at the docks of H. Schoonmakes and Co.

This may interest those people who get to the post office too late. Back in 1858 the uptown post office was at Crown Street, near North Front Street. William Kerr was postmaster, and Charles Van Buren and S. J. Reynolds were clerks. The post office in 1858 was open daily (Sundays excepted) from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. On Sundays from 9 to 10 a. m.

In 1858 the post office in Rondout was on the first floor of the Mansion House, entrance on Lackawanna Street. The Postmaster was J. H. Stratton. The clerks were P. S. Gallagher and G. Winter. The post office was open daily (Sunday excepted) from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. On Sundays from 8 to 9 a. m. This book also gives you the hours of the arrival of the Delhi, Ellenville and Kingston mail.

There was a regular omnibus line from Rondout to Kingston. It started every half hour from the Mansion House in Rondout and fare was 13 cents. That was of course the stage which ran uptown.

Full-Time Veteran Service Available At County Office

Veterans of Kingston and Ulster County will still have full-time service available to them through the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street, after the closing of the Federal Veterans Administration's Kingston office.

All services which have been available through the Veterans Administration office in the Central Post Office, will be available at the County Veterans Service Agency, Director John Tyler stated today. In addition to County Director John Tyler, Charles Culver, State Veterans counselor, is stationed at the local office in the Motor Vehicle Department office to give assistance to all veterans.

Closing of the Federal office on December 29, has created confusion among many veterans and beneficiaries, who are of the opinion that no veterans service will be available on a full-time basis in Kingston.

Ulster County Veterans Service Agency is open on a full-time basis and can give advice to veterans or their beneficiaries. At this time of year when the income blanks for veteran pensions for non-service disability are about to be sent out for renewal, all veterans are reminded that this matter can be attended to at the county office where assistance in filling out the blanks is available during regular office hours.

Closing of the federal office in the Central Post Office, except on a parti-time basis on Tuesdays, will not affect the service which is offered to veterans through the county and state, Tyler said today.

It was announced some time ago that in an "economy" move the Kingston office of the Veterans Administration would be closed at the end of the year. F. William Sheehan, who has served the local area for several years, has been in charge of the Kingston federal office.

Numerous individuals and groups have endeavored to retain the Veterans Administration branch office in Kingston but recently it was announced the office would be closed on December 29 and only part-time service offered veterans.

Office hours at Room 210 Central Post Office will be from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Tuesdays only.

The Ulster County Veterans Service Agency will be open five days a week from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. to serve all local veterans.

Today's Substitutes

Editor, The Freeman:

This is the day of substitutes, and the factories are whirring busily as they make new items.

Having observed the Christmas scene for quite a number of seasons I find that substitutes are showing up here, too! All through the centuries man has tried to find a substitute for God, and we are ready to acknowledge they have admirably succeeded in it.

I greatly fear that a majority of children are far more Santa Claus conscious, than they are Christ-conscious, now that Christmas has come and gone. Is it possible to attend all the services and still not hear WHY Christ was born? Did not He say "The Son of man is come to seek and to save, that which was lost"? (Luke 19:10).

Since God wants to be central in every man's life, what do we find. A substitute has been introduced. Sometimes it is the man's own character, his very personality ruling his life without regard to God, Bible or church. It may be the church that rules him, rather than the God of heaven. It may be a tradition of sorts, rather than the Holy Scriptures.

Since I know God may be known, and therefore should be known, I am genuinely concerned over humanity in this day of the atom. In other years men were killed one at a time by accident or a more leisurely death, but we now face a holocaust with millions dying.

Nor is this an argument for fallout shelters, for they become mere frying pans for the human race when the heat is generated to 1400 degrees.

When a Santa Claus is allowed to replace a Saviour at Christmas time, when there are hundreds of references to the figure from the Northland to every one for the Saviour from heaven, it is time to call this to the attention of the thoughtful, and the thoughtless Let us turn back to the Bible, to the God of the Bible to the Christ of the Cross and find life there; real, eternal life that satisfied the heart and satisfied God too There are a number of evangelical pastors in our city able and eager to help any, and I am one of them.

Most sincerely,

Robert Regan, James Cahill, Martin John Cooke.

William Winslow, troop treasurer, presented the Hiking Merit badges to John DeGasperis and Thomas Hoffay.

Frank Argulewicz presented the Home Repair badges to John Cahill and Martin Kelly.

The highlight of the court of honor was when Dr. Clement Angstrom, district commissioner of Rip Van Winkle Council, presented James Winslow with his Life Rank advancement.

After the court of honor ceremony, the boys had a special visit from Santa Claus, who started the Christmas party by giving out gifts to the boys of the Troop. In a surprise presentation the boys gave Scoutmaster Frank Marquette a new uniform. Scout James Winslow made the presentation on behalf of the Troop.

The boys then presented a large package of food goods to the parish for a needy family.

Coming events for the troop will be a day hike on Sunday and a weekend camping trip to Camp Tri-Mount January 20 and 21. Senior Scout Lansing Naylor is also going to hold a second class scout hike to Port Ewen, the date to be announced.

Under grants totaling $80,000 from the National Science Foundation, the University of Rochester will conduct two institutes in organic chemistry and earth science for high school teachers next summer in its six-week Summer Session at the River Campus, June 25-August 4.

Forty teachers will participate in each institute from all parts of the United States and abroad, according to Dr. John J. Montean, assistant professor of education and coordinator of science education, director of the programs.

The chemistry institute will be taught by Dr. Roland R. M. Wittaker, emeritus professor of chemistry at Queens College, New York City, and the earth science will have Dr. Lawrence W. Lundgren Jr., assistant professor of geology at the University of Rochester as instructor. The earth science course will consist mainly of mineralogy.

Husbands and wives will have different reactions to the fact that the outstanding development in the world's fur supply in the 20th century has been the breeding of mink and fox on farms and ranches. Mink coats became much more available, not necessarily cheaper, after mink ranching began commercially in the United States in the 1930s.

SWEETY PIE — By Nadine Seltzer

"Did you send your Aunt Helen's name to a Lonely Heart's club?"

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Food in the bag—whether to boil or to store in bulk in freezers—may play a bigger part in your life in the new year.

It will if today's plans of both the food packaging industry and the makers of polethylene work out on schedule.

They are confident of expansion of the already fast growing boil-in-the-bag sales.

They also count on selling you on the idea of frozen vegetables in family-size proportions—but not in solid blocks—packaged in these filmy bags. This way food can be taken from the package to fit your individual need at the moment, with the remainder going back in the freezer.

Noting the rapidly increasing use of bags of prepared foods that can be heated in boiling water, the U.S. Industrial Chemicals Co., predicts this will help push total polyethylene sales in 1962 by 10 to 15 per cent.

Boil in Bag Units

The Modern Foods Council says 100 million boil-in-the-bag units were sold this year. There are some 100 food items so packaged by about 40 food processors. They predict hopefully that sales will reach 300 million units before 1965.

The Food and Drug Administration permits the use of polyethylene film under prescribed safety conditions. Uses range from production of packaging materials and containers to equipment intended for use in producing processing, transporting or holding food.

Polyethylene makers and food processors say this ruling has opened the door now to many possible new uses.

Milk Cartons Coated

Example: Coatings for milk cartons and bakery trays. Other developments reported include lining for cartons to hold liquids, and formed containers with tear tapes.

Formed Container Corp. asserts it can offer price advantages for the polyethylene packs as against older forms of food containers.

This is seconded by the Flexible Packaging Division of Continental Can Co. which supplies polyethylene film.

Money spent in early research in the polyethylene packaging for food by Seeman Bros. has paid off well, its chairman, John B. Fowler Jr., says. A pioneer in the field was its Seabrook Farms division with a campaign to get housewives to buy boil-in-the-bag foods.

New Vegetable Packs

Birdseye and many other food packagers are marketing fruits and vegetables in the new packs.

Their sales talk is that by preserving frozen foods in such bags and then popping them into boiling water, the housewife can either thaw and warm prepared food or cook frozen raw foods and conserve the vitamin content of the food in the bag.

Fowler says the boil-in-the-bag principle makes possible packing special diets for hospital or home use and providing restaurants with ready entrees.

Food firms like Armour, General Foods and Seeman Bros. are working hard now to convince restaurant owners to join the parade in numbers and volume of usage.

Canadian Teacher Is Facing Abduction

CANFIELD, Ont. (AP)—Police asked U.S. authorities today to join in a search for Charles Richeson, 20-year-old school teacher, who is charged with abduction in connection with the disappearance of one of his 15-year-old girl students.

Police have been looking for the pupil, fair-haired Susan Vermette, since last Thursday when she was seen being picked up by a man after school closed. The car headed toward the U.S. border.

U.S. borders officials were notified, and an 11-state alarm was sent out over the Northeastern United States, officials said.

Lock Up Drunken Drivers Is Order

CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — State poice today are under strict orders from Gov. Wesley Powell to "pick up and lock up" any person found to be driving after drinking.

Powell said his new "get tough" order has the effect of wiping out any distinction between "'driving after drinking" and the more serious offense—"drunken driving."

Under New Hampshire law, a person can be arrested for driving after drinking if he is operating his car after having consumed even a minimum quantity of alcohol.

Bad Double Is Only Flaw

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Asso.

Lieutenant, now General, Gruenther analyzed this hand of the 1931 match as follows:

"Mrs. Culbertson's preemptive opening of four spades was fully justified by her holding. Mr. Culbertson, felt reasonably certain that his partner could make four spades, but saw no reason not to give a slam invitation with his strong hand. Thus encouraged, Mrs. Culbertson can hardly be blamed for bidding the slam. Mr. Culbertson redouble was a venturesome one, probably intended to teach 'Ossie' a lesson.

"The slam was lost because of a losing finesse and Mr. Jacoby's choice of the ace of hearts lead. If Mr. Lenz had held the king of spades, or if any other card had opened, Mrs. Culbertson would have made the slam."

Looking at the hand 30 years later, I still think that the slam bid was a good one. At worst it depended on the spade finesse and even with the spade finesse wrong, any lead but a heart would have let Jo make the contract.

However, Ely's redouble was a bad bid. I could only be doubling on the ace of hearts and a trump trick, so once I doubled he should have known the hand would not make.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing Berlin crisis was the subject of a thoughtful and clear analysis by NBC's news staff Tuesday night in a special program.

The increasing tensions and continuing incidents in the German city cut in half by the Communist wall was presented as another move in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's international chess game designed ultimately to neutralize Europe and isolate America. Narrator Chet Huntley stated that although Berlin now is the target, the game is to knock flourishing West Germany out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Although presenting America and its European friends as stronger, militarily and economically, than the Soviet Union, the program emphasized the differences of opinions existing among the NATO allies and Khrushchev's shrewd exploitations.

The program's clear implication was that Allied reluctance to take a firm stand about the wall has shaken the confidence of the West Germans — just as Khrushchev hoped it would.

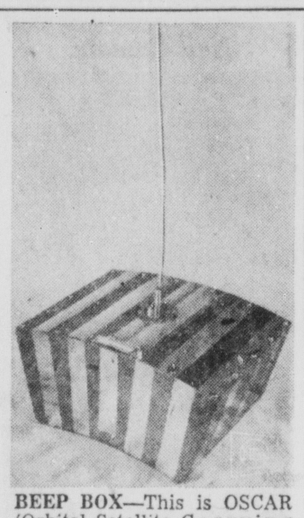

NBC's staff did a brilliant job of marshalling facts in a complicated situation and presented them in a cool authoritative style. They painted a frightening picture.

One television trend which has steadily been gathering quiet momentum is the fashion of using numbers in titles. By my count there will be, by next week, 16 network programs with statistical titles. They range from the police-action shows ("Cain's Hundred," "87th Precinct") to situation comedy ("Car 54 Where Are You?" and "My Three Sons") to documentaries ("20th Century") to the children's shows ("1, 2, 3—GO!").

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 (EST)—Caterina Valente, guest star; Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11 — "The Bitter Sex," with Mona Freeman and Lloyd Bochner, late of "Hong Kong."

First U. S. presidential candidate ever nominated by a national convention was William Wirt, who was nominated for the presidency by the anti-Masonic Party in September of 1831.

Politics Seen Involved

U.S. Concerned on Canada's Cautiousness in Nuclear Plan

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada is playing it cautious about developing a nuclear deterrent as an ally of the United States. The caution appears based on local politics, and there are indications Washington is upset.

Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker's Conservative Party is coming up for re-election in 1962 —possibly in June or October— and has indicated that it does not want to make nuclear weapons an issue in the campaign.

There are two Bomarc antiaircraft missile bases in Canada—at North Bay, Ont., and La Macazza, Que.—but they are not expected to be in operational readiness until well into 1962.

The United States has stockpiles of nuclear weapons in Europe. But there are no stockpiles in her closest ally—Canada.

Under war conditions nuclear warheads automatically could be used in Canadian weapons—whether or not the United States and Canada sign a formal agreement on their use and control.

The big problem confronting the Diefenbaker government is making the warheads immediately available. Such an agreement would concern storing them in Canada.

Spokesmen for the opposition Liberal and new Democratic Party have come out openly against bringing Canada into the nuclear sphere.

Washington has moved carefully to avoid getting involved in Canadian politics, but this has created difficulties in mapping defense strategy.

Nuclear-armed bombers of the U.S. Air Force's Strategic Air Command avoid flying over Canada to oblige Ottawa's insistence that each such flight must get clearance — a necessarily slow progress.

The U.S. Army also has moved its cold-weather testing of weapons, including missiles, to Alaska from Fort Churchill, Man.

The U.S.-Canada Defense Committee has not met since July 1960—well before the Kennedy administration took over last January.

Since 1950 the United States has spent about $33 billion on North American air defense—yet this has not brought a complete meeting of minds with the northern ally across the open border.

More Yanks Move Along Autobahn

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army today moved another infantry company along the Soviet-controlled autobahn to West Germany.

The U.S. command reported that Co. D of the 6th Infantry's 2nd Battle Group cleared through Soviet controls at the Babelsberg checkpoint outside Berlin and headed west on the 110-mile trip through Communist territory.

The Communist press, both Soviet and East German, has consistently complained about such U.S. troop movements.

Rockets, Sputniks On Church Altars Minister Declares

Thank God for our Freedom! This statement was the basic text of a talk given by the Rev. George P. Werner at the Tuesday Lions Club luncheon.

The Rev. Mr. Werner in serving as a delegate to the 10th World Conference of the Methodist Churches in Oslo, Norway had the opportunity to tour behind the Iron Curtain. In his talk to the Lions Club, he contrasted living under communism to living in a free society.

According to the Rev. Mr. Werner, life in a communistic society is symbolized by three common objects he observed in Russia. Symbol number one is a padlock; for in Russia the padlock denotes the lack of freedom of religion. Most churches behind the Iron Curtain are locked. Many others have been converted into museums or shrines to the materialistic diety of science. He said that he saw several church altars that had replicas of rockets or sputniks.

The second object that symbolized life in Russia was the Russian cigarette. This cigarette is two-thirds hollow filter and one-third tobacco. This suggests that the economic system of Communist Russia gives the people two-thirds hot filtered air and one-third material goods. The lack of consumer goods and the cost of available items is certainly evidence of this situation in Russia.

The third symbol, according to the Rev. Mr. Werner, is a loudspeaker he saw in every hotel room that he stayed in. There is no Freedom of Choice for Russians. They must listen to or read the voice of the State. Radios are rare and televisions are seldom seen; when heard, these mediums only carry the sound of propaganda.

The Russian lives in a state which controls the mind, body and soul of man. "As Americans we should thank God for our freedoms; freedom of religion, freedom from want, freedom of speech and freedom of press, and work towards maintaining the society that we live in," the Rev. Mr. Werner said.

Egypt to Seize 3 French Schools

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The government has ordered the seizure of three schools belonging to the French government's education mission in Egypt, the paper Al Ahram said today.

The schools were operated by a French cultural-commercial mission that was permitted to return to Egypt in 1958 after the 1956 Suez invasion. Nine members of the mission were arrested Nov. 24 and accused of spying and plotting to overthrow the regime of President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Dairymen Closing Middletown Terminal

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The Middletown tank truck terminal of the Dairymen's League Cooperative, in operation here since the 1930s, will be closed Jan. 13.

The terminal served as a transfer point in the movement of milk from farms to processing plants. Officials said this no longer was necessary and the milk now would be moved directly from farm to plant.

The terminal employed 43 truck drivers and 14 mechanics, plus utility men, dispatchers and clerical workers. Efforts will be made to transfer them or obtain other employment for them.

Police Captain Is Accused of MoneyShakedown

NEW YORK (AP) — A police captain in The Bronx has been accused of attempting to shake down merchants during the Christmas season and trying to chisel money from policemen. The captain's name was not revealed.

On the force for almost 20 years, he allegedly applied pressure on Bronx merchants for gratuities.

He also reportedly told men under his command he would charge them with infractions of regulations if they refused to pay him offf.

Five days ago he submittted an application for retirement, effective next Friday. Thirty days must elapse before the retirement process becomes final.

The captain, who has held the rank about two years, draws a salary of $10,581 a year.

Gets 20 to Life

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Charles B. Ducharme, 20, of West Chazy, drew a prison term today of 20 years to life for killing a former sweetheart.

Justice Willard L. Best of State Supreme Court gave the young farmer the minimum sentence on a second-degree murder charge and sent him to the Elmira Reception Center for transfer to a prison when he reaches 21.

Ducharme shot Betty Annn Davison, 17, of Mooers Forks, in a jealous rage last April 30 as she was returning home from a date with another man. Ducharme fled but was captured May 4 at a rural hideout after he had shot himself in the stomach.

Stratton Says . . .

date for congress from the newly created 35th district, which stretches across central New York from Montgomery, to Ontario counties, inclusive. Stratton's present district was eliminated in a reapportionment plan passsed by the GOP-controlled Legislature. It is a traditionally Republican area to which Stratton first won election in 1958 after serving on the Schenectady City Council.

If he does not become the Democratic candidate for governor, he presumably will pursue his congressional bid.

Belgium Resumes Ties With Congo Boost for Adoula

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Belgium resumed diplomatic relations with the Congo today, strengthening Premier Cyrille Adoula's hand in dealing with Katanga's secession.

Restoration of relations was announced as Parliament awaited the arrival of Katanga members to take their seats as provided in Adoula's recent unity agreement with Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Halted 17 Months Ago

Relations with Belgium, former colonial ruler of the Congo, were broken 17 months ago in a fit of anticolonial fury. The late leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba was angered because Belgium tried to protect its citizens and property with troops during the riots after independence.

Belgian interests also supported Tshombe in his defiance of the central government. Belgium investment is heavy in the copper, uranium and other mineral riches of Katanga.

Gradually, the Belgian government and commercial interests in Brussels have swung around to favor Congo unity under a central government in Leopoldville, much to Tshombe's annoyance.

A central government was provided in the constitution Belgium drafted for its colony, but the chaos that ensued after independence was granted in 1960 kept the constitution from being ratified by Parliament.

The 15-member Katanga parliamentary delegation, to be flown from the Katanga capital of Elisabethville in a U.N. planen is expected to propose changes in the constitution to give provinces greater freedom from Leopoldville's control.

The pact signed by Adoula and Tshombe at the U.N. base of Kitona recognized the central government's control over Katanga, but the Katanga leader never has dropped his objections to a strong central regime.

The Katanga Cabinet held it was not competent to ratify the Kitona agreement and passed it to the provincial assembly, a move which Adoula said torpedoed "the last effort to resolve the Katanga crisis by peaceful means."

In Paris, Evariste Kimba, Katanga foreign minister, denied Tshombe had signed the Kitona declaration. He said the Katanga Parliament would meet Jan. 3 to act on the declaration and "the counter proposals Mr. Tshombe made to Mr. Adoula."

"After the Parliament has acted," the government of Elisabethville will decide what attitude to take," Kimba said.

Kimba conceded that U.N. troops could maintain control in Elisabethville, where U.N. forces crushed Katanga resistance in a two-week battle, but said that "to hold Katanga under the yoke is another thing. The fight would continue in the brush, but Katanga, I assure you, will not surrender."

A finding of accidental asphyxiation was reported today by Coroner Francis J. McCardle in the death of Mrs. Nellie F. Jackson, of 60 Wilkie Avenue, who was found in the family car in a garage beneath the Jackson home.

The coroner said Mrs. Jackson died of asphysia due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Mrs. Jackson's husband, Clifford, who was found unconscious in a bedroom by his daughter, Carol, 16, was reported in fair condition today at Kingston Hospital. Mrs. Jackson's mother, Mrs. Mabel Furman, who reportedly suffered a heart attack Saturday morning prior to the discovery of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson was described in "apparently fair" condition at the hospital.

Retired Officer Honored Tuesday At State Event

A ceremony marking the retirement of the 50,000th member of the New York State Employes Retirement System was held Tuesday afternoon in the office of the State Comptroller Arthur Levitt. On hand to receive his first monthly retirement check was the 50,000th retiree, John J. Flannery of 10 South Clinton Avenue.

Flannery, age 65, was in State service for over 26 years and was an employe of the Correction Department. He served as a correction officer at the Eastern Correctional Institution, Napanoch.

Choosing Option One, he will receive a monthly retirement check of $212.82 which amounts to a little over half his final salary. Flannery thus joins some 29,000 other surviving retirees who each month receive a total of $3,437,000 from the System.

On hand for the ceremony in addition to Comptroller Levitt and Flannery were Paul D. McGinnis, commissioner of correction, Leon Braun, deputy comptroller in charge of the Retirement System and Charles L. McKendrick, superintendent of the Eastern Correctional Institution.

Flannery, who was born in Kingston, December 18, 1898, was appointed a guard (correction officer) on December 23, 1927, and served at the Napanoch Institution since then. Flannery is a veteran of World War I, having served with the 10th Infantry, 27th Division, for over three years, and having been awarded the Purple Heart.

Commissioner McGinnis commended Flannery not only for his long years of service but for the service rating of "superior" which Flannery has consistently earned over the years.

Superintendent McKendrick praised Flannery as one of the most capable, devoted and loyal members of the institution staff.

President Ends Work on Budget, To Be Balanced

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy has completed work on the budget for the next fiscal year and it will be balanced, administration officials said today.

No figures were disclosed, but speculation on its size has been in the area of $92 billion, about $3 billion above the current year.

Back Is Stronger

After visiting his ailing father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, this forenoon, the President returned to the seaside mansion where he is staying. There he received a checkup on his back by a New York orthopedic specialist, Dr. Preston Wade, and the regular White House physician, Dr. Janet Travell.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said the doctors reported the back is stronger than last summer, but it will be several months before Kennedy can resume vigorous physical activity.

Kennedy took a cruise aboard the presidential yacht Honey Fitz after the back examination.

Later, he planned another long conference with key advisers on the State of the Union message to Congress in January.

The President received word from the doctors attending the elder Kennedy that their patient had made progress in throwing off a mild pneumonia which developed after the ex-ambassador suffered a stroke Dec. 19.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy, drove himself to St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach to visit his father. They spent 25 minutes there. A Secret Service agent took over the driver's seat of the cream-colored convertible when they left.

Mrs. Sargent Shriver, Mrs. Peter Lawford and Mrs. Stephen Smith, sisters of the President, also visited the elder Kennedy.

No Recent Trouble

The back examination had been described by Salinger in advance as routine. He said Kennedy had had no recent trouble with his back which he hurt last year while shoveling dirt at a tree-planting ceremony.

Salinger reported the President has been taking a daily swim since his arrival here. There is a heated outdoor pool at the estate of Col. and Mrs. C. Michael Paul, where he is staying.

As to the condition of the President's father, both Salinger and St. Mary's Hospital reported it to be unchanged. The hospital said he had a satisfactory night.

Jobless Man Admits Extortion Try and Threat for Church

NEW YORK (AP)—Police say a jobless man has admitted he attempted to extort $1 million from a Protestant church by threatening to wipe out the minister and his staff with explosives.

The man, Harold LeRoy Grout, 40, was quoted by police as saying he wanted the money "to alleviate a lot of the ills in the world and the injustices."

He was charged with attempted extortion and making threatening telephone calls.

Grout, who first gave his name as Harold Grant, said he had lived in recent years in Evanston, Ill.

Grout's arrest Tuesday night climaxed a two-month police investigation.

A man walked into the Broadway Congregational Church at 56th St. and Broadway Oct. 25 and handed the switchboard operator a five-page letter for the Rev. Dr. Lawrence Durkin, the pastor.

The writer demanded $1 million under threat of destroying "the doctor, his staff and everyone connected with the church."

The writer followed up the letter with telephone calls to Dr. Durkin and five more threatening notes.

Grout was arrested as he loitered in the lobby of the school building of the Riverside Church, an interdenominational church.

3 Firemen Hurt, Man Is Stabbed As Mob Attacks

NEW YORK (AP)—Three firemen were injured and a civilian stabbed early today in what fire headquarters said was an apparently unprovoked mob attack on a fire truck.

A scuffle apparently ensued.

Ben Silverman, 68, of 77 Fairmont Avenue, recently retired sealer of weights and measures for the city, died suddenly at his home Tuesday evening.

Born in New Britain, Conn., a son of the late Mark and Fannie Silverman, he had lived in Kingston for the past 37 years. For over 30 years he was with the local Prudential Insurance Company office retiring as staff manager.

Since his retirement from the insurance firm he had served the City of Kingston as sealer of weights and measures. Mr. Silverman retired from that post Dec. 15 of this year.

Long active in civic affairs, Mr. Silverman had served as commissioner of Child Welfare Board of Ulster County for six years and was a member of the Ulster County Council, Boy Scouts of America.

A member of Temple Emanuel, he served as first chairman of the Kingston Zionist District and had been chairman of the United Jewish Appeal. He was a member of B'nai B'rith and Kingston Lodge 550 BPOE.

Surviving are his wife, the former Celia Weber; three daughters, Mrs. Norman Berke of Stamford, Conn., Mrs. Joseph Asher and Mrs. Harold Rosenblum, both of Newburgh; a son, Mark Silverman of Loudonville; two sisters, Mrs. Louis Tolins of New York City and Mrs. Mae Wexler of Miami, Fla.; seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street, Thursday 10 a. m. Cantor Julian C. Lohre of Temple Emanuel will officiate. Burial will be in Montrepose Cemetery. Friends may call tonight 7 to 9 o'clock.

Mayor's Statement

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today "I am deeply saddened at the news of the passing of my dear friend Ben Silverman.

"During the years he has lived in our city, Ben has been endeared to all who knew or met him. He has served the city well as a devoted public servant in the capacity of sealer of weights and measures and the loss of his deep interest in both the Democratic party and the City of Kingston will leave a great void in our city as well as in the Jewish community where he too served with honor and distinction."

Al Jennings Dies at 98

Records Don't Jibe With His Stories of Being Desperado

TARZANA, Calif. (AP)—Alfonso Jackson (Al) Jennings, train robber, ex-convict, lawyer, lecturer, evangelist, politician, movie celebrity and chicken rancher who hated killing chickens, is dead at 98.

The self-styled bantam badman from the Oklahoma badlands died Tuesday with his boots off in his tree-shaded white frame house.

His nephew, Tillman V. Eggleston, said Al had been despondent since the recent death of his wife Maude, 81, and "was suffering the illnesses of old age."

Despite Jennings' death, the controversy he created still lives.

Was he really a desperado of the Jesse James or Dalton gang caliber? Or was tiny Al, only a lick and a spit over 5 feet tall, just a onetime loser, a luckless train robber, who cashed in on a legend he embroidered for naive movie folks in later years?

Al said he was once a horse thief and declared: "Some of the finest men I ever knew were horse thieves." He also claimed he killed more men than he could count—all in self-defense.

A Contradiction

But author Stuart Lake, Western scholar and biographer of Wyatt Earp, says with a bit of scorn: "There's no record of Al ever killing anyone."

Al said he was a feared outlaw and train robber in the 1890s, terrorizing a score of trains in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Kansas.

The record shows Jennings was convicted in 1895 for robbing a Rock Island train in Oklahoma, sentenced to life imprisonment, paroled after five years and pardoned in 1907 by President Theodore Roosevelt.

Lake says of that one proven train robbery: "The gang netted only about three bucks apiece. A posse found out they were holed up at a ranch house and came after 'em. Al was so scared he couldn't pull the trigger. They took 'em all away to prison, like taking candy from a baby."

Al Jennings was born in Tazewell County, Va., and left home at 11 because his father killed his pet squirrel—"I could always kill a man without batting an eye but I couldn't stand to see an animal harmed," Al once said.

Ran for Governor

He was admitted to the bar in Comanche County, Kan., in 1884, moved to El Reno, Okla., and was elected county attorney in 1892.

After imprisonment and release, he became a lecturer, then an evangelist and ran for governor of Oklahoma in 1914.

Jennings came to California in 1915—and ultimately became an advisor to movie-makers on Western folklore.

Twins Arrive On Bargain Day

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Twins born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. John C. Townley arrived at a most opportune time.

Horton Memorial Hospital, where the twins were delivered, had announced earlier that when the 1,000th baby of the year was born in the institution there would be no charge to the parents.

The 1,000th was Martin Leonard Townley. He was followed 10 minutes later by a sister, Mary Caroline. Mother and children are doing fine—and doubtless pop, too, since the hospital said it would pick up the tab for the mother and both children. This probably will be about $150 to $200.

The Townleys have four other children and reside in nearby Circleville. The father is supervisor of tolls at the Suffern exit of the Thruway. The mother is 30 years old.

Man Killed, 35 Hurt as Train Hits RR Platform

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — One person was killed and at least 35 others injured Tuesday night when an elevated train rammed a station platform. Four of the five cars were derailed, teetering against a thin iron railing 35 feet above a busy West Philadelphia intersection.

Short circuits lit up the area with electrical flashes for 15 minutes following the accident at the Philadelphia Transportation Co.'s York and Dauphin Streets station.

The dead man was identified as Earl Giberson, 45, Philadelphia. Witnesses said the train bounced crazily for more than 200 feet before coming to rest, tilted against the railing. Falling concrete broke several store windows.

Police said there were about 100 passengers on the train, all of whom were trapped briefly until rescue workers could guide them to safety along the narrow catwalk. The injured were taken to nearby hospitals. None apparently were hurt seriously.

A fire, touched off by sparks from the third rail, broke out in the third car. Firemen controlled it quickly.

Auxiliary policeman John Somers, 26, one of the first rescuers on the scene, said there was some yelling but little panic.

AF Revises Dyna Soar, Step Is Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Air Force says it has ordered a major revision in its Dyna Soar program which will eliminate one step in the manned research craft's eventual path to space. It will combine solid and liquid fuel rocket engines.

The Air Force said Tuesday it has decided to use one big liquid-fuel rocket engine and two smaller solid-fuel rocket engines to hurl the glider-like Dyna Soar into the lower edge of space. From there it is to soar back to earth after orbiting.

All suborbital flights, using only the Titan II missile as booster, are now eliminated from the program.

The Titan II probably will be augmented with the thrust of two solid-fuel rocket engines arranged alongside the Titan rocket to provide the push needed to blast the Dyna Soar up to the 18,000 mile-an-hour speed needed for orbit.

The Dyna Soar program had called for three phases in its test schedule—an air drop of a glider from a B52 at high altitude; trajectory flight launchings, like missile shoots; and then orbital flights from Cape Canaveral, Fla., to landings at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The revised plans mean the schedule will move directly from air drop tests to orbital flights.

Chrysler Shows Turbine-Driven Cars of Future

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chrysler Corp. displayed an experimental turbine-driven automobile today and made it clear that mass production was being considered.

The company said it planned to put the cars in the hands of a relatively few selected customers later this year.

Results of the tests, further engineering and cost studies, and consumer reaction could lead to volume production, said Robert Anderson, vice president.

Such cars would be a radical departure from the conventional piston-driven vehicles, of which there are now about 70 million on the road in the United States.

The turbine engines reportedly have one-fifth as many parts as reciprocating engines and require no oil changes or antifreeze.

Speculation was that if tests are successful the car will be manufactured in volume within five years. But Chrysler displayed its optimism by announcing booklets on the car will be available at all dealers shortly after the first of the year.

George Huebner Jr., executive engineer, told a news conference, "We would not be standing before you today if we did not believe the trend which we have started already exists."

The gas turbine runs on any fuel that can be sent through a pipe and that will burn with air.

"Even French perfume could be used," said Huebner. Gasoline would be the more popular and accessible fuel, he explained.

10 Taken From Drifting Dredge Boston-Bound

BOSTON (AP) — The Coast Guard cutter Acushnet pushed through gale-whipped seas today with 10 men rescued from a drifting dredge more than 200 miles out on the Atlantic.

One of the men, Merlin Robinson of Hattiesburg, Miss., was "apparently dead" when picked up, the Acushnet reported, and was revived by a medical corpsman with mouth to mouth resuscitation.

His condition improved to such a degree the Coast Guard cancelled a plan to lift him ashore by helicopter. The Acushnet with all 10 of the dredge Cartagena's crew headed directly for Boston.

The dredge went adrift Christmas Day when a hawser parted as she was under tow from Quebec to Baltimore by the tug Foundation Vigilant. Efforts by the tug and the Acushnet to get another hawser rigged were frustrated by fierce wind and sea.

The crew left the dredge Tuesday on a raft and was plucked from the sea by the Acushnet.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market advanced early this afternoon after an irregular morning. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.20 at 260.70 with industrials up 2.50, rails up .40 and utilities up .20.

Gains of fractions to a point or more outnumbered losers among key stocks.

Some of the steels, motors, drugs, chemicals and utilities showed strength. The rise was spotty, however, nonferrous metals, aircrafts, rubbers, electronics and oils were mixed. Airlines were unchanged to a bit lower.

The rise came after eight straight days of decline and Tuesday's irregular session. It seemed llong overdue to Wall Streeters who have been counting on a traditional yearend rally.

Encouraging business news included a prediction by the head of General Motors that 1962 would be a seven-million-car year. Steel output stood at the highest level since April 1960. Construction contracts for November were reported at a peak.

U.S., Sukarno Talk Over Guinea Threat

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Howard P Jones conferred with President Sukarno today in a fresh American effort to avert the possibility of a Dutch-Indonesian war over West New Guinea.

Jones requested the meeting. American sources said he impressed on Sukarno the United States' "sincere desire to avoid a clash of arms" to determine the future of the Dutch territory that Indonesia claims.

Foreign Minister Subandrio, who was present, declined to say what was discussed. But he told newsmen "We are now watching closely the latest developments in The Hague." The Dutch Parliament is expected to discuss the issue next Tuesday.

Sukarno reiterated Tuesday that he is willing to negotiate but only on terms that would assure Indonesian sovereignty over the disputed area.

In The Hague, a Dutch government source said the Netherlands will ask that a U.N. representative sit in on Dutch-Indonesian talks if they materialize. The informant said the United Nations would then be left with the problem of deciding on the question of self-determination for West New Guinea's Papuan population.

Indonesia earlier rejected a Dutch proposal introduced in the U.N. General Assembly to make West New Guinea a trust territory preparatory to self-determination.

Yule Toll 524, Highest Since Christmas 1955

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths during the Christmas holiday totaled 524, the highest toll for a three-day Christmas period since 1955.

The Associated Press survey also showed 83 deaths in fires and 86 in miscellaneous accidents. The National Safety Council, which had estimated 500 traffic fatalities, said its count showed 523 killed. The traffic toll in last year's Christmas holiday period was 488, the lowest in 10 years for a three-day observance.

The council estimates 330 persons will be killed in auto accidents during the threeday New Year's holiday period starting at 6 p.m. Friday. The toll in last New Year's period, also a Saturday-Sunday-Monday weekend, was 338.

Says Reds Would Have Retreated If Wall Smashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., says he was told by some defected East German police that they had orders to withdraw if the Allies moved in to smash the Berlin wall.

Scott, back from four weeks in Western Europe, said in an interview recorded for radio and television stations in Pennsylvania that the Western powers could have and should have "knocked the wall down."

He said he interviewed some of the East German military police who defected to the West.

"We learned from them in direct questioning that had we moved in to smash the wall down, their orders were to withdraw and not to fire unless we fired on government buildings," Scott said.

"And I also happen to know that only one out of four of these soldier had bullets in his gun, and therefore, we could have done it."

Ryan Appointed

Ward 10 years. He resigned last night to serve on the planning board. The alderman said he is vitally interested in the functions performed by the board and feels the appointment will give him the opportunity to continue to serve the people of Kingston.

Mayor's Statement

In a letter to Ryan, the mayor said:

"Your comprehensive grasp of the complex problems of city government and your ability to appraise and anticipate the exact effect each program will have upon our city's future and the taxpayers ability or desire to support such a program have always amazed me."

The mayor said he feels Ryan's acceptance of the appointment "will fortify an already active and vigilant board with Elmore Yallum and John R. Shults, who have devoted great efforts and energies pursuing the Urban renewal and master plan and its component parts."

Ryan has served as the city Democratic majority leader.

Public Hearing

1962 estimates when he takes office.

Read It in Freeman

The mayor-elect also said he was not aware the figures had been given out until informed by The Freeman.

The 1962 tax rate is $5.29 higher than in 1960. The amount to be raised by taxes this year was $2,418,375.44 and in 1960 it was $2,328 258.56.

Total assessed valuation for 1962 was reported last Friday at $40,320,878. The 1961 total was listed at $40,240,139 and in 1960 was reported at $40,097,989.

In 1961 the tax rate was first fixed at $59.80 per $1,000 and later raised 30 cents because of an additional sum granted the Kingston City Library. The final rate was $2.01 above the 1960 tax rate.

Nasser Ends Yemen Ties

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser's domain is back where it started—confined to Egypt—following severance of the loose federation that joined the little Arabian Peninsula kingdom of Yemen to the United Arab Republic.

Nasser broke the tie with Yemen Tuesday night, apparently because of the opposition of Yemen's feudal ruler, the Imam Ahmed, to Nasser's accelerating program to convert the U.A.R. to socialism.

Yemeni exiles in Beirut predicted the break with Nasser might touch off a revolution in their homeland that would unseat the Imam, one of the world's last absolute monarchs.

The two countries had been linked in the United Arab States, a loose federation formed a month after the proclamation of the U.A.R. joining Egypt and Syria in March 1958.

Syria broke out of the U.A.R. last September, but Nasser's government retained the name that symbolizes Nasser's thwarted dream of a unified Arab world.

The statement announcing the break with Yemen said the two governments had nothing in common "to make the federation between them an effective political instrument able to contribute positively in strengthening the Arab struggle."

In posing as the symbol of the new wave in the Middle East, Nasser could hardly afford to remain tied to the feudal Red Sea monarch, who published a poem attacking Nasser's Arab socialism after the break with Syria.

The association between Nasser and the Imam—theoretically co-presidents in the UAS—never approached the working relationship that Nasser had with Syria. It was a limited association in defense, cultural and economic affairs. The U.A.R. bore most of the cost.

Appointed by the late Sheriff Wright J. (Doc) Smith in 1930, Wesley A. O'Brien served under seven Ulster County sheriffs, including the late Abram F. Molyneaux, the late John A. Saxe, Howard C. Anderson, the late George C. Smith, Cluett Schantz and Claude Bell. In 1942 Wesley A. O'Brien interrupted his service to the county when he became a guard in the employ of the New York Central Railroad and served at the Wilbur bridge on the West Shore Division. After the close of World War 2 he again entered the sheriff's office and has since served as head jailer.

Arrests Solve Burglaries

LITTLE VALLEY, N.Y. (AP)—The Cattaraugus County sheriff's department claimed a solution to five burglaries today with the arrest of five Buffalo area youths.

The burglaries, all during the past month, were at the Niagara County Council of Girl Scouts camp at North Otto, a service station near Little Valley and three privately-owned chalets in the Holiday Valley ski area.

Investor, 88, Advised Not to Change Portfolio

Q) "I am 88 years old and very active for my age. My holdings include Kroger, American Cyanamid, American Steel Foundries, Armco Steel, Columbia Gas, Procter & Gamble, and Radio Corp. I bought most of these stocks prior to 1940 and they are now worth more than twice what they cost.

I have other income so I don't really need to sell. Do you like my stocks? What changes do you advise me to make?" Y. R.

A) It is a genuine pleasure to hear that you are still active and willing to make changes at 88 years of age. I hope we'll both be around ten years from now to review your holdings. Some of your stocks — such as Columbia Gas and Procter and Gamble — appeal to me more than the others

However, under the circumstances, I think your list is all right and I would let it ride just as it is. Any switching would put you in line for a large tax payment and in today's market I think you would have little to gain by making such moves.

Q) "We have two boys, 7 and 3, and for a long time have been putting away $2.00 a week each to give them a start toward a college education. They now have $725 and $300 saved, respectively.

A friend suggested we put this money into American Telephone stock and from then on, invest periodically in more shares. My husband is employed by the Telephone Company so we get a special rate. Should we do this?" D. L.

A) Your friend has a sound idea. Telephone shares are a very fine investment and since you can get them at a special price, I think you would do well to invest in them. In ten years, when your older son is getting ready for college, you will have invested a total of over $1,700, which supplemented by dividends and market gains, should be enough to give him a pretty good start.

Council Ballot

which would be in the uptown area. He also said that Schwenk's program would not require the demolition of a single high tax assessment property, and that it would be accomplished on a self-liquidating basis.

Alderman James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, Council majority leader, said the administration was much concerned over the off-street parking problem largely because of a continued heavy loss on the city's assessment rolls of important properties, and he felt that the more action was delayed, the more the city would lose.

Of the $290,000 sought, $185,000 would be for acquisition of properties, and $105,000 for construction.

Left with the finance committee was a proposal by Mayor Edwin F. Radel that consideration be given a federal grant of $102,000 made earlier this year to improve the city's sewage disposal system.

The letter noted that since the city's "engineering department is not geared to fully administer such a program, and since the city engineer is temporarily incapacitated, a contract has been drawn between Brinnier and Larios to act in behalf of the city of Kingston on this matter."

Two Are Honored

Another letter from the mayor asked that a silent prayer be offered "in behalf of the late City Historian Joseph F. Sullivan and that was done upon direction of Council President Harold F. Kaye.

In recent years, said the mayor, "Mr. Sullivan has served several administrations conscientiously and efficiently as the official city historian, a title he enjoyed and fulfilled with great effectiveness right up to his untimely death."

A like tribuute was paid to Ben Silverman, of 77 Fairmont Avenue, sealer of weights and measures, who died Tuesday night.

Enjoyed Serving

Four aldermen, due to be replaced, as of January 1, said they enjoyed their experience as aldermen and commended the council, as a whole, for its conscientious effort. They are: James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, majority leader; Samuel J. Perry (R) Fifth Ward, minority leader; Lawrence E. Woerner (D) Fourth Ward, and John P. Heitzman (D) 12th Ward.

Ryan said he had "thoroughly enjoyed' 'his 10 years as an alderman, and he felt that the aldermen had tried to do "the best job they could." Perry said he will miss the council after serving 12 years in it, and he said that despite the "pros and cons," he enjoyed it. He commended Council President Kaye for the assistance he had given. He also commended members of the press and radio, City Clerk Raymond McAndrew, said it had been a pleasure to serve with Ryan as majority leader, and felt his successor, Frank A. Adams would "do a good job."

Alderman Woerner thanked the aldermen for considerations given him personally and to his family, and said he hoped his successor (William P. Slover) would get the same cooperation that he had received in the council.

Heitzman said his two years "had been rewarding" and he felt the people dealt with by the aldermen in the city are generally "real nice people" and he would miss working with them. He said he hoped he had helped a bit and was appreciative of the assistance given him by Council President Kaye and Alderman Ryan. He is to be succeeded by John Machione.

Praised by Kaye

Kaye, said he felt the retiring aldermen had done "a wonderful job," and upon his suggestion they were given a standing round of applause.

Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly, in bidding his farewell, said, "I have respect for this legislative body, and I think you have done a sincere job." He noted that he had attended meetings regularly, excepting one regular and one special session, in the past four years, and he hoped the public would become more aware of the work done by the aldermen.

City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew, in a brief statement, commended the aldermen, and wished the best of success to Walter S. Foster, present deputy city clerk, who is to succeed him.

Reminder on Hearing

Ryan reminded the aldermen of the budget hearing scheduled for tonight in the Common Council chamber, city hall.

Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, who heads a special committee dealing with proposed development of downtown caves as fallout shelters, noted that Perkins and Will of White Plains, had been assigned by federal authority to make surveys in a district includingUlster County. Its representatives, he said, would meet soon with committee members. This, he felt, indicates that plans are moving ahead "faster than anticipated."

The firm of Perkins and Will has done work for the local education board.

A report on pending claims, as requested of the corporation counsel was left in committee.

Rotron Company Announces New Vacation Plan

Rotron employes who complete ten years of service with the company will receive three weeks of paid vacation beginning next year, a company announcement said today.

This announcement, along with three others concerning vacation plan improvements, was made by J. C. vanRijn, Rotron's president, at the company's annual Christmas dinner Saturday night.

van Rijn also announced that employes who previously would have received 2 weeks of paid vacation after 4 years of service, will receive it, starting in 1962, after only 2 years. In addition, employes who, in the future, complete 20 years of service will receive 4 weeks of paid vacation.

In total, 168 present employes will receive longer vacations next year because of the improvements. They were made in keeping with Rotron's policy of improving employes' benefit plans whenever the growth and condition of the company permit.

Rotron recently announced the addition of major medical coverage to its employe benefit plan as well as an increased life insurance benefit.

More Weaving Classes Planned

So popular have the weaving classes by Berta Frey proved at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen under its Adult Education program that it seems no sooner does one class end, then another begins.

Two new classes, one afternoon and one evening, are scheduled to begin January 4 and January 10. Early registration is suggested because Miss Frey, instructor, lecturer, writer and exhibitor, whose work has been internationally shown, has a special teaching technique that is in such demand.

Further details as to the days, hours, etc. may be obtained at the Guild Shop, which reopens Tuesday, Jan. 2, after the usual Christmas week closing, or by a telephone call to Miss Frey. A nominal registration fee is required and pupils pay for the materials involved.

Lancer Firm Probed

NEW YORK (AP)—The attorney general's office reported today it was investigating Lancer Industries Inc., a fallout shelter firm of which Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino once was a director.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office said a complaint against the firm was started by the office's securities bureau.

Unidentified Woman Third Victim

TV Writer, Fireman Perish In Central Park Hotel Fire

NEW YORK (AP) —Two residents and a fireman died early today in a fire on the ninth floor of the 17-story Hotel Mayflower overlooking Central Park.

Two other men—apparently residents—were burned, one of them critically. Seven firemen were burned or overcome by smoke.

Most of the 400 guests in the largely residential hotel at Central Park West and 61st St. fled from their rooms shortly before 2 a.m.

No Panic

The guests—many of them in nightclothes—congregated in the lobby. There was no panic. Two of them carried pet canaries from their rooms.

They streamed down to the lobby via stairwells and elevators after the hotel manager pressed a button that sounded an alarm on every floor.

The fire burned out of control for almost an hour. City firemen, called out on two alarms, kept the blaze from spreading from the ninth floor.

An unidentified man, walking past the hotel as the alarm was sounded, heard calls for help and ran inside. He ran through the hotel, pounding on doors and shouting an alarm.

The dead:

Fireman John King, 29, a resident of Commack, Long Island.

An unidentified woman.

Cause Not Determined

Fire officials said the blaze had started in Wyzel's room and spread to the hall. The cause was not immediately determined.

Firemen attached hoses to standpipes on the eighth floor, carried them to the ninth and trained them on the hall door. The door gave way and flames burst at the firemen. Two fire lieutenants were burned. Two firemen were knocked out by dense smoke pouring from the hall.

Revived Retriever

CUTLER, Maine (AP)—As a Coast Guardman, Chief Boatswain's Mate Ken Ashby knows how to apply artificial respiration on human beings. He had never tried it on a dog, but he thought it was worth a try when his pet Labrador retriever fell into the water and apparently drowned.

Ashby placed the dog's body on an oil barrel and gently rolled the barrel back and forth. The dog was fully revived in an hour.

Personal Diplomacy Way of Life for Chiefs Now

Travels, Talks Figure to Play Even Bigger Role in JFK Future

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's gotten so that if an American president stayed home he'd look like a snob.

In the past 11 months President Kennedy has received at least 30 visits from foreign heads of state and prime ministers, plus scores of ambassadors, and has made several foreign visits himself.

Four Good Reasons

There are four good reasons for this back-and-forth business:

Truly fast travel; end of isolationism and new, close ties with other countries; abandonment of the idea that only a president's subordinates should dabble in diplomacy and Premier Khrushchev himself.

It would have taken President James Madison about 2½ months —allowing two weeks for a look-around—if he had wanted to visit the 1815 Congress of Vienna in those days of sail and coach.

That would be too long for any president to be away. But Kennedy could get to Vienna now in less than 11 hours by jet.

Once this country moved out of its historic isolation—with World War II—it began moving in the exact opposite direction. Now it is tied to nations around the world by military alliances and foreign aid.

Community Interest

This has created a community interest which this country never shared in before and makes it natural for all the big wigs involved to visit one another and talk shop.

In the long history of American isolationism it was routine for American presidents — with the brief exception of Wilson and until Franklin D. Roosevelt—to stay home and let their secretaries of state and ambassadors do the direct dealing with other governments.

There was no reason why they shouldn't have stayed home: the United States' policy was to be aloof.

The war ended that. The British and Russian foreign secretaries were nobodies in the wake of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin. Time was short, events momentous. So Roosevelt dealt with them in person.

All Tied to Nik

He made some memorable trips abroad to do so. President Harry S. Truman began the foundation of military alliances and foreign aid which President Dwight D. Eisenhower inherited. This led in time to exchange of visits, but for one particular reason above all.

Premier Khrushchev made personal diplomacy a way of life for a head of government. He said the foreign ministers were messenger boys, who could handle the grimy details after the top men made agreements.

But, he said, only the top men could get things done. Eisenhower would have looked negative or self-conscious if he had refused to meet the Russian.

Wasn't Failure Though

The fact that his summit meeting with Khrushchev produced no successes has beeen pointed to by those who want a return to the stodgy diplomacy of the past as a reason why presidents should stay home.

But that summit meeting can't be called a failure. It would have beeen amazing if, in one brief meeting, the world's ills could have beeen healed.

So far Kennedy, who met Khrushchev in Vienna last June, has not had to go into lengthy negotiations on any of his foreign trips. No doubt he will in time.

That he will continue to make visits abroad—given new times and new problems—seems inevitable.

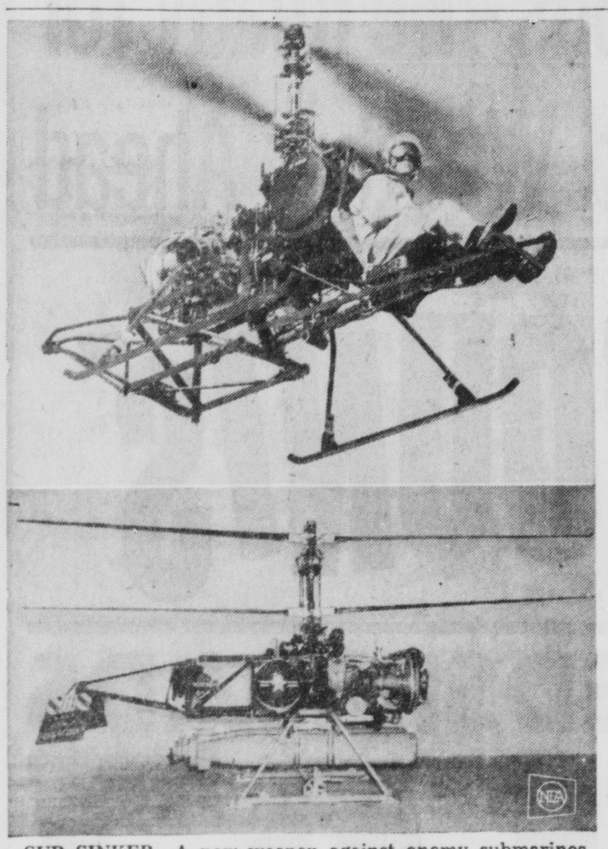

Dean Rusk in 1960, which was before he became Kennedy's secretary of state, took a dim view of personal negotiations or summit meetings by a president. He suggested the job should be done by professionals.

To Do Own Talking

Kennedy, who dominates both Rusk and American foreign policy seems to think differently. He doesn't act like a man who wants someone else to do his talking for him.

And, since his visitors would still continue to pour on him, he'd have to return some of them with trips abroad, even if he didn't negotiate at all.

7 Banks Maintain Holding Company Would Not Hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government approval of a plan to form the largest bank holding company in America will meet a demand for increased services in New York State without lessening competition, seven banks maintain.

The Morgan New York State Corp., the proposed holding company said in a memorandum filed with the Federal Reserve Board that present banking arrangements were inadequate to attract new industry to the state, to provide capital and to precess loan applications swiftly.

These arguments were in a 16-page statement by corporation president John M. Meyer Jr. In the statement, made public Tuesday, Meyer took issue with testimony Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., gave at a hearing on the plan.

$6 Billion Assets

"Economic cannibalism" was a term used by Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, in referring to the proposed holding company, which would have assets in excess of $6 billion.

The holding company would comprise the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York City; Lincoln Rochester Trust Co., Rochester; Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co., Buffalo; The National Commercial Bank and Trust Co. of Albany; First Trust Deposit Co., Syracuse; the Oneida National Bank and Trust Co. of Central New York, Utica, and the First-City National Bank of Binghamton.

Seen As Error

"A flagrant example of an error," Meyer said, "is his (Celler's) insistence upon placing all assets of Broome County offices of Marine Midland in Elmira so as to claim a concentration for First-City National of 92.6 per cent in Binghamton."

An Elmira affiliate of the Marine Midland Corp., New York State's only bank holding company, operates a branch in Binghamton.

Reed H. Albig, president of the Independent Bankers Association and the National Bank of McKeesport, Pa., said in a supplementary statement that approval of the holding company would set off a chain reaction of bank mergers in other states. In New York State, he said, a handful of banks eventually would control all financial activity.

Customer Comes First

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A robber held up a supermarket here but didn't get all the money he had intended to take.

He demanded the money from store manager J. S. Presley who started to sack it up. But a woman who was paying for her purchases objected. She wanted her change, she said, "before he takes it all."

She got it.

Albany, Lake George Banks Plan Merger

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Bank of Albany and the First National Bank of Lake George have voted to merge.

Directors of the Albany bank, which has resources of $469 million, and the Lake George bank, with $4,616,000 voted to merge Tuesday.

Stockholders of both banks, the state superintendent of banks and the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System must also approve.

The Lake George bank would become a branch of the State Bank of Albany if approval is gained.

American Beauty Contest Launched By Massachusetts

Young ladies over 16-years of age are eligible to enter the 1962 American Beauty Contest, a highlight of the 13th Annual Western Massachusetts flower Show. This was announced today by Richard Simard of Aldenville, president of the Connecticut Valley Horticultural Society sponsor of the floral spectacular which will be held at the Better Living Center, Eastern States Exposition Park, West Springfield, Mass, Feb. 21 to 27, 1962.

This marks the 11th successive year of the American Beauty Contest at the Flower Show. A suitable crown of flowers, plus an all-expense-paid trip to Bermuda for two will go to the winner selected by a panel of three judges. The winner will be announced Tuesday evening, Feb. 27, a fitting climax to the seven-day Flower Show which officially heralds spring in Western Massachusetts.

Entry blanks may be secured from any florist in Western Massachusetts, members of the Connecticut Valley Horticultural Society, or directly from the Flower Show Office, 495 Union Street, Springfield.

Assisting Mr. Simard planning the 1962 Flower Show are the officers of the Horticultural Society — Vice-President John B. Small Jr., of Springfield; Secretary James A. Denver, Springfield; Treasurer Paul A. Cantin, Easthampton; the board of directors of the Society and General Manager Albert Appleman.

NEW YORK — Secretary of State Caroline K. Simon has received an "Outstanding Citizenship Award" from the American Heritage Foundation for her work toward modernization of election laws. Among her most recent recommendations, Mrs. Simon proposed that the privilege of absentee ballot be extended to persons on vacations. The Secretary of State made her recommendations to the Joint Legislative Committee to study Election Law and Related Statutes. Mrs. Somon also suggested that the residency requirements be reduced for newcomers to the State for voting in presidential elections, providing they had qualified to vote in the state in which they formerly resided

ENTERTAINING HER ABSENT FRIEND'S HUSBAND

Q: A friend of mine is in a sanitarium recuperating from a nervous breakdown. She has been there a month and will be there at least another month. Her husband, who is also a good friend, is very lonesome and has asked me to go out to dinner with him some night. I am very sorry for him and can appreciate how he feels and would like to help in whatever way I can. Would it be proper for me to accept his invitation to dine with him? I am single and live at home with my mother.

A: It would be a mistake to be seen dining in a public restaurant with your absent friend's husband and will almost certainly cause unpleasant gossip. Why not invite him to dine with you and your mother at your house? This will be entirely proper and could certainly cause no criticism.

Bookplates Showing Joint Ownership

Q: On bookplates to be given to a man friend as a gift, should the name appear as John Smith or, considering that he is married and the books are jointly owned, should it be John and Mary Smith, J. and M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, or what?

A: The names on the bookplates should be John and Mary Smith.

Prefers To Be Called "Mom"

Q: My son, and only child, was married six months ago. As I always wanted a daughter I am so very happy over this marriage and have the deepest love for my daughter-in-law who is a very lovely person. However, I have one complaint and that is that she calls me by my first name. This hurts me very much. I would like to know how I can tactfully tell her that I do not like being called by my first name and ask her to call me "Mom" as my son does.

A: Explain to her how much you have always wanted a daughter and the pleasure it would give you to have her call you "Mom."

For the correct procedure of a "Second Marriage," send 10 cents in coin, to cover cost of handling, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Freeman.

We Appreciate Your Patience

During the hub-bub of the wonderful Christmas Gift Buying Season just past, we became aware of several of our shortcomings. Your marvelous response to our varied gift selections caused us at times to get a little behind in our usually prompt free delivery service; our usually prompt free gift wrapping service . . . and, at times, we may have seemed abrupt while waiting on you at the store or perhaps giving not-too-complete answers to your telephone queries.

Please understand and bear with us through such periods. Your splendid patronage is one blessing for which we are very thankful and do not wish to jeopardize in any way. If during the Christmas season, you thought us lacking in any of our usually prompt services that we ordinarily offer you, we appreciate your patience and realization that the increased buying pressure at that time caused us to tax our facilities to the fullest.

Thanks again for your understanding, patience and loyal patronage.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Make Your Sympathy Constructive in Nature

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Our daughter's husband hasn't worked for five months. He has never been able to hold a steady job. We have been giving money to our daughter because we don't want to see her and our two dear little grandchildren suffer.

We are worried because we are retired and are using up our savings. What makes her father angry is that she won't tell her husband about taking money from us. She says it would hurt his pride . . .

Answer: In the old days parents said to children in your daughter's situation, "You made your bed. Now lie in it."

This attitude had some value. By refusing to make a child's uncomfortable bed easy to lie on, they faced the child with the truth of its bumpy mattress and broken springs.

We can improve on the value of this old attitude.

We can offer your daughter the means by which she herself can get up from this uncomfortable martial situation. Instead of giving her money to maintain it, let's offer her to pay for a course in stenogrphy that will enable her to earn her own.

Let's offer to look after the babies while she is learning, and, later, working. But let's stop trying to make tolerable for her a bed whose intolerableness she has a right to be feeling.

You see when we feel sympathetic toward anyone dependent on us, he tends to interpret our sympathy as a promise of continued support. The sorrier we show ourselves to be for him the surer he becomes that he can expect to go on leaning upon us.

As there are limits to what we can do for him, the sympathy is unfair to him. So, if we love him we tell him the truth..

We face him with the limits of what we can do for him and, as I have suggested, try to open his eyes to ways by which he can help himself.

Your daughter may at first resent suggestions that she herself must take action on her problem. But not for long, I think. The probability is that she herself knows it and has been waiting for someone to clarify her awareness of what she knows.

If we regard a child's marriage as a poor one, we have no right to impose that opinion on him. But we have every right to hold it ourselves.

The more certain we are of our right to dislike it, the less critical we become, the less we need to make the resentful and hurting remarks that rally the mismated child's defensiveness. This is always unfortunate.

All our criticism does is to drive him to hide in unhappiness from himself — and the energies he should be using to improve his uncomfortable lot are diverted to pretending that he like it.

The next meeting of the Association will be held on January 15 at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel. At this meeting, the annual visitation will be made by the Division officers. A special program, "This Is Our Life," is being prepared and details will be announced later.

Saugerties, Albany Academy Win Tourney Cage Contests

Clubs to Collide Thursday Night ForChampionship

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

It will be Saugerties again Albany Academy for the championship of the third annual Sawyer cage tourney on Thursday and the host team is favored to make it three straight titles.

Coach Bud Smith's defending DCSL champions moved to a big lead in the first period and then struggled to a 49-46 verdict over Middletown last night in the feature game of a twinbill. In the first tilt, Neil Murray's foul shot in the final three seconds enabled Albany Academy to nip Cairo Central, 36-35.

Cairo will play the Middies in the 7 p. m. consolation game on Thursday and then Saugerties and Albany will meet in their title test. Off the performances last night, the Sawyers rule as the favorites.

Getting good performances from Al Hrdlicka and Mike Dodig, the Sawyers led all the way. Each time the Middies came close, either Hrdlicka or Dodig would do the scoring or rugged Bill Schirmer would pluck the backboards clean. Middletown didn't get more than one shot at a time very often. The DUSO League club made a big bid in the final five minutes of play and Saugerties leading, 42-35.

A Late Rally

Big Billy Gray put in a pair of free throws and then Keith Mills hooked a deuce for the winners. Gray then tallied six straight points, tapping in a rebound, sinking a side one-hander and driving in for a layup. This sliced the margin to a point, 44-43, with 3:06 remaining.

The Sawyers rose to the occasion. Dodig swished a jumper from behind the foul line. After George Cline hit for the visitors, Mills scored from underneath to zoom the margin to four points, 48-44. This stopped the Middie bid.

Hrdlicka and Mills had 13 points while Dodig scored 12 to pace the Sawyers. Grey rimmed 18 for Middletown but he was almost useless off the boards. Schirmer outrebounded him most of the time.

Murray's free throw ended the opening tilt just when it appeared Cairo might pull it out after a stirring second half comeback. The upstaters led most of the way but almost blew the game in the final stages.

This was a sloppy game with both sides taking turns throwing the ball away and committing frequent violations.

Three of Top Ten Teams Await Ohio State Invasion

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mighty Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, heads into the Los Angeles Classic tonight—the biggest challenge it is likely to encounter until the postseason tournaments.

Waiting for the Jerry Lucas-led Buckeyes are three of the top 10 teams in the country: Southern California, Purdue and West Virginia. A capable Utah team form the principal opposition for all-winning Ohio State.

The Buckeyes take on Washington in first-round play in the classic, one of the most important of the holiday tournaments. Also kicking off tonight are the Big Eight affair in Kansas City and the Far West in Portland, Ore.

The last two first-round games in the All-College tourney at Oklahoma City also are on tap. The survivors of first-round action in the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York and the Quaker City in Philadelphia take the day off.

First-round play in three major tournaments Tuesday night—the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York, the Quaker City in Philadelphia and the All-College in Oklahoma City—produced some mild upsets but generally went according to form.

Two previously unbeaten teams, Cornell and New York University, were eliminated from the exclusive list. NYU now 6-11 before unbeaten Dayton (7-0) 75-67 in Holiday Festival first-round match while Bradley (6-2) stopped touring Cornell's winning streak at six with a 85-59 trouncing of the Big Red in a nontourney game.

Second-ranked Cincinnati had no trouble eliminating St. John's (N.Y.) 97-68, Wisconsin handed slumping Providence its third straight loss, 95-84 and LaSalle toyed with Dartmouth 87-66 in other Holiday Festival games.

The semifinal pairings Thursday have LaSalle (5-1) vs. defending NCAA champion Cincinnati (7-1) and unbeaten Dayton (7-0) vs. Wisconsin (5-2).

In Philadelphia, Villanova and Duquesne retained unbeaten records with easy first-round victories and will meet in a semifinal match Thursday. Villanova crushed Niagara 72-45 while third-ranked Duquesne bombed Wyoming 64-47.

In other Quaker City first-round matches Penn tumbled Holy Cross 73-64 and Iowa stopped Penn 67-48.

Thursday semis pit Villanova (9-0) and the powerful Duquesne Dukes (7-0) and Penn (5-1) goes against Iowa (5-2).

Houston came from behind and beat Texas Christian 82-76 and Utah State took Oklahoma City 80-71 in first-round games in the All-College. Seattle puts its 5-0 record on the line against Bowling Green (5-1) and eighth-ranked Wichita (8-1) meets Texas A&M (4-2) in other first rounders tonight.

Aussies Sweep Italy To Capture Davis Cup

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—A team as hot as the sun that blistered the Kooyong Stadium courts for two days clinched Australia's 10th Davis Cup tennnis championship in 12 years today, sweeping the doubles for a 3-0 lead over challenger Italy without loss of a set.

The Australian pair of Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson routed Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 for the clincher before a crowd of about 9,000, who chanced the near 100 degree temperatures to be in on the kill of the Italians for the second straight year.

There was about as much tension to the doubles match as Tuesday's singles—also straight set romps in which Emerson turned back Pietrangeli 8-6, 6-4, 6-0 and Australian ace Rod Laver disposed of Sirola 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

The sweep reduced Thursday's closing singles matches to formalities and proved again that the Italians are far from Australia's class when it comes to playing on grass courts.

Coupled with a mid-summer heat wave that today shot the mercury to 96 in the shade and an estimated 110 at courtside, the surface handicap and the exceptionally steady play of the Australian team was too much to overcome.

The Italians, who eliminated the United States the last two years to reach the challenge round, scored only one service break against Emerson and the veteran Fraser.

Plastic Boats Will Dominate New York Show

NEW YORK — Fifty per cent of the boats to be displayed during the 52nd Annual National Motor Boat Show at the New York Coliseum, January 10-21, will be made of plastic materials. The percentage gives some idea of the strides made by fiberglass boat builders since the first plastice pleasure craft was designed in 1942.

There were 16,000 fiberglass boats built in 1954. That total is a drop in the bucket to the 157,000 plastic boats built in 1961. Experts predict there will be eight million outboard-powered pleasure crafts in the United States by 1965. Boat builders are insisting plastic will play an ever increasing role in boat construction circles.

"Upwards of 90 million pounds of plastic, produced by Allied Chemical and others, was used by boat manufacturers in 1961," says Abner Crosby of Midwestern Industries, Harlan, Indiana. Midwestern Industries is one of the nation's top producers of custom made fiberglass boats. "Most everyone concedes the total amount of plastic to be used in 1962 will be considerably higher.

"The biggest single plastic material used is polyester resin," says Crosby. "Though this is true, many other plastics are finding applications aboard pleasure crafts."

"The use of plastic is becoming more popular because the materials are economical and often replace assemblies that formerly required many more parts," explains Crosby

Some of the other plastic materials include: nylon, polyethylene, polypropylene, vinyls, urethane foam and acrylics

"Nylon," says Crosby, "is used in a number of different ways. Chiefly, however, as covering for control cables, pulleys, sheaves, gears and bearings.

Passing Attack Gives Mississippi Edge

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Mississippi is favored to win the Cotton Bowl game next Monday because of a passing attack that ranked No. 2 in the nation.

Texas generally is conceded to be superior on the ground but while its touchdown output there was more than Mississsippi the margin wasn't as wide as Mississippi's in the air.

The Rebels threw for 19 touchdowns compared to 11 for Texas. They also averaged 182.7 yards per game along the air lanes, which is more than twice as much as Texas held its opponents to. The Texas defense yielded 85.9.

Giant Cripples Back in Shape

NEW YORK (AP) — The team's three cripples — halfback Alex Webster, end Joe Walton and tackle Roosevelt Brown — were back in action when the New York Giants resumed workouts Tuesday for next Sunday's National Football League title game at Green Bay.

"It's too early to tell whether they'll be able to go full speed," said Coach Allie Sherman. "I am hopeful they'll be okay. We'll need all the offensive punch we can get."

All three of the injured players are members of the offensive unit. Webster suffered a pulled groin muscle and Walton strained a leg muscle against Philadelphia Dec. 10. Brown has been playing a month with a bad knee.

"If we're to reverse those two losses to the Packers (20-17 in an exhibition game and 20-17 later in a regular season contest), we're going to have to control the ball," Sherman added. "They have a hard-hitting attack."

The Giants, idle over the Christmas holidays, worked out at Yankee Stadium Tuesday afternoon. Morning drills are scheduled Wednesday, Thursday and Friday before the team takes off from LaGuardia Airport at 1 p. m. Friday by chartered plane.

The game between the Eastern and West Division champions of the NFL is scheduled to start at 1 p. m. CST (2 p. m. EST) in Green Bay's City Stadium. The Packers rule a 2½ point favorite.

Wallkill and Cornwall Win Holiday Contests

New Paltz Cage Tourney Slated ToBeginTonight

Action in the first annual New Paltz Central school cage tournament is slated to start tonight at the Huguenot gym. In the 7 p. m. opener, Valley Central of the Orange County league will meet Red Hook, a small school DCSL participant.

In the 8:30 tilt, the host school will play Roosevelt Central, the favorite to annex DCSL laurels. Losers of the two tilts will play Friday for third place with the championship tilt slated the same evening at 8:30 p. m.

Roosevelt looms as the tourney choice. The Presidents have lost only to Poughkeepsie while annexing wins over Dover Plains, Arlington, Highland and Wappingers Falls. Wes Bialosuknia, a 6-3 junior, is the top cager for the Hyde Park school.

Cornwall High and Wallkill Central collected 58 points each to win opening games in the Monroe - Woodbury Christmas Holiday tournament Tuesday night.

Cornwall overpowered Pine Bush, 58-18, while Wallkill toppled host Monroe-Woodbury, 58-48, with a steady display of power. The winners meet for championship Thursday night.

Eleven of the 12 Cornwall players scored against Pine Bush. The losers never had more than seven points in a quarter—the last one—as Cornwall showed steady power with quarter scoring of 13-13-15-17.

Bob Murphy paced Cornwall with 9 points and Jerry Gorton added 7. Two Pine Bush players—Bob Leonhardy and Dean Weed hit 4 points apiece.

Wallkill got a 19-point performance from Ed Mooney to build up a 25-17 halftime lead over Monroe. The teams battled on nearly even terms after the intermission.

Dave Myers contributed 12 points and Doug Edebohles 10 to the Wallkill total. Jerry Johnson bucketed 16 and Demarest and Tom Mutscheller had 11 apiece for the losers.

Ohio State Unanimous No. 1 Pick

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten Ohio State was a unanimous choice today for the No. 1 position in The Associated Press major college basketball poll.

Winner of their first seven games by margins of from 13 to 43 points, the Buckeyes continued to dominate the voting among a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters. They received all the 42 ballots cast for first place.

Cincinnati, the national collegiate—NCAA—champion, held on to second despite a 52-51 loss to Wichita, but the rest of the standings underwent considerable change.

Completing the top ten were: 3. Duquesne; 4. Southern California; 5. Kansas State; 6. Kentucky; 7. West Virginia; 8. Wichita; 9. Purdue, and 10. Duke.

Newcomers to the standings were Wichita, which followed up its victory over Cincinnati with a 60-48 rout of Santa Clara; Kentucky, 80-67 winner over Kansas State, and Duke, winner over West Virginia 69-65.

Ousted were Providence, which fell all the way from third place to the also-ran category after dropping decisiions at DePaul and Xavier of Ohio; ninth-place St. Bonaventure, beaten 74-57 by Duquesne, and Seattle and Arizona State, which had been tied for tenth.

The poll included games through Monday but none of the post-Christmas tournament action.

The top ten, based on 10 for first place vote, 9 for second, etc., with first place votes in parentheses:

	Points
1. Ohio State (42)	420
2. Cincinnati	317
3. Duquesne	257

5. Kansas State	197
6. Kentucky	153
7. West Virginia	120

Ray's Tackle, Byrne Chevies Stay Undefeated in 'Y' League

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Elsewhere on the sports page is chronicled the selection of Y. A. Tittle as winner of the Jim Thorpe Trophy, highest individual award in professional football.

There is little argument with the naming of Tittle. He literally came back from the dead to spark the Giants into the Eastern Division title and may well catapult the New Yorkers into the league title Sunday at Green Bay. It is a poignant tale beautifully written by Murray Olderman, who instituted the Player of the Year Thorpe award for NEA.

We emphasize this merely to point out that all-league and all-star selections in pro football are not easily come by. By all standards, Monty Stickles had a great season with the San Francisco 49ers, but not good enough to make any of the four teams picked by his NFL mates. He closed out the season with 50 catches, quite an improvement over the 22 he nabbed during his rookie season. Monty missed the tenth spot in NFL pass receiving ratings by just three passes. A year from now, the big, lantern-jawed ex- Poughkeepsie High school athletic great could go all the way.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Harry Gayson tells succinctly in one line why the pros have pretty much taken over football wherever it is played: "The owners are selling a tremendous commodity-violence in a big betting game" . . . We have asked Bill Dixon, proprietor of the Irvington in Woodstock, and Eddie Logan, mixoligist at Salvucci's, to name their all-time picks in each of the major boxing categories. The contrasts and the comments should be interesting. Both are highly qualified to talk on the subject of boxing. . . The Baseball Hall of Fame game at Doubleday Field in Cooperstown on Monday, July 23, is expected to attract an all-time high of 10,000 spectators. That's easy to figure out when you learn the featured teams are the New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Braves. Requests for tickets should be directed to the Cooperstown Baseball Committee. All seats are reserved on a first come, first-served basis.

• Bowling Average Down Slightly:

The average of the American Bowling Congress' more than 4 million members has dropped slightly in the six years since the last such survey was made. The average Congress members last season held an average of 153.968, less than a point below the national average for the 1953-54 season. The survey shows that 155 is the midpoint, with just as many bowlers above that average as below. The ABC is not unhappy about the slight dip. "We are confident the very slight drop in average really reflects an overall growth in bowling excellence in the six years since the previous survey," said Albert R. Matzelle, assistant secretary of the ABC, who headed the survey. "In those six years our membership more than doubled. We have to assume that a large percentage of these bowlers are, or have been, in the lower average ranges because they have been bowling a relatively short time." The survey drew an amazing response of 43 percent of all Congress members, or a total of 1,830,911 actual reported averages.

• Changes at Wiltwyck:

At it's recent general meeting, Wiltwyck Country Club eliminated the non-resident membership classification, changed the date of the annual meeting and fixed a new fical year. Of major significance was a decision to give the board of directors of the golf club the authority to levy assessments when deemed necessary and in the best interests of the club. The other changes are self explanitory. Annual meeting date was set as the first Wednesday in November and the fiscal year from Oct. 1 to September 30, thereby assuring a complete yearly report at the annual membership meeting. As might be expected, the assessment proposal was not unanimously carried, but there was a substantial majority in favor of it, indicating that Wiltwyck members are genuinely concerned that every precaution be taken to insure a stable future for the club. Following the pattern of the past few years, the golf game will continue to boom in the Ulster county area. Enlightened leadership is the most valuble asset any club can possess in the pressure-packed period ahead. It is a commodity not always readily available, as many golf clubs have learned the hard way.

Ray's Tackle Shop polished off the winless Newkirk five, 80-37, for its fifth straight victory in the YMCA basketball league. The loss was the fifth in a row for Newkirk's.

Byrne Chevies captured its third straight victory, stopping unbeaten Trailways Cafeteria, 67-60, as the Trailways went down for the first time in four games.

In other contests, Eddie's Country Fair suffered its fifth straight setback, 72-61, at the hands of Delanoy Fuel, which now has a 4 and 1 record; and Delanoy's bounced back with a 56-46 conquest of Newkirk's.

Ray's led Newkirk's, 35-16, at the half and ran up a 47-21 margin after the recess. Four men hit in double figures — Chick Boice leading with 19, Leo Armstead 15, Champ Holstein 14 and Joe Klonowski 16. Bob Kozlowski (12) and Don Baum (13) shared 25 for the losers.

Bruce Ruffner potted 21 and Bruce Wiederspiel had 20, as Byrne Chevies built up a 34-23 first half lead then held off a late Trailway surge. Jim Ferraro assisted with 14. Top Trailway scorers were Bill DuBois 12, Al Brown 14 and Gary Barnes 15.

Eric Broberg's 20 markers led Delanoy's in their win over Newkirk's. Ted Bream added 14 and Ed Koeppen had 10. Floyd Diedorf hit 12 and Don Baum 10 for the losers.

Jerry Hawkins and Eric Broberg tied with 14 points each in Delanoy's 72-61 win over the Country Fair. Steve Levine sunk 20 and and Ted Johnson had 17. Ty Franklin bucketed 13 and James Knight had 11 for the Country Fair's iron men who played the game without a substitute. Ed Koeppen tossed in 11 and John Hunter 10 for Delanoy's.

Trailway Cafeteria (3-1) takes on Hub Delicatessen (2-1) in the 7:15 game tonight. Byrne Chevies (3-0) and Hayes Lincoln (2-1) are scheduled at 8:15. Saturday's pairings are Yellow Jackets (2-1) vs. Accord (1-2) at 7:15 and Dick's Barber Shop (1-3) vs. Doran's (0-4) at 8:15.

A CHANGE in the format for the closing position round of the 1962 BPAA All Star tournament, booked for January 3-13 in the Miami Beach, Fla., Convention Hall has been made by the BPAA Tournament Committee.

Going into the position round, the bowlers will drop their Petersen Point totals and clash in three-game matches, the winner on a total pinfall basis taking the position leadership.

For example, the men in first and second place at the end of the 15th round will meet in the three-game match, the winner on pinfall capturing the All-Star crown. Those bowlers standing third and fourth will meet, the winner on pinfall taking third place, and so on. This also will apply in the women's competition.

It had originally been announced that these position round meetings would be decided on a best two-of-three game basis.

Don Savage Dies; Was Ex-Yankee

MONTCLAIR, N. J. (AP)—Donald A. Savage, former third baseman and outfielder for the New York Yankees, died Monday night at Mountainside Hospital after a year-long illness. He was 42.

Savage played for the Yankees during the wartime years of 1944 and 1945. The following year he was with the Newark Bears of the International League. He quit baseball in 1947 after aggravating a knee injury that plagued him since his sophomore year on the Bloomfield High School football team.

Savage also had a history of diabetes, which caused him to miss the 1942 baseball season.

NFL Players Pick Y.A. Tittle As Jim Thorpe Trophy Winner

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The most valuable player in the National Football League and the recipient of the seventh annual Jim Thorpe Memorial Trophy is Yelberton Abraham Tittle, Jr., the remarkable quarterback of the New York Giants.

The trophy, donated by A. G. Spalding & Bros., will be presented to Tittle on the pre-championship game show Dec. 31 on NBC-TV.

A poll conducted by Newspaper Enterprise Association of all the players on the 14 teams in the NFL acclaimed the Bald Eagle as the outstanding performer of 1961, the man who did most for his team and who best represented professional football.

But on the evening of Aug. 18, at 6 o'clock, in the lobby of the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, a bald man of 35, with mournful deepest eyes stood forlornly, hoping someone on the Giants would ask him to dinner.

No one did.

So he walked a couple of blocks down Wilshire Boulevard to the restaurant where the doorman had told him some players had gone, saw six Giants and a chair and apologetically asked if he could sit down.

Now, on the night of Dec. 19, at Jim Downey's Restaurant on Eighth Avenue in New York, the Giants gathered to celebrate the winning of the Eastern Division championship. And when all the pretty little speeches and tributes had been made, a spontaneous clamor went up around the room:

"Y.A. . . . Y.A. . . . Y.A."

The same bald man, the eyes now sparkling mistily, got up and told them about "the greatest year in my life."

He did it humorously and softly, for Y.A.—or Yat, as some of the guys call him—is a modest, gentle man who works hard to control his emotions.

He doesn't always succeed. When he called his wife, Minette, in California, to tell her the Giants had won, she started crying. Y.A. cried, too. Four minutes later the operator interrupted, "Your ti-yime is up."

On the field, Tittle becomes effusive and aggressive. Without him the Giants wouldn't be playing for the NFL title in Green Bay Dec. 31. He came to them a worn traveler of 13 years in professional football, spanning two leagues and loss of the curly locks he had at Louisiana State

The day the San Francisco Forty Niners told him in training camp, at Saint Mary's College, he was traded, Tittle drove his car home to Atherton, across the Bay, and contemplated his future. He had a thriving insurance business, three children and a comfortable home. Only three men in history—Sammy Baugh, Bobby Layne and Norm Van Brocklin—had completed more passes (Y.A. is on the verge of passing Van now).

"I made up my mind," he confesses, "to quit Till I got home. My mother-in-law agreed to stay with the kids so my wife could get to New York for a month."

On that slender thread he stayed in football. Still nagging him was the fact he had never played on a winner. He hurt his back on his first play as a Giant and was out a month. The Giants lost their opener without him. He relieved the veteran Charley Conerly against Pittsburgh in the second outing and won the game. From that point on, the Giants took off.

It wasn't easy on Tittle. He had to learn a new system, with its complicated checkoffs and different numbering. The change still plagues him.

But as backfield coach Don Heinrich points out, "Y.A. was the difference."

Paul Brown adds, "In football, the quarterback is the point of the spear. The Giants got that point with Tittle."

Previous winners of the award were Harlon Hill (Chicago), Frank Gifford (New York), John Unitas (Baltimore), Jim Brown, Conerly and Van Brocklin.

The Jim Thorpe Memorial Trophy is football's highest award.

Bowling Proprietors Slate Giant Score Awards Program

A giant new high score awards program has been announced by the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America.

The BPAA's new program, which originated with the Promotion Committee and is being administered by the Tournament Committee, includes awards for high scores achieved in the BPAA National Tournaments as well as in those events which are conducted by affiliated local, district and state proprietors' associations across the country.

The awards will be offered at no cost to all proprietors' association tournaments. Tournaments which will offer these awards will display the BPAA Approved Tournament seal on their entry forms and posters.

The rich awards will be for both men and women, with exclusive jewelry and trophy designs in 46 different styles included in the array.

Awards for men will be for 300, 299 and 298 games, and for three-game series of 800 or better and will be in the form of diamond rings, wrist watches, lapel pins, tie pins, tie bars, belt-and-buckle sets, money clips and trophies. Bowlers will have their choice of the items in each award category and they also will receive attractive arm patches.

For the women the BPAA has designed awards for 300, 299, 298 and 275-or-over games and for three-game series of 700 or better. The bowlerettes will have their choice of diamond rings, bracelets, lapel pins, wrist watches and trophies and they, too, will also receive arm patches as part of the award.

Late Picks Arrive For Blue-Gray Game

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Two hurry-up additions to the Blue-Gray rosters were expected to arrive in time for practice today, just three days before the 23rd annual all-star football game.

Officials announced signing of end Tom Smith of Florida for the South and halfback Mike McClellan of Oklahoma for the North.

Drake Quintet Is Favored In Queen City Cage Tourney

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Drake University's towering basketball team was rated a slight favorite to sweep the honors in the eighth annnual Queen City Tournament which gets under way here Thursday.

The fast-breaking Bulldogs from Des Moines will get things going in the opener against St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium. The second game pits host Canisius against once-beaten Cornell University.

The consolation and final rounds will be played Saturday.

Drake, the defending tournament champion, sends three men averaging six-foot-eight into the forecourt. The tallest is center Larry Prins at 6-10. Then comes forwards Ray Quinn at 6-8, and Marv Torrence at 6-6.

It was the first unit's "Little Man" Bill Hahn who sent a jump shot from the corner at the buzzer to give the Bulldogs a 79-77 title victory over Canisius. Hahn is an even six.

Cornell's shuffling offense is dealt its first setback in seven games Tuesday night as the Bradley Braves piled up an 85-59 victory at Peoria. Canisius has lost once in four games, while Drake and St. Joseph's have a 4- 2record.

The Big Red offense is keyed on the screening pivotman whose return passing is intended to produce more frequent closein shots. Canisius also uses a patterned offense, designed to get the ball inside to Bill O'Connor, a slick-shooting junior with a 25.5 average.

Both Drake and the Hawks from Philadelphia rely on error-provoking defenses in an effort to ignite fast-break situations.

Canisius, three-time winner and twice runner-up in the mid-season tournament, may be hard-pressed to make its sixth appearance in the finals.

Home Ice Best For Quebec Aces

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Home is sweet for the Quebec Aces, who consider the road something else again.

Still winless away from Quebec, the Aces ran thei rwinning streak to five and their overall mark on home ice to 13-6 Tuesday night, beating Pittsburgh 4-2 in the American Hockey League's only game.

Once again it was the two Michels —Harvey and Labadie — who led the way for the Aces. Michel Harvey, who has scored seven goals in his last four home games to jump into the league's top ten scorers, and wing mate Michel Labadie each scored a goal to go with singles by Frank Martin and Jean-Marie Cossette.

The Aces took a 3-1 lead in the first period and stayed in command, although both teams skated hard throughout and the goalies were pressed. Quebec's Charley Hodge made 26 saves and Gerry McNamara made 22 for the Hornets.

The loss was the 23rd against only five victories and a tie for Pittsburgh, buried in the AHL's Western Division cellar. Quebec, last in the Eastern Division, climbed to within six points of third place Providence.

Offensive Line Is What Makes Packers Click

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—What makes the Green Bay Packers run?

Manning the three prime posts for the Packers are all-pro center Jim Ringo and guards Fred Thurston and Forrest Gregg.

They anchored the line that helped the Packers to their second straight Western Division crown and into Sunday's National Football League clash here with the New York Giants.

At the Green Bay-New York meeting in Milwaukee on Dec. 3 the Packers took a 20-17 victory and clinched their division title. The Packers rolled up 16 first downs on the ground to 4 for New York. They gained 270 yards rushing to 69 for the Giants. The Packers added 145 yards passing for a total gain of 415 yards. New York passed for 210 yards and a total of 279.

Ringo is the best center in the league, Austin said, because "he's quick and smart."

Thurston, at 250 pounds, has amazing speed for a big man. Gregg, a 240-pounder, is an all-pro tackle, but shifted to the guard spot when Jerry Kramer was lost for the season with an ankle injury.

Playing the tackles are Norm Masters and Bob Skoronski, a pair of 250-pounders.

Against the Giants, the Packer line time and time again cleared wide routes for fullback Jim Taylor. He responded with his greatest game, running for 186 yards in 28 carries.

Coaches Predict Rugged Football In Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Rose Bowl game, patriarch of all post-season bowl games, promises to be a display of "stone age football," in its 48th renewal on New Year's Day.

This was, more or less, the admission Tuesday of the two coaches embroiled in the Pasadena classic, Murray Warmath of favored Minnesota and Bill Barnes of UCLA.

Appearing at the dedication of the new $356,000 Rose Bowl press box, those two proteges of the University of Tennesseee's famed football purist, Gen. Bob Neyland, predicted a slam-bang game free of gridiron chicanery.

There may have been more truth than tongue-in-cheek when Barnes told more than 100 football experts of varying pedigrees:

"We don't have any secrets but I know that this will be a tremendous football game. We hope our stone age football pays off. . ."

Warmath said his Gophers have tried a few new "little knicknacks," but added: "What we have been doing all season got us here and that's what we hope will sustain us next Monday."

40-0 Prediction Stir Folks in Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —A "forty-to-nothing by halftime" prediction has given the underdog Colorado football team unexpected ammunition to use against Louisiana State.

Coach Paul Dietzel, who brought his fourth-ranked LSU Tigers to town Tuesday, winced at the psychological warfare weapon Colorado has found in preparations for Monday's Orange Bowl game.

A New Orleans newspaper was quoted here as saying "Louisiana State will not embarrass the Orange Bowl Committee by winning by more than 40 points." It continued by saying the early kickoff would permit television viewers (ABC-TV) to see LSU run up a 40-0 halftime count before they switched to other games.

Dietzel battled to maintain his poise and choke back the words on the "40-0 story."

"I don't think we have any advantages in the build-up to this game," he said later. Dietzel referred unhappily to the fact LSU was favored. "Colorado has all the advantages going for it," he added.

Nicklaus Turns Pro in LA Golf

LOS ANGELES (AP)—National amateur golf champion Jackie Nicklaus is turning pro to play in the $50,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Nicklaus, an Ohio State University student, is known for his distance driving. He won the U.S. amateur twice.

Also turning pro for the Los Angeles tourney is Duff Lawrence, California Open champion.

Brown, Moore Are Rated Tops Among Boxers

NEW YORK (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown and featherweight king Davey Moore were awarded the top honors today in Ring Magazine's copyrighted rankings of 1961.

Brown, the 35-year-old clouter from Baton Rouge, La., and the 28-year-old Moore of Columbus, Ohio, were the only champions placed alone in the category in their respective divisions.

Light heavyweights Archie Moore, recognized by New York, Massachusetts and Europe as champion of the 175-pounders, was placed second behind Harold Johnson, of Philadelphia, hailed as king by the National Boxing Association.

Gene Fullmer, the NBA-recognized middleweight champion from West Jordan, Utah, was placed on top of the 160-pounders with Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., second and Terry Downes of England, third.

Emile Griffith of New York, who won and then lost in welterweight title fights with Benny (Kid) Paret of Cuba, was rated first ahead of the reigning champion, Paret, in the 147-pound class.

Vintage Coaches In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The football fortunes of Alabama and Arkansas were rather dismal in 1958 when both schools hired new coaches.

Paul (Bear) Bryant returned to Alabama—his alma mater—after becoming almost a legend as coach at Maryland, Kentucky, and then Texas A&M.

Alabama makes its third bowl appearance under Bryant in the 1962 Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The Tide is a predominant favorite for its first post-season victory under the Bear, after one defeat and a tie.

In 1958, Broyles came to Arkansas after making his debut the previous year as head coach of Missouri.

Under Broyles, Arkansas has a 29-13 record. Three successive bowl appearances represent a new high at Arkansas.

Schayes Streak To End at 705

BOSTON (AP) —Veteran Dolph Schayes' great iron man performance will come to an end tonight when the Syracuse Nats meet the Los Angeles Lakers in a National Basketball Association twinbill at Philadelphia.

For Schayes will be in a hospital bed here—his right cheek bone shattered—as the players tap off in the city of brotherly love.

The 33-year-old Schayes, highest scorer in NBA history, was injured Tuesday night in a collision with Al Attles of the Warriors in the first game of a twinbill won by Philadelphia, 118-111.

The fancy Boston Celtics finally overcame the Lakers in the nightcap of the doubleheader here, 127 112.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It was a year of trial and tragedy for Hollywood.

Trouble came in big doses in 1961. Economics were grinding at the movie industry. There was much cry that films were becoming immoral. More of the greats were taken by death.

But show people are incurable optimists. At year's end they managed to find hope for the film business, which still could look lively when it was supposed to roll over and die.

10 Hollywood Stories

1. Gary Cooper dies. Even though his death was expected after a wasting illness, it was front-page news all over the world. Hollywood never quite realized his greatness until he was gone.

2. Liz Taylor wins Oscar. She had previously captured headlines when she declined a rendezvous with death in a London hospital. Her tottering walk to collect her Oscar for "Butterfield 8" was one of the great moments of Motion Picture Academy history.

3. The fire. Hollywood found itself caught up in real-life drama when a brush fire swept the hills of Bel-Air and Brentwood.

4. Jeff Chandler dies. His death after surgery was a shock, since he was believed to be suffering a minor ailment. It is a story that is not yet concluded.

John Clark Gable Born

5. John Clark Gable born. This news was a joyous aftermath to the loss last year of Hollywood's king.

6. The runaways. This was a continuing story that focussed light on Hollywood's new economics. A congressional hearing found no solution for the increasing move of filming to foreign lands.

7. Dinah Shore and George Montgomery part. This was the shocker amid the usual crop of filmland divorces. There was no preparation for the news of their impending divorce.

8. Morality. Another year-long story concerning Hollywood's attempt to match the outspokeness of European films.

9. Marilyn Monroe sheds Arthur Miller. Double-M showed no loss of her knack for making news during 1961, her illnesses and dates with Frank Sinatra adding to the total.

10. Lucille Ball remarries. Comedian Gary Morton annnounced "I love Lucy" and they tied the knot in New York.

The earliest child's toy may have been a miniature version of the caveman's club.

Father Time's scythe — and bulldozers — are headed our way in '62. This New Year's Eve is an especially sentimental one for us, shared, we know, by thousands in the Hudson Valley area who have patronized The Barn for the past 28 years. To make it a memorable and nostalgic New Year's Eve, we will present BOB STEUDING'S QUARTET for your dancing pleasure from 9 p. m. until (?). We have an all-night license. There will be hats, noisemakers and the traditional revelry as we ring in the new and ring out the old.

Icy Air Still Grips North Florida Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fresh surge of icy air spread across snow-covered regions in the northern Midwest today and freezing weather hit areas in northern Florida for the third straight morning.

Temperatures moderated in southern Florida after two days of unseasonable cold, with the mercury dropping to below freezing south of Miami Tuesday. It was 60 in Miami early today compared to Tuesday's low of 42, a record for the date, and 65 in Key West.

In Tallahassee, the state capital, it was below freezing, 31 degress, but warmer than Tuesday morning's chilly 20 degrees, the official low in the state. Temperatures were in the 30s in much of northern Florida but forecasters predicted readings would range from 65 to 70 today, with 70 to 75 in southern sections.

The cold weather in Florida caused some damage to unprotected young citrus fruit and to vegetables in the north central part of the state.

The frigid air in the northern Midwest, fanned by strong northwesterly winds, extended from the extreme northern Plains to western Lake Superior. It headed east and southward into other parts of the midwest, the lower Ohio Valley and upper Great Lakes region. It was -9 in International Falls, Minn., and -6 in Minneapolis with sub-zero readings in the Dakotas.

Readings were in the teens from the Rockies and other sections of the northern Plains into the western upper Great Lakes region.

It also was cold in sections of the east, with temperatures in the 20s in the northern Atlantic Coast states.

Normal Temperatures Due Through Jan. 1

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau for the period from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Monday:

Eastern New York — Temperatures will average near normal. Turning colder at the beginning with no major day-to-day changes thereafter. Precipitation mostly as light snow or flurries tonight into Thursday and again over the weekend.

Western New York — Temperatures will average one to three degrees above normal. Colder Thursday and Friday then warmer over the weekend. Precipitation will average one half to one inch as occasional periods of snow or snow flurries during the period.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 28-34; nighttime lows 8-18 generally except 16-24 near the lower Great Lakes.

Barclay Heights Fire Burns Out Family of Five

A Barclay Heights family of five was made homeless by fire Tuesday night which heavily damaged their home in Garden Circle. Firemen from Ulster, Malden-West Camp and Saugerties assisted the Glasco Vols in battling the flames.

The blaze, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, is believed by fire officials to have started in the family car, parked in a carport adjoining the home. The flames, according to Chief Charles J. Cafaldo of Glasco, had gained great headway when discovered. They completely destroyed the automobile, and the carport and then spread up the kitchen side of the Anderson home and into the attic.

Will Take Time to Repair

Chief Robert Desmond of Saugerties said firemen removed all the furniture from the home and as a result water damage was held to a minimum. He was unable to give an estimate of the damage but said the house, a one-story building, was so badly damaged it will take some time to make it fit for occupancy again.

The Andersons and their three children, all of grade school age, had plenty of time to escape to safety.

Anderson is employed as a custodian by the Saugerties Central Schools system and Mrs. Anderson is a teacher at the Glasco School.

The Vols, who answered a bell alarm at 7:30 p. m., fought the flames more than one hour before recall was sounded.

Ministry Career To Be Topic at Bible Conclave

Saturday evening, Jan. 6 delegates at a Bible conference to be held here by Jehovah's Witnesses will be encouraged to consider, The Ministry as a Career, as Douglas Cowan speaks on this subject.

Mr. Cowan is a familiar figure to the 80 delegates representing the local congregation of Witnesses. He has been a resident of Kingston for 15 years and graduated from the Kingston High School.

Mr. Cowan has pursued the full time ministry for two and a half years. However, as all ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses are volunteer Bible educators and receive no pay for their ministry, he supports himself with the position of handyman for the Clinton Avenue Nursing Home here in Kingston.

Following the three days of conference, Mr. Cowan will continue giving free instruction in the Bible to many families both in Kingston and Saugerties.

Farm Income About Same 1st 11 Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that farmers' receipts for their products during the first 11 months of this year were about 2.5 per cent above the like period last year.

Total cash receipts were about $31,275,000,000, compared with $30.5 billion in the like period last year.

The report said a continued rise in consumer buying power this year is helping to support demand for farm products.

But of perhaps even greater importance in determining farm income, the report said, has been greater stability in prices of goods, services and machinery bought by farmers.

Executive Order Unlikely

Doubt JFK to Act On Housing Bias

GEN. J. B. MEDARIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to lay aside an executive order that would prohibit racial discrimination in federally aided housing.

But, officials said Tuesday, he will speed up action on creation of a Cabinet-level department of urban affairs and housing, probably by taking a short cut—establishing the department under his own reorganization powers.

If this were done, congressignal opponents of the new department would have to muster enough support to veto the plan within 60 days of its announcement by the President.

It has been widely predicted that Robert C. Weaver, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, would be named secretary of the department and become the first Negro to attain Cabinet rank.

But officials said privately this apparently is as far as the Kennedy administration will go in the field of racial equality in housing until Congress adjourns next summer.

On the advice of administration leaders in Congress and some other political advisers, it was reported, Kennedy is deferring a long-considered executive order barring racial or religious discrimination in any housing built with federal help in the form of loan, loan guarantee or mortgage insurance.

Officials earlier predicted freely the order would be forthcoming before Congress reconvened Jan. 10. Kennedy promised such an order in his presidential election campaign.

Kennedy is expected to support civil rights bills pending in both houses to prohibit racial discrimination in employment, speed up integration of schools and outlaw poll taxes in federal elections.

Bomb Shelters Are Urged for World Newlyweds

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Anthropologist Margaret Mead urges bomb proof shelters for the world's newlyweds—to assure continuance of the human race in the event of nuclear war.

Dr. Mead, of the American Museum of Natural History, offered the suggestion in a talk to the 128th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science Tuesday.

"Let the United States propose," she suggested, "that the United Nations be asked to debate the feasibility of an internationally financed shelter system in which a cross-section of the most productive and highly motivated members of every country on every continent could be saved.

"Let us propose a program in which each country is assisted to build a blast-proof shelter sufficient to accommodate all of the people married in that country during a two week period (and that) during the first six months after marriage (they) spend two weeks in the shelter."

Addressing a special symposium on "Problems of Survival," Dr. Mead said such a shelter system for newyweds would enable the survival of a group that "would be the most highly motivated to try to continue their lives together and to reproduce themselves."

Son Identifies Woman in Snow, Still Critical

NEW YORK (AP)—A son has identified the woman found bruised and almost frozen to death in a snowbank on an East Riverfront parking lot on Christmas Day.

She is Mrs. Mary Saouter, 55, a widow, of Manhattan.

She was identified Tuesday night by Joseph Saouter, 20, a student at New York City Community College.

What happened to the woman is still a mystery. She is on the critical lisf at Bellevue Hospital, has only occasional moments of consciousness and cannot be questioned.

The son could tell police only that she spent Christmas Eve visiting friends in Manhattan.

He went to the police missing persons bureau Tuesday night and was sent to Bellevue Hospital to look at the previously unidentified woman.

Mrs. Saouter's face was discolored as though she had been slapped repeatedly.

Vientiane Talks Are Underway for Coalition Regime

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)— Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong arrived in Vientiane to talk with rightist Prince Boun Oum about formation of a coalition government.

Predictions of the outcome of the latest round of negotiations ranged from cautious hope to, "It will take a miracle to get a government formed."

Souvanna Phouma, whom the three politician princes agreed will head the new government, spoke briefly at the airport in a conciliatory tone.

It was Souvanna Phouma's first visit to Vientiane since Dec. 9, 1960, when his government abandoned the capital to the advancing forces of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, now the deputy premier in Boun Oum's government. Souphanouvong and his top lieutenants escaped from a Vientiane prison in the spring of 1960.

Boy, 15, Admits Holdup Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—A 15-year-old boy has admitted the holdup slaying of a Brooklyn hardware store proprietor on Christmas Day, police report.

Police lodged a homicide charge Tuesday night against the boy, Stanley James of Brooklyn, a ninth-grade student with two previous arrests for juvenile delinquency.

The victim was Armin Braun, 50, a German refugee who survived a Nazi concentration camp. He was stabbed to death with a bayonet in his store.

The holdup attempt failed. It cost the killer $1, which he paid for a padlock in a ruse intended to get Braun to open the cash register.

Braun, however, made change from his pockets. Police said the boy made a grab for the money in Braun's pocket, and when Braun resisted the boy stabbed him.

The boy attempted the robbery to get money for the movies.

Braun is survived by his wife and four children.

James is a Negro.

Trade Proposals Ticketed First for Congress

Counter Offensive Plan Would Suffer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress may tackle President Kennedy's proposal for a new trade program as its first major piece of business in 1962, if the strategy under consideration by administration leaders is adopted.

The idea would be to give opponents as little time as possible to mount a counter offensive to the administration's intense campaign for a broadened trade act—a campaign that has been under way since Congress adjourned in September.

Many Push Theme

The theme that the United States must promptly come to an agreement with the booming European Common Market or risk being squeezed out of vital export markets has been hammered by high officials in speech after speech during the recess.

A joint economic subcommittee headed by international trade-minded Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., has provided a forum for additional arguments in favor of increasing the President's tariff-cutting powers.

The stiffest opposition to an expanded reciprocal trade program comes from Congress members scattered across the country and in both parties but united in having industries at home that consider themselves particularly vulnerable to foreign competition.

May Sidetrack One

It was learned today that the House Ways and Means Committee, which has charge of this and other major administration proposals, may be asked to sidetrack one of the others in order to rush a reciprocal trade bill to the floor.

Even under forced draft, several weeks would be required to conduct hearings and shape a measure that would stand a chance of House passage. The key consideration likely would be proposals for help to vulnerable industries to diversify or otherwise adjust themselves to increased competition. Kennedy is expected to make detailed recommendations soon after Congress reconvenes Jan. 10.

Administration strategists say they have the votes in the powerful 25-man committee to approve legislation substantially in accord with Kennedy's ideas. Some Republican members are known to favor broadened reciprocal trade arrangements and will likely concentrate on obtaining what they consider favorable domestic industry relief provisions.

GOP Councilmen Vote Him Leader

The Republican members of the 1962 Common Council last night selected Alderman Joseph F. Carroll Jr., as minority leader. The voting took place during a Republican caucus attended by the aldermen-elect at last night's Common Council meeting.

Starting his second term as alderman from the 11th ward with the next session, Carroll has been an active and articulate member of the minority during his two years in the Council. He has been a member of the Laws and Rules Committee, the Building and Supply Committee, the Urban Renewal Committee, and was appointed chairman of a special committee to study the possibility of Permanent Personal Registration.

Popular With Voters

A conscientious representative of the people of the 11th ward, he attended all meetings of the Council, and increased his majority from 60 to 200 votes during the last election.

Active in community affairs, he has been city chairman and county co-chairman for Muscular Dystrophy, and is a member of the American Legion and the St. Joseph's Holy Name Society. He is employed by Bull Markets, Inc.

Invasion Of Kuwait Is Feared

Carrier Leading Warship Armada

LONDON (AP)—British officials today disclosed an armada is hurrying toward the Persian Gulf oil sheikhdom of Kuwait to meet a suspected Iraqi military threat.

The admiralty said that at least six warships, led by the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Centaur, have sailed from the East African base of Mombasa for an unannounced destination.

Other Moves Underway

Other officials reported that the ships—which include two frigates, a tank landing ship and two big fleet auxiliaries—are heading for the Kuwait area.

They added several other precautionary British fleet moves are under way but are secret.

Over the Christmas weekend, intelligence and diplomatic reports from the region indicated to the British government that Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassim has been massing troops, possibly as the prelude to an invasion to achieve the annexation of Kuwait he threatened last summer.

Troops Standing By

The Defense Ministry announced Tuesday that 300 troops, most of them transport aircraft crewmen, had been put on the alert, and troops were reported standing by to be flown from Nairobi, Kenya, if needed.

Britain forestalled an Iraqi invasion last July by landing troops in Kuwait at the request of Sheik Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah after Kassim renewed his country's claim to the little neighboring territory.

Britain is bound by treaty to protect the sheikdom on the northern end of the Persian Gulf. Kuwait was a British protectorate until last June. British forces withdrew from Kuwait in September after Arab League countries, despite Iraq's objections, sent 2,000 troops to Kuwait to protect it.

Not Considered Imminent

The British announcement asserted that "during the past 24 hours our forecast that the Christmas period might be used to increase tension has been partially confirmed as far as the Middle East is concerned.

"Although oprations are not thought to be imminent, certain small-scale precautionary meaures have again had to be taken."

Two Eye State House Posts

Ribicoff Would Accept Senate Draft by Conn.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff says he would accept a draft to run for the U.S. Senate from Connecticut next year.

Ribicoff, one of President Kennedy's earliest political supporters, said Tuesday night that a story in the Hartford Courant saying he might accept the draft for the Democratic nomination was "basically correct."

Stratton, Alford Ready

His statement followed the declarations of two Democratic congressmen that they will seek the governorships of their states in 1962.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, a two-term Democrat from Schenectady who has fared well politically in a Republican area, announced he will seek the governorship of New York.

Rep. Dale Alford, elected to Congress in the aftermath of school integration troubles in his home town of Little Rock, declared he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor of Arkansas.

Would Oppose Bush

Ribicoff has been rumored as a possible opponent for Sen. Prescott Bush, a Republican who has said he will seek reelection.

Ribicoff told a newsman he would not seek the nomination at the state Democratic convention next June. But he confirmed the report in the Courant that he would accept a draft.

Stratton has received scattered support from upper New York State Democratic organizations. However, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City is expected to play a major role in selecting the party's nominee and may even decide to make the race himself.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, mentioned as a possible Republican presidential nominee in 1964, has said he will seek another four-year term as governor.

Clears Some Smoke

Alford's announcement cleared some smoke from Arkansas' political scene.

Three-way jockeying for two jobs has been anticipated. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, already has announced his candidacy for another six-year term. Alford, a doctor, previously said he would seek the governorship if Gov. Orval E. Faubus challenged Fulbright in the Democratic primary.

Faubus still hasn't announced his plans. He said Alford's announcement will have no bearing on them. Faubus is serving his fourth two-year term as governor.

Ryan Appointed To Planning Job, Quits Ward Post

Appointment of Alderman James K. Ryan (D-10th Ward) to the Kingston Planning Board and resignation of Ryan as alderman, were announced today by Mayor Edwin F. Radel, who said he had requested the alderman to accept the appointment.

Ryan's resignation becomes effective immediately, and the mayor appointed Alderman-elect Donald Quick to fill out Ryan's last few days of his term.

Ryan will serve the unexpired term of Edwin Davey, who resigned. The term expires Feb. 5, 1964.

Calls Him Qualified

The mayor said that Ryan told him after Tuesday night's Common Council meeting that he was interested in continuing in governmental work and he felt his knowledge of the planning and urban renewal programs, would qualify him as a member of the Planning Board.

Ryan was alderman of the 10th

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Reported Gravely Ill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is gravely ill with a respiratory infection and complications, her physician says.

The doctor reported Tuesday night that the 89-year-old widow of the former president, has been ill for three weeks. He said her condition grew worse several days ago but now is slightly improved.

Mrs. Wilson is at her Washington home where she and the president moved after he left the White House in 1921.

Pay Hike Refused For Mitchell by NewburghCouncil

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—The Newburgh City Council has refused by a 2-2 vote to give City Manager Joseph Mitchell a $2,900 annual salary increase.

It also voted to cancel the $1,500 a year compensation now received by each council member and turned down proposed salary increases totaling $3,000 for two other city officials.

Mitchell, whose welfare policies have made him a center of national controversy, presently earns $14,100 a year.

He told the City Council Tuesday that he had not requested the raises and that he was not supporting them. He said, however, that the planned city budget would not be disrupted by the salary boosts.

Davis Votes With GOP

Council Ballot Leaves Parking Up to Schwenk

Solution of the city's off-street parking problems was left with the administration of Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk by Common Council action Tuesday night.

The aldermen voted against a $290,000 project which had been planned for some time for the uptown area. A 9-4 vote was required to approve the necessary bond issue, but with Alderman William G. Davis (D-L) 13th Ward opposing, the normal 9-4 council majority vote was lacking.

No Specific Plan

Legislation, as presented, gave no specific description of the area to be involved, other than to indicate that an ingress and egress system would be provided on the north side of North Front Street between Fair and Converse streets, in accordance with plans by Brinnier & Larios.

Alderman Davis, in opposing the project, said he had been in the council for four years, and the plan, as proposed, appeared to him a last-minute solution of the uptown parking problem. He also felt that the last election was an indication of some dissatisfaction and thought opportunity should be provided for the mayor-elect, in his two years, to present his views and plans.

Thinks of Taxpayers

Alderman Joseph F. Carroll of the 11th ward, in expressing the minority opinion, said he felt it would be unwise to commit the incoming administration to additional financial problems through the passage of a bond issue, in view of the $110,000 deficit shown in the 1962 budget of the present administration. He further pointed out that there were only six days remaining until the new administration takes office, and that Mayor-elect John Schwenk had indicated that he had an off-street parking program prepared for 800 cars in the uptown and central business district, 250 of

Public Hearing Set Tonight on Kingston Budget

Estimates for the City of Kingston 1962 budget as prepared by Mayor Edwin F. Radel, will be officially submitted and discussed at a public hearing to be held tonight at 7 o'clock in the Common Council Chambers, City Hall, as provided by Section 122 of the City charter.

The budget, fixing a city tax rate of $63.38 per $1,000 assessed valuation, Mayor Radel said is based on $2,555,664.75 to be raised by taxation. The new rate is $3.28 above the $60.10 fixed for this year.

Mayor-elect John J. Schwenk, who will take office on Jan. 1, 1962, told The Freeman on Saturday he had not seen the budget and didn't have a copy of it. He stated he is inclined to believe he will not attend the public hearing, but will study the

Vandermuelin, Former State Justice, Dies

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—George Vandermuelen, retired State Supreme Court justice, died in a hospital early today. He was 74.

Vandermuelen was appointed to the court in January 1947 by former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, and was returned to office in the general election in November of that year.

He reached the mandatory retirement age of 70 in 1957 and had been serving as official referee for the Fourth Division of the Supreme Court's Appellate Division until his death.

Two Are Retiring From Ulster Sheriff's Staff

They are Mrs. Mabel A. O'Reilly, who has been associated with the sheriff's office as matron since April 1, 1944, and Wesley A. O'Brien, who had served since 1949 as head jailor. O'Brien's service in the sheriff's office dates back to 1930 with a break during World War II when he served as a guard for the New York Central Railroad on the West Shore bridge over Rondout Creek at Wilbur.

Mrs. O'Reilly became matron at the Ulster County jail on April 1, 1944, when her husband, the late Frank O'Reilly, became night jailor, and she would have completed 18 years of service as jail matron on April 1, 1962.

Her husband, the late Frank O'Reilly, for many years associated with his father in the blacksmithing business on lower Broadway, was named jailor by the late Sheriff Abram F. Molyneaux. Mr. O'Reilly had served the Eighth ward as supervisor for two terms from 1928 to 1931.

Mrs. O'Reilly plans to make her home on John Street in Kingston. During her term as matron she has occupied the residence quarters in the county court house.

Wesley A. O'Brien is retiring due to ill health, aggravated by an attack by an inmate during an attempted jail break several years ago. A veteran of World War I, Mr. O'Brien served with

Stratton Says He'll Fight for Top State Job; Just Pitch Man: Morhouse

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Schenectady, now a declared candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, will wage an intensive, grass-roots campaign designed to establish himself as the choice of the party's rank-and-file.

The man who now holds the job of governor, Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller, plans an equally vigorous campaign to keep it and opened today a series of high-level meetings to chart election-year strategy.

Stratton is a 45-year-old former teevision news commentator, college lecturer and Schenectady city councilman. He was first elected to congress in 1958 from a district that ordinarily voted 3-1 Republican. He was re-elected last year by an increased margin.

Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse asserted that Stratton was 'not a serious candidate for governor....he is being used by Bobby (U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert) Kennnedy and Democratic National Chairman) John Bailey as a hatchet man against Governor Rockefeller..Stratton is a slick, glib political pitch man... a nimble demagogue who double-talks...a hawker of half-truths...."

REP. S. S. STRATTON

Stratton said at his news conference Tuesday that Rockefeller had failed as governor and had been 'preoccupied with interests and concerns outside the borders of the state...".

Stratton, divorced and remarried, disposed quickly and crisply of questions regarding the potential political effect of Rockefellers impending divorce.

Divorce is a personal matter, Stratton said.

Stratton and Rockefeller, 53, are alike in many ways, particularly in their campaign techniques of the friendly grin and "folkey" approach to voters.

Stratton has support from Democratic organizations or leaders in 13 upstate counties, which, he says, will have 100 votes in the 1962 state convention. Approximately 500 votes will be needed for nomination.

Stratton said he would campaign throughout all 62 counties of the state.

In so doing, he apparently would be trying to build enough strength to force party leaders to recognize him, despite his present lack of significant, organizational strength.

The congressman has announced that he also is a candi-

Food Firm Has Signed to Omit False Advertising

NEW YORK (AP)—The Below Zero Food Service Corp., of Herkimer, N.Y., has signed an agreement promising to "cease and desist" from making allegedly false statements in newspaper advertisements concerning its food freezer plan, State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said today.

Lefkowitz said an investigation by his office showed that the company's advertisements contained statements such as "not just meat but all foods," "free life insurance," and "dependable statewide service."

Lefkowitz said the agreement provides that the company will no longer represent that it supplies all foods, life insurance and specific services unless it actually does so.

Lefkowitz said the company also has agreed that if it violates any part of the agreement the attorney general may bring an action without further notice for a permanent injunction restraining continuance of the allegedly fraudulent practices.

The company has signed a code of ethics which the attorney general has promulgated.

Schmitt has been an advocate of legal betting both on and off the tracks for a number of years.

Education Assn. Convention Starts In Penn Today

HARRISBURG (AP)—The 109th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association gets under way in Harrisburg today with compulsory school district reorganization expected to draw most of the attention.

More than 2,000 educators from across Pennsylvania began streaming into the state's capital city Tuesday for the start of the three-day session.

The PSEA represents some 80,000 teachers and school administrators.

Although many subjects were to be put before the group, it was a foregone conclusion compulsory reorganization—a product of the 1961 legislature—would be one of the prime topics.

The delegates will formally present their views at a general session Thursday afternoon when resolutions are considered.

Five Youngsters Suffering Shock

WARREN, Pa. (AP)— Five young sisters, injured in a Christmas Eve highway crash that killed their parents and two other adults, are stilll suffering from shock.

This was the word Tuesday from an official of Warren General Hospital where the girls are confined.

He said the Campman sisters—Judy, 15; Rita, 13; Sandra, 11; Mona, 10; and Janet, 3—are listed in satisfactory condition, although the full extent of their injuries has not been determined.

Physicians, the spokesman said, are quite concerned about the condition of Janet, who has multiple chest injuries.

The collision of the Campman's station wagon and a car occurred Sunday on U. S. 6 about seven miles west of Warren, killing the girls' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Campman of Falconer, R. D. 1, N. Y., and a man and woman in the auto.

The girls learned of their mother and father's deaths on Christmas Day.

Two unidentified physicians brought the sisters gifts that had been purchased for their own children.

Funeral services for the Campmans will be held in Warren Friday, and burial will be at Tylersburg, Pa.

The hospital spokesman said that most likely none of the Campman children will be able to attend the services.

Statutes of Limitations Vary on Unpaid Bills

BY FAYE HENLE

Q—Is there any legal time beyond which I cannot hope to collect on bills owed me by patients?—Dr. J. M.

Dear Dr. J. M.: Statues of limitations vary by state, ranging from 3 to 8 years for oral agreements and 5 to 20 years for written agreements.

Determine what statute of limitations rules in your state and feel free to press for payment during the period.

You can also extend the legal time limit by getting written confirmation that your patient will pay up, since the legal period will begin upon the date he repledges payment. In some states when a patient leaves the state, later to return, years away do not count under the state's statuory limitation period.

Q—Which is the best way to write a will to insure members of the family get an equal share without too much federal taxes? —M. W.

A—Dear M. W.: There is only one way of reducing the federal estate tax: reduce the size of the estate before death. You can do this by making gifts. Under the law you are permitted to make a once-in-a-lifetime gift of $30,000, or $60,000 if you are married, and your spouse agrees.

You can also make as many annual gifts of $3,000, or $6,000 jointly as you desire, without having to pay gift taxes. Willing precious items such as paintings to an institution removes them from the estate tax.

Estate taxes can also be avoided by setting up an irrevocable trust. If you give away principal plus income during your life-time this money would not form part of your estate and thus would not be taxable.

Q—I understand that there is a deadline on filing for Social Security disability protection for those with longstanding disabilities. When is the deadline? —N. Z.

A—Dear N. Z.: The 1961 amendments give a worker with long-standing disabilities until June 30, 1962 to apply for benefits under the Social Security disability provisions, one year longer than under the old law.

Mother, 2 Sons Perish in Blaze

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—A fire in a basement storage bin killed a mother and her two young sons Tuesday night.

Mrs. Marjorie Stirling, 36, was killed when she vainly tried to rescue her son, Glenn, 2, from the burning bin. The other son, Cameron, 5, was found dead near the front door on the ground floor of the home.

A fire official said he believed both boys were in the basement when the fire began. The bin held clothing and also may have contained combustible material, police said.

Firemen kept the flames from spreading to the rest of the house.

Indict Teamster In Money Change, 2 Others Named

NEW YORK (AP)—Milton Holt, Teamsters Union official, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of accepting $92,000 from two officials of vending machine corporations of Westbury, N.Y.

The six-count indictment Tuesday also named the two officials and the three corporations in which they had an interest.

Holt, of Flushing, Queens, is secretary-treasurer of Local 805 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The indictment said he accepted the $92,000 in three payments between 1957 and 1959 from Harold Roth, 42, of Hewlett Park, president of the three corporations, and Herbert S. Sternberg, 44, of Syossset, a former executive in each corporation.

Roth, who said he also was speaking for Sternberg, denied the charges.

Only one of the three corporations still is in existence—the Continental Vending Machine Corp. of Westbury.

This corporation was merged in 1958 into National Vending Corp., which in turn was merged the same year into Continental Industries Inc.—the other corporations involved.

The defendants will plead to the indictment in Federal Court on Jan. 4.

License Suspended

NEW YORK — Secretary of State Caroline K. Simon has suspended for 60 days the real estate broker's license of Leon R. Edelstein of 75 Belmont Avenue, West Babylon. It was established after hearings that Edelstein had acted improperly in serving as a broker for parties selling a piece of property when he was president of the holding company that purchased the property. Following hearings before A. S. Wechsler, director of licenses of the Department of State, at the New York City office of the Department, 270 Broadway, it was determined that Edelstein's holding company, Homeland Holding Corp., had purchased the property for $30,000 and simultaneously had re-sold the property to the Suffolk County Water Authority for $31,500. It was found Edelstein had also collected commission for representing the original sellers.

Slayer Is Hunted In Fire Death of Retired Minister

BROOKLYN, Mich. (AP) — A slayer was hunted today in the death of a retired Methodist minister who was beaten with a hammer, bound with rope and then set afire in a room of his farm home.

The body of the Rev. Roy R. Decker, 70, of Tecumseh, Mich., was found beneath a smoldering blanket by firemen Tuesday. His hands were tied behind his back.

State police said the death "definitely was murder." They said they were looking for a suspect who fled in the minister's car.

The body was found in a bedroom of the two-story, frame farm home owned by the Rev. Mr. Decker. A ball-peen hammer was found near the charred body.

State Police Lt. Joseph Liebherr said that the minister was knocked unconscious with the hammer, bound and then doused with gasoline or kerosene and set afire.

The minister and his family moved to the farm home near Brooklyn about a year and a half ago, following his retirement as minister of Grace Methodist church in Meadville, Pa.

Publishing Co. Buys Newspaper At Kenosha, Wis.

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — The Kenosha News Publishing Corp., whose principal stockholder is Howard J. Brown of Middletown, N.Y., has purchased controlling interest in the 68-year-old Kenosha Evening news.

Terms of the sale Tuesday were not disclosed.

Brown will move here to assume the post of associate publisher and executive vice president of the publishing company.

Ralph S. Kingsley, editor and publisher of the Kenosha Evening News, said he will remain as publisher and will be president and director of the publishing company.

Brown, 38, most recently has been associated with Ottaway Newspapers - Radio Inc., which publishes the Middletown Times-Herald Record. A onetime Chicago Sun-Times foreign correspondent, he formerly was also on th staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer and was one-time general manager of the Times-Herald at Middletown.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 27, 1961

U.N. MONEY CRISIS

United Nations Secretary General U Thant set some disturbing figures before the world when he warned of the international organization's growing financial crisis. These figures showed how the unpaid obligations of U.N. members have steadily risen since 1956 while cash received has steadily declined from year to year.

In 1956, he pointed out, net cash amounted to 14.7 million dollars, unpaid obligations to 24 million. The deficit that year was 9.3 million. The estimated figures for 1961 are 6.9 million dollars net cash and 114.4 million unpaid, leaving a deficit of 107.5 million.

This situation has come about largely because of the refusal of the Soviet Union and several other countries—France, Belgium, South Africa, Portugal, the bulk of the Arab states—to pay their share of the heavy Congo expenses. The Soviet bloc and most of the Arab states also have balked at helping to pay the costs of troops that patrol the Egyptian-Israeli borders for the United Nations.

This intransigence has saddled the United States with a greater burden, but that is not the most distressing thing about the matter. Our costs, though heavy, do not bulk large in our total national budget. The real trouble is that the United Nations is threatened with being rendered ineffective for lack of funds.

U Thant has bluntly declared that the tasks entrusted to him can be done "only if pledges of goodwill are accompanied by a readiness to provide the financial support and resources essential for their fulfillment." The secretary general had previously suggested floating a 200-million-dollar bond issue to keep the United Nations solvent. This or some other means of maintaining solvency will have to be undertaken, and soon.

WISHBONE EVERGREEN

Our policy of keeping readers informed as to latest developments in the arts and sciences leads us now to consideration of a Christmas tree created by a Minnesota couple. What with trees of metal, wood and assorted exotic materials, it is getting hard to produce a really unique Christmas tree. This one, we wager, is unique.

It has been fashioned of wishbones—855 of them from a collection of about 1,500 assembled by A. F. Reuther since he was seven years old. He will be 75 next February. What's more, these wishbones are not garnered from neighborhood feasts. Says Reuther: "I don't take anybody else's wishbones. I have to eat the meat off myself."

The wishbones come from not only domestic fowl, but from "every game bird known to Minnesota." Painted green and fastened to artificial limbs, they make a tree that, as the saying goes, will be a conversation piece. This advice comes too late for this Christmas, we realize, but it's a thought for next year.

FOLLOW THE RULES

Ever wake up in the night with a splitting headache? Or a pain in your interior? And stumble into the bathroom and reach for a bottle in the medicine cabinet? And gulp down a pill or two, or a swallow of medicine?

Just about all of us, if we're honest, must answer Yes to such questions. And that means that we've all risked serious—even fatal—trouble.

The American Medical Association offers a few simple rules for taking medicine—and they should be read, remembered and observed by every member of every family.

Never take medicine in the dark—be certain you know what's in the bottle or the pill box. Read the directions carefully before taking—they are there to protect and aid you. Don't increase the dose or take it more often than directed without checking with your doctor. If the label says "Shake Before Using," it means it — so shake. Don't take a medicine prescribed for someone else—this is a case where one man's meat can be another man's poison. Keep medicine out of reach of children. Put the cap back on the bottle and screw it down — some medicines change strength when exposed to air. Keep any medicine in its original box — for instance, putting sleeping pills in an aspirin bottle could produce dire effects for someone in the family.

Simple rules? Easy-to-follow rules? They certainly are. And they can prevent trouble, illness, pain, and even, needless dead.

AN INFLATED EGO

Mrs. H. C. Brote of Covington, Louisiana, desires an inflated ego and has the courage to write to an editor to ask for one. It is a very good idea. No tonic does better than an inflated ego. I am I. That is terrific.

However, don't get me wrong. Mrs. Brote does not wish an inflated ego for herself. She wants it for the United States. She just cannot help feeling that an American is as good as a Congolese or Katangese or an Indochinese or even a Russian. She denies racial superiority and is sure that no Uzbeg is superior to an American. Stalin was a Georgian and Khrushchev is an Ukrainian (Ukrainians are requested not to write denying the Landsmannschaft as my files are full of such letters). But we, to go back to where this sentence started, are Americans and if anyone dares to say that we are not the Chosen People, ahead of all else, we shall punch them square on the nose.

Mrs. Brote wrote:

"We hear a great deal about Russian superiority because the Russians plan it that way. We are frightfully impressed by the fact that chess is their national pastime. To play chess, after a fashion, does not require any more intelligence than bridge, baseball or football. We know that the Russians constantly fail in the realm of agriculture. Our farmers are more impressive than their chess players. I have read that their run of the mill doctors are comparable to our hospital orderlies and their engineers build roads that sink into the jungle while ours succeed."

I know nothing about the value of chess in establishing the superiority of a man. It is an old game that originated in India and my only interest is in chessmen made of ivory or jade that fetch quite a price in any flea market. I do not go in for games, indoor or outdoor, having long ago discovered that all forms of physical effort are not beneficial for either the mind or the body. Myself I prefer sitting exercises and use my eyes and ears most frequently.

As for whether playing chess requires less or greater intelligence than playing bridge, football or baseball, I must leave that to Mrs. Brote. I have never played bridge but have watched others at it and it seems to be a stimulant for divorce. As for baseball and football, only now, in my ancient years, do I go to such frivolities, my Democratic friend, Jim Farley, taking me to sit with him, the value of my presence being that some Democrats might believe that if James Aloysius Farley were nominated to run for Governor of New York State against Nelson Rockefeller, some Republicans might vote for him—Which is not to be sneezed at.

If any Americans base their superiority upon the popularity of bridge over chess, it might be called to their attention that it was a White Russian, Ely Culbertson, who earned a living telling Americans how to play the game. Culbertson never lost his Russian accent, but his father was originally an American engineer in Russia.

Mrs. Brote knows that the Russians always fail in agriculture which is more than I know, for way back in the time of the Caesars in Rome, Russia was the bread-basket of Europe and the reason that the Latins go in for so much bread and pastry is that they found so much wheat in Russia.

The misery of misinformation is that language mixes us all up. Russian medical terms come from the German and a Russian doctor may be called by all sorts of names; nevertheless, Mrs. Brote forgets that Russia existed before Lenin was born and Metchnikoff lived before the Smolny Institute ceased being a girls' academy and became the citadel of Marxism. It is wrong to believe that the other fellow knows nothing at all when the fact is that he has more than 1,000 years of valid history. One does not have to like the Russian to tell the truth about him. In fact, Maxim Gorki, who loved Russia, told some horrible tales about the Russians.

Well, it is of value to know these little items and I am sure Ely Culbertson, in whatever heaven he is, will be happy that an old friend remembered him in the Christmas season.

It Is Possible to Undo Birth Control Surgery

Q—Six weeks ago, after my first baby was born, my tubes were tied off at my request. I am a professional dancer and I thought I didn't want to have any more babies. Now my husband and I are just nervous wrecks because of what we did.

I don't think I will ever be interested in dancing again. Since bringing my baby home, I can't think of doing anything else except taking care of her.

If anything should happen to her and I couldn't have other children, I don't think I could live.

All my life I have done things without thinking them through and a lot of times I've been sorry. But this is the worst. I feel very guilty about the whole thing.

I am writing you to see if there isn't some way to sew the tubes together again. If so, how soon can it been done? And would I then be in danger of a tubal pregnancy?

A—You have indeed been rash and ill-advised. However, it is quite possible that what has been done may be undone. I cannot, of course, recommend a specific surgeon but you may get complete information from the Secretary of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, 2105 Adelbert Road, Cleveland 6, Ohio. At your request, I am sure he will give you the name of qualified specialists in your locality.

Q—In July, I had an ovarian cyst removed and, just a few days ago, I had a sedatious cyst removed from behind my right ear. Is there any connection between these cysts? Will they become cancerous?

A—There is no relationship between the ovarian and the sebaceous cyst behind your ear to which, I am sure, you have reference. And there is no more than the remotest chance that either will become malignant.

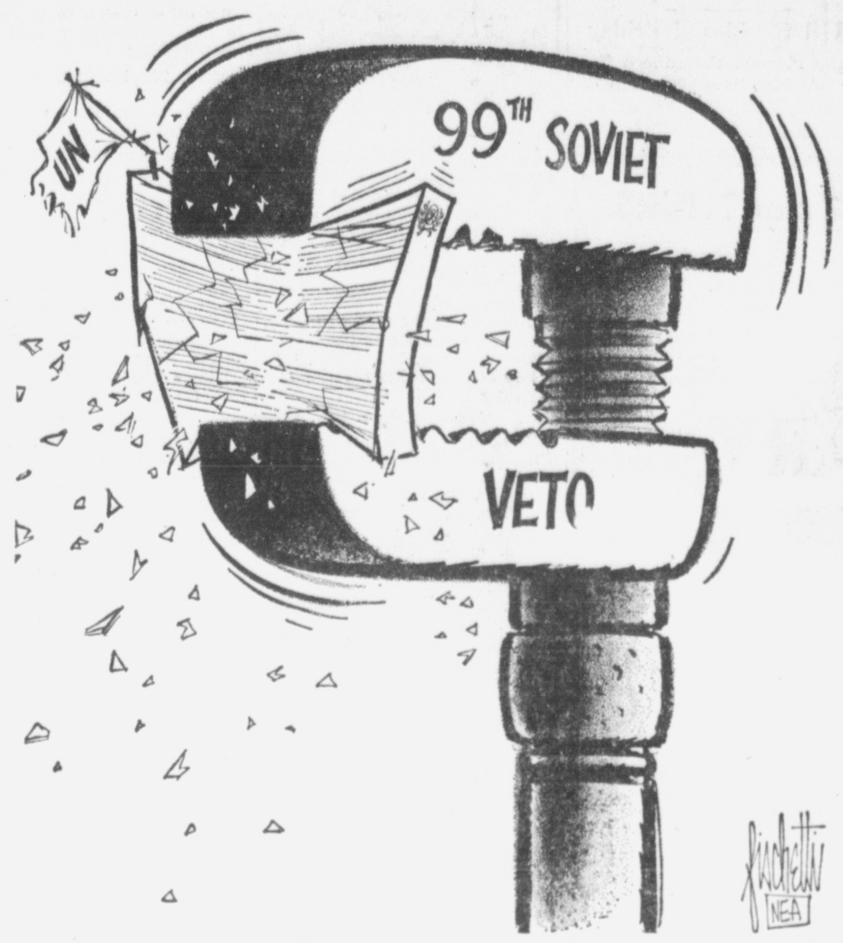

Q—Is it necessary to use a douche after menstruating?

A—Most informed physicians and many specialists are of the opinion that douching is either a useless or a harmful procedure under any circumstances.

As a consultant recently wrote in the Journal of the American Medical Association "many women emotionally consider douching essential to cleanliness. A little training is all that is necessary to correct this belief in most instances."

However, if douche you must, avoid alkaline solutions and never use anything stronger or more complicated than one that contains two to four tablespoonsfuls of white or brown vinegar to two quarts of warm water.

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA)— Economists forecasting business conditions for 1962 are practically unanimous in predicting continued recovery and a good new year. The range is from National Planning Association's continued recovery at a moderate pace" to Fortune Magazine's expectations for a super-boom with inflationary consequences." This is holiday cheer people like to hear.

But the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. Survey — which should be conservative enough for anyone's taste — raises the ugly question, "When the next recession?"

Since postwar experience has shown that recessions did follow in 1949, 1954, 1958 and 1960, after periods of rapid recovery, this is a good question.

Two years ago, after the short and mild recession of 1959, everyone was predicting continued boom through 1960. It didn't come off. This might happen again.

SO IN ANSWER TO ITS OWN QUESTION, Morgan Survey comments:

"A downturn in general business prior to the end of 1962 would make the current expansion the shortest in the post-war period — briefer even than the recovery of 1958-60.

In support of such a possibility, the Morgan Survey lists factors which the optimists mention, but minimize:

The Department of Commerce forecast for high level housing starts is classified by builders as likely to crest out by mid-year or shortly thereafter.

No one can predict the outcome of negotiations for a new contract in the steel industry. But the 116-day strike in 1959 slowed the whole economy.

If the steel contract is successfully renegotiated without a strike, then the inventory build-up already beginning may fall to levels warranted by normal business conditions.

Only in the case of intended new plant and equipment expenditures does it now seem probable that performance in the second half of the year will be stronger than in the first half.

This might slow the rise of the gross national product in the third quarter and beyond. Business expansion might still continue, but not through the entire economy.

IF THIS IS REGARDED as a pessimistic survey, it must also be regarded as a realistic and cautious one. And to these purely economic factors, there must be added the uncertainty of what will come out of Washington in the next six months.

Early indications are that there will be Kennedy administration requests for far more government spending.

A $90 to $100 billion budget is being discussed, with national defense taking a good half of it. Earlier promises of a balanced budget for 1963 are open to question.

The $700 million civil defense shelter program, just proposed is a new item.

Foreign aid programs will unquestionably call for added appropriations in view of this year's cutbacks and the desire to expand Latin-American Alliance for Progress and other underdeveloped country operations.

The space program will call for additional millions. There are proposals for still more federal aid for urban transportation, area redevelopment, labor retraining and education.

WHILE THERE IS MUCH SPECULATION about a new tax program, nothing indicates that taxes can be reduced. The Kennedy foreign trade program may call for subsidies to industries injured by general tariff reductions.

What Congresss does about any or all of these major issues is unpredicted. The first half of the year may be required to resolve them. And even, if all should be approved, their full effect might not be felt during the second half of 1962.

It is their carry over into 1963 that is important. Here they could be inflationary or counteract a late-1962 recession.

Anything that affects foreign aid, foreign military assistance and foreign investments has a definite impact on the American balance-of-payment position.

Even the most optimistic economists point out that the four year decline and continuing deficit in balance of payments is the most serious threat to the U. S. economy because of the restrictive measures they might call for.

Are Principles Obsolete? Bias Story Is Deplored

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Orators for decades have been extolling "principles" and "honest convictions," but certain news dispatches out of Washington recently give an impression that there are no such things nowadays. "Expediency" and what are termed "practical considerations" seem to be a controlling influence in making governmental policy.

Thus, the United Press International, in a dispatch a few days ago from Washington, said:

"An order by President Kennedy prohibiting racial and religious discrimination in Federally assisted housing has been shelved for the time being, it was learned yesterday.

"It will not be issued until after the 1962 Congressional session and possibly not until after the November elections, highly placed administration sources said. Chief reason the President is postponing the order is that it would antagonize Southern Democrats in Congress whose votes he sorely needs in the coming session.

"Defection of Southern Democrats could wipe out the already tenuous prospects for passage of tax revision, medical care and tariff-cutting bills. One Capitol Hill observer explained that with many Southern Democrats more conservative than Mr. Kennedy and reluctant about his legislative program, his issuance of an anti-discrimination executive order would be "just like waving a red flag in front of them. The White House just isn't in a position to alienate anybody."

Tragic Emphasis

This is a tragic emphasis on elements that sometimes govern decisions on the so-called political front. It seems incredible that there should be such reasoning, and even more incredible that it should be so frankly avowed. It would be easier to believe that the postponement of the order was not prompted by any such motive but stemmed possibly from the fear by some of the building and construction people that its issuance could slow up recovery in that field of the economy.

Material considerations are often more persuasive than adherence to principle or conviction when controversial questions are up for settlement in the inner precincts of government. But it is surprising to find high officials hesitating to issue an order on the subject of racial discrimination when such ardent support has been given in recent months by the administration to the "civil rights" agitators. Maybe there will soon be a group of "Freedom Riders" in front of the White House to help get this executive order on the shelf.

For certainly if the Federal government really has authority to take action under the so-called "law of the land" doctrine, then catering to fears of how this might annoy Southern Congressmen would hardly seem to be heroic. One would think that convictions are worthy of fulfilment, whether in a year of Congressional elections or in the months immediately afterward. It certainly doesn't reflect much confidence in the common sense or perspicacity of Southern Congressmen to assume that they will gladly go along with the President's' legislative program next spring on the dubious assumption that Federally assisted housing will not be interfered with, only to discover a few months later that they have been duped by a political maneuver.

What the Order Says

The Federal order being discussed has no specific authorization in law, but it is based on the broad theory that the Federal government can withhold support from any building operation for which it would normally spend or lend money if there is any racial or religious discrimination involved. The Federal authority is being interpreted to mean also that Federal commitments to guarantee mortgages can be canceled if a builder in a new development refuses to accept the bid of a Negro to buy a house.

The doctrine could be extended to cover tax exemptions, too, and any private club which engages in discrimination could, under penalty of losing its tax privilege, be coerced into opening its doors to all candidates. The proposed executive order, which is confined largely to new housing, also could affect indirectly many private mortgages. The same UPI dispatch, quoted above, adds:

"Whether the order should also ban discrimination in the making of home loans by Federally regulated banks and savings and loan associations has not been decided by the White House. Failure to resolve that question was said to be a secondary reason the President has postponed issuance of the order."

One would think these are questions for the people's representatives in Congress to decide, and that law-making is still a function of the Senate and the House. But nowadays an "executive order" seems to be synonymous with "decree" or "edict." Maybe it's because too many Congressmen are also fearful of political consequences if they become involved in voting on such issues, and they prefer to have the Administration act on its own. "Honest convictions" seem to be obsolete.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I have been loaned a delightful little book by O. A. Goodsell, of 43 Crane Street. It is called the Kingston-Rondout-Wiltwyck Directory of 1858, more than a hundred years old. It has some 150 pages of illustrations and information of that period.

Those who are interested in boats on the Hudson would enjoy this book. The Cornell Daily Towing Line between Rondout and New York, and Rondout and Albany in 1858 is covered. "The steamboats Norwich, Emerald, Mohegan, Highlander, James Madison, Santa Claus, will form a daily line for towing between Rondout and New York, and intermediate places, and between Rondout and Albany, and intermediate places. For particulars inquire of Thomas Cornell, Rondout; H. P. Farrington, agent, 47 Jay Street, New York."

It further said "Boats towed above Fulton Ferry, East River, will be charged extra. All contracts will cease as soon as the river is obstructed with ice. All boats will be towed at the risk of the captains or owners."

I wonder why a steamer was named, Santa Claus, its captain was Charles Brodhead. H. E. Barber was captain of the Highlander. Henry Marsh, was captain of the Norwich at the time. J. S. Barber, captain of the James Madison, C. L. Traver was captain of the Emerald, E. Rogers was captain of the Mohegan. These were all owned by Thomas Cornell. The W. B. Crane steamer was captained by Peter Dubois, and owned by Cornell and Dubois.

There was a steamer called Rondout and captained by D. Relyea, and owned by Relyea and Co. The Maurice Wurts steamer was owned by Delaware and Hudson Canal Co. and its captain was George Dubois. The Pittston steamer was owned by the Penn. Coal Co. and captained by William Murray. I am sure there are relatives of these boatmen still living on the shores of the Hudson.

I wonder if steamboating will ever come back to Rondout. In 1858 the day boats from New York and Albany touched at Kingston Point. Steamer Camilla, from Newburgh to Albany, landed at the docks of H. Schoonmakes and Co.

This may interest those people who get to the post office too late. Back in 1858 the uptown post office was at Crown Street, near North Front Street. William Kerr was postmaster, and Charles Van Buren and S. J. Reynolds were clerks. The post office in 1858 was open daily (Sundays excepted) from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. On Sundays from 9 to 10 a. m.

In 1858 the post office in Rondout was on the first floor of the Mansion House, entrance on Lackawanna Street. The Postmaster was J. H. Stratton. The clerks were P. S. Gallagher and G. Winter. The post office was open daily (Sunday excepted) from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m. On Sundays from 8 to 9 a. m. This book also gives you the hours of the arrival of the Delhi, Ellenville and Kingston mail.

There was a regular omnibus line from Rondout to Kingston. It started every half hour from the Mansion House in Rondout and fare was 13 cents. That was of course the stage which ran uptown.

Full-Time Veteran Service Available At County Office

Veterans of Kingston and Ulster County will still have full-time service available to them through the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street, after the closing of the Federal Veterans Administration's Kingston office.

All services which have been available through the Veterans Administration office in the Central Post Office, will be available at the County Veterans Service Agency, Director John Tyler stated today. In addition to County Director John Tyler, Charles Culver, State Veterans counselor, is stationed at the local office in the Motor Vehicle Department office to give assistance to all veterans.

Closing of the Federal office on December 29, has created confusion among many veterans and beneficiaries, who are of the opinion that no veterans service will be available on a full-time basis in Kingston.

Ulster County Veterans Service Agency is open on a full-time basis and can give advice to veterans or their beneficiaries. At this time of year when the income blanks for veteran pensions for non-service disability are about to be sent out for renewal, all veterans are reminded that this matter can be attended to at the county office where assistance in filling out the blanks is available during regular office hours.

Closing of the federal office in the Central Post Office, except on a parti-time basis on Tuesdays, will not affect the service which is offered to veterans through the county and state, Tyler said today.

It was announced some time ago that in an "economy" move the Kingston office of the Veterans Administration would be closed at the end of the year. F. William Sheehan, who has served the local area for several years, has been in charge of the Kingston federal office.

Numerous individuals and groups have endeavored to retain the Veterans Administration branch office in Kingston but recently it was announced the office would be closed on December 29 and only part-time service offered veterans.

Office hours at Room 210 Central Post Office will be from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Tuesdays only.

The Ulster County Veterans Service Agency will be open five days a week from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. to serve all local veterans.

Today's Substitutes

Editor, The Freeman:

This is the day of substitutes, and the factories are whirring busily as they make new items.

Having observed the Christmas scene for quite a number of seasons I find that substitutes are showing up here, too! All through the centuries man has tried to find a substitute for God, and we are ready to acknowledge they have admirably succeeded in it.

I greatly fear that a majority of children are far more Santa Claus conscious, than they are Christ-conscious, now that Christmas has come and gone. Is it possible to attend all the services and still not hear WHY Christ was born? Did not He say "The Son of man is come to seek and to save, that which was lost"? (Luke 19:10).

Since God wants to be central in every man's life, what do we find. A substitute has been introduced. Sometimes it is the man's own character, his very personality ruling his life without regard to God, Bible or church. It may be the church that rules him, rather than the God of heaven. It may be a tradition of sorts, rather than the Holy Scriptures.

Since I know God may be known, and therefore should be known, I am genuinely concerned over humanity in this day of the atom. In other years men were killed one at a time by accident or a more leisurely death, but we now face a holocaust with millions dying.

Nor is this an argument for fallout shelters, for they become mere frying pans for the human race when the heat is generated to 1400 degrees.

When a Santa Claus is allowed to replace a Saviour at Christmas time, when there are hundreds of references to the figure from the Northland to every one for the Saviour from heaven, it is time to call this to the attention of the thoughtful, and the thoughtless Let us turn back to the Bible, to the God of the Bible to the Christ of the Cross and find life there; real, eternal life that satisfied the heart and satisfied God too There are a number of evangelical pastors in our city able and eager to help any, and I am one of them.

Most sincerely,
REV. W. D. CRUMKILTON

Fifteen of these are young people who have grown up in the church, the remaining 36 are new people in the area or unchurched who have been won to the faith. This represents a 15 per cent increase in the membership of the church during the past year.

At the annual congregational meeting church councilmen will be elected for a period of three years. The council will be installed at the 11 a. m. service Jan. 21, together with the newly elected officers of the organizations of the church. Following their installation the council will meet to elect officers.

Rochester U. to Hold Teacher Institutes

Under grants totaling $80,000 from the National Science Foundation, the University of Rochester will conduct two institutes in organic chemistry and earth science for high school teachers next summer in its six-week Summer Session at the River Campus, June 25-August 4.

Forty teachers will participate in each institute from all parts of the United States and abroad, according to Dr. John J. Montean, assistant professor of education and coordinator of science education, director of the programs.

The chemistry institute will be taught by Dr. Roland R. M. Wittaker, emeritus professor of chemistry at Queens College, New York City, and the earth science will have Dr. Lawrence W. Lundgren Jr., assistant professor of geology at the University of Rochester as instructor. The earth science course will consist mainly of mineralogy.

Husbands and wives will have different reactions to the fact that the outstanding development in the world's fur supply in the 20th century has been the breeding of mink and fox on farms and ranches. Mink coats became much more available, not necessarily cheaper, after mink ranching began commercially in the United States in the 1930s.

NEW YORK (AP)—Food in the bag—whether to boil or to store in bulk in freezers—may play a bigger part in your life in the new year.

It will if today's plans of both the food packaging industry and the makers of polethylene work out on schedule.

They are confident of expansion of the already fast growing boil-in-the-bag sales.

They also count on selling you on the idea of frozen vegetables in family-size proportions—but not in solid blocks—packaged in these filmy bags. This way food can be taken from the package to fit your individual need at the moment, with the remainder going back in the freezer.

Noting the rapidly increasing use of bags of prepared foods that can be heated in boiling water, the U.S. Industrial Chemicals Co., predicts this will help push total polyethylene sales in 1962 by 10 to 15 per cent.

Boil in Bag Units

The Modern Foods Council says 100 million boil-in-the-bag units were sold this year. There are some 100 food items so packaged by about 40 food processors. They predict hopefully that sales will reach 300 million units before 1965.

The Food and Drug Administration permits the use of polyethylene film under prescribed safety conditions. Uses range from production of packaging materials and containers to equipment intended for use in producing processing, transporting or holding food.

Polyethylene makers and food processors say this ruling has opened the door now to many possible new uses.

Milk Cartons Coated

Example: Coatings for milk cartons and bakery trays. Other developments reported include lining for cartons to hold liquids, and formed containers with tear tapes.

Formed Container Corp. asserts it can offer price advantages for the polyethylene packs as against older forms of food containers.

This is seconded by the Flexible Packaging Division of Continental Can Co. which supplies polyethylene film.

Money spent in early research in the polyethylene packaging for food by Seeman Bros. has paid off well, its chairman, John B. Fowler Jr., says. A pioneer in the field was its Seabrook Farms division with a campaign to get housewives to buy boil-in-the-bag foods.

New Vegetable Packs

Birdseye and many other food packagers are marketing fruits and vegetables in the new packs.

Their sales talk is that by preserving frozen foods in such bags and then popping them into boiling water, the housewife can either thaw and warm prepared food or cook frozen raw foods and conserve the vitamin content of the food in the bag.

Fowler says the boil-in-the-bag principle makes possible packing special diets for hospital or home use and providing restaurants with ready entrees.

Food firms like Armour, General Foods and Seeman Bros. are working hard now to convince restaurant owners to join the parade in numbers and volume of usage.

Canadian Teacher Is Facing Abduction

CANFIELD, Ont. (AP)—Police asked U.S. authorities today to join in a search for Charles Richeson, 20-year-old school teacher, who is charged with abduction in connection with the disappearance of one of his 15-year-old girl students.

Police have been looking for the pupil, fair-haired Susan Vermette, since last Thursday when she was seen being picked up by a man after school closed. The car headed toward the U.S. border.

U.S. borders officials were notified, and an 11-state alarm was sent out over the Northeastern United States, officials said.

Lock Up Drunken Drivers Is Order

CONCORD, N. H. (AP) — State police today are under strict orders from Gov. Wesley Powell to "pick up and lock up" any person found to be driving after drinking.

Powell said his new "get tough" order has the effect of wiping out any distinction between "driving after drinking" and the more serious offense—"drunken driving."

Under New Hampshire law, a person can be arrested for driving after drinking if he is operating his car after having consumed even a minimum quantity of alcohol.

Bad Double Is Only Flaw

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Asso.

Lieutenant, now General, Gruenther analyzed this hand of the 1931 match as follows:

"Mrs. Culbertson's preemptive opening of four spades was fully justified by her holding. Mr. Culbertson, felt reasonably certain that his partner could make four spades, but saw no reason not to give a slam invitation with his strong hand. Thus encouraged, Mrs. Culbertson can hardly be blamed for bidding the slam. Mr. Culbertson redouble was a venturesome one, probably intended to teach 'Ossie' a lesson.

"The slam was lost because of a losing finesse and Mr. Jacoby's choice of the ace of hearts lead. If Mr. Lenz had held the king of spades, or if any other card had opened, Mrs. Culbertson would have made the slam."

Looking at the hand 30 years later, I still think that the slam bid was a good one. At worst it depended on the spade finesse and even with the spade finesse wrong, any lead but a heart would have let Jo make the contract.

However, Ely's redouble was a bad bid. I could only be doubling on the ace of hearts and a trump trick, so once I doubled he should have known the hand would not make.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The continuing Berlin crisis was the subject of a thoughtful and clear analysis by NBC's news staff Tuesday night in a special program.

The increasing tensions and continuing incidents in the German city cut in half by the Communist wall was presented as another move in Soviet Premier Khrushchev's international chess game designed ultimately to neutralize Europe and isolate America. Narrator Chet Huntley stated that although Berlin now is the target, the game is to knock flourishing West Germany out of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Although presenting America and its European friends as stronger, militarily and economically, than the Soviet Union, the program emphasized the differences of opinions existing among the NATO allies and Khrushchev's shrewd exploitations.

The program's clear implication was that Allied reluctance to take a firm stand about the wall has shaken the confidence of the West Germans — just as Khrushchev hoped it would.

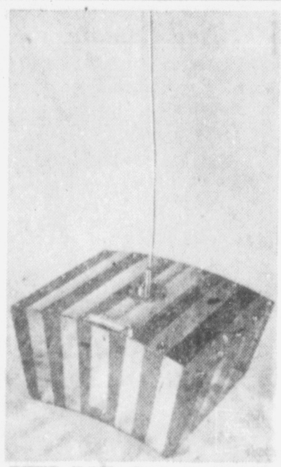

NBC's staff did a brilliant job of marshalling facts in a complicated situation and presented them in a cool authoritative style. They painted a frightening picture.

One television trend which has steadily been gathering quiet momentum is the fashion of using numbers in titles. By my count there will be, by next week, 16 network programs with statistical titles. They range from the police-action shows ("Cain's Hundred," "87th Precinct") to situation comedy ("Car 54 Where Are You?" and "My Three Sons") to documentaries ("20th Century") to the children's shows ("1, 2, 3—GO!").

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 (EST)—Caterina Valente, guest star; Steel Hour, CBS, 10-11 — "The Bitter Sex," with Mona Freeman and Lloyd Bochner, late of "Hong Kong."

Politics Seen Involved

U.S. Concerned on Canada's Cautiousness in Nuclear Plan

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada is playing it cautious about developing a nuclear deterrent as an ally of the United States. The caution appears based on local politics, and there are indications Washington is upset.

Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker's Conservative Party is coming up for re-election in 1962 —possibly in June or October— and has indicated that it does not want to make nuclear weapons an issue in the campaign.

There are two Bomarc antiaircraft missile bases in Canada—at North Bay, Ont., and La Macazza, Que.—but they are not expected to be in operational readiness until well into 1962.

The United States has stockpiles of nuclear weapons in Europe. But there are no stockpiles in her closest ally—Canada.

Under war conditions nuclear warheads automatically could be used in Canadian weapons—whether or not the United States and Canada sign a formal agreement on their use and control.

The big problem confronting the Diefenbaker government is making the warheads immediately available. Such an agreement would concern storing them in Canada.

Spokesmen for the opposition Liberal and new Democratic Party have come out openly against bringing Canada into the nuclear sphere.

Washington has moved carefully to avoid getting involved in Canadian politics, but this has created difficulties in mapping defense strategy.

Nuclear-armed bombers of the U.S. Air Force's Strategic Air Command avoid flying over Canada to oblige Ottawa's insistence that each such flight must get clearance — a necessarily slow progress.

The U.S. Army also has moved its cold-weather testing of weapons, including missiles, to Alaska from Fort Churchill, Man.

The U.S.-Canada Defense Committee has not met since July 1960—well before the Kennedy administration took over last January.

Since 1950 the United States has spent about $33 billion on North American air defense—yet this has not brought a complete meeting of minds with the northern ally across the open border.

More Yanks Move Along Autobahn

BERLIN (AP)—The U.S. Army today moved another infantry company along the Soviet-controlled autobahn to West Germany.

The U.S. command reported that Co. D of the 6th Infantry's 2nd Battle Group cleared through Soviet controls at the Babelsberg checkpoint outside Berlin and headed west on the 110-mile trip through Communist territory.

The Communist press, both Soviet and East German, has consistently complained about such U.S. troop movements.

Rockets, Sputniks On Church Altars Minister Declares

Thank God for our Freedom! This statement was the basic text of a talk given by the Rev. George P. Werner at the Tuesday Lions Club luncheon.

The Rev. Mr. Werner in serving as a delegate to the 10th World Conference of the Methodist Churches in Oslo, Norway had the opportunity to tour behind the Iron Curtain. In his talk to the Lions Club, he contrasted living under communism to living in a free society.

According to the Rev. Mr. Werner, life in a communistic society is symbolized by three common objects he observed in Russia. Symbol number one is a padlock; for in Russia the padlock denotes the lack of freedom of religion. Most churches behind the Iron Curtain are locked. Many others have been converted into museums or shrines to the materialistic diety of science. He said that he saw several church altars that had replicas of rockets or sputniks.

The second object that symbolized life in Russia was the Russian cigarette. This cigarette is two-thirds hollow filter and one-third tobacco. This suggests that the economic system of Communist Russia gives the people two-thirds hot filtered air and one-third material goods. The lack of consumer goods and the cost of available items is certainly evidence of this situation in Russia.

The third symbol, according to the Rev. Mr. Werner, is a loudspeaker he saw in every hotel room that he stayed in. There is no Freedom of Choice for Russians. They must listen to or read the voice of the State. Radios are rare and televisions are seldom seen; when heard, these mediums only carry the sound of propaganda.

The Russian lives in a state which controls the mind, body and soul of man. "As Americans we should thank God for our freedoms; freedom of religion, freedom from want, freedom of speech and freedom of press, and work towards maintaining the society that we live in," the Rev. Mr. Werner said.

Egypt to Seize 3 French Schools

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—The government has ordered the seizure of three schools belonging to the French government's education mission in Egypt, the paper Al Ahram said today.

The schools were operated by a French cultural-commercial mission that was permitted to return to Egypt in 1958 after the 1956 Suez invasion. Nine members of the mission were arrested Nov. 24 and accused of spying and plotting to overthrow the regime of President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Dairymen Closing Middletown Terminal

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP)—The Middletown tank truck terminal of the Dairymen's League Cooperative, in operation here since the 1930s, will be closed Jan. 13.

The terminal served as a transfer point in the movement of milk from farms to processing plants. Officials said this no longer was necessary and the milk now would be moved directly from farm to plant.

The terminal employed 43 truck drivers and 14 mechanics, plus utility men, dispatchers and clerical workers. Efforts will be made to transfer them or obtain other employment for them.

Police Captain Is Accused of MoneyShakedown

NEW YORK (AP) — A police captain in The Bronx has been accused of attempting to shake down merchants during the Christmas season and trying to chisel money from policemen. The captain's name was not revealed.

On the force for almost 20 years, he allegedly applied pressure on Bronx merchants for gratuities.

He also reportedly told men under his command he would charge them with infractions of regulations if they refused to pay him offf.

Five days ago he submittted an application for retirement, effective next Friday. Thirty days must elapse before the retirement process becomes final.

The captain, who has held the rank about two years, draws a salary of $10,581 a year.

Gets 20 to Life

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—Charles B. Ducharme, 20, of West Chazy, drew a prison term today of 20 years to life for killing a former sweetheart.

Justice Willard L. Best of State Supreme Court gave the young farmer the minimum sentence on a second-degree murder charge and sent him to the Elmira Reception Center for transfer to a prison when he reaches 21.

Ducharme shot Betty Annn Davison, 17, of Mooers Forks, in a jealous rage last April 30 as she was returning home from a date with another man. Ducharme fled but was captured May 4 at a rural hideout after he had shot himself in the stomach.

Stratton Says . . .

date for congress from the newly created 35th district, which stretches across central New York from Montgomery to Ontario counties, inclusive. Stratton's present district was eliminated in a reapportionment plan passsed by the GOP-controlled Legislature. It is a traditionally Republican area to which Stratton first won election in 1958 after serving on the Schenectady City Council.

If he does not become the Democratic candidate for governor, he presumably will pursue his congressional bid.

Belgium Resumes Ties With Congo Boost for Adoula

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Belgium resumed diplomatic relations with the Congo today, strengthening Premier Cyrille Adoula's hand in dealing with Katanga's secession.

Restoration of relations was announced as Parliament awaited the arrival of Katanga members to take their seats as provided in Adoula's recent unity agreement with Katanga President Moise Tshombe.

Halted 17 Months Ago

Relations with Belgium, former colonial ruler of the Congo, were broken 17 months ago in a fit of anticolonial fury. The late leftist Premier Patrice Lumumba was angered because Belgium tried to protect its citizens and property with troops during the riots after independence.

Belgian interests also supported Tshombe in his defiance of the central government. Belgium investment is heavy in the copper, uranium and other mineral riches of Katanga.

Gradually, the Belgian government and commercial interests in Brussels have swung around to favor Congo unity under a central government in Leopoldville, much to Tshombe's annoyance.

A central government was provided in the constitution Belgium drafted for its colony, but the chaos that ensued after independence was granted in 1960 kept the constitution from being ratified by Parliament.

The 15-member Katanga parliamentary delegation, to be flown from the Katanga capital of Elisabethville in a U.N. planen is expected to propose changes in the constitution to give provinces greater freedom from Leopoldville's control.

The pact signed by Adoula and Tshombe at the U.N. base of Kitona recognized the central government's control over Katanga, but the Katanga leader never has dropped his objections to a strong central regime.

The Katanga Cabinet held it was not competent to ratify the Kitona agreement and passed it to the provincial assembly, a move which Adoula said torpedoed "the last effort to resolve the Katanga crisis by peaceful means."

In Paris, Evariste Kimba, Katanga foreign minister, denied Tshombe had signed the Kitona declaration. He said the Katanga Parliament would meet Jan. 3 to act on the declaration and "the counter proposals Mr. Tshombe made to Mr. Adoula."

"After the Parliament has acted," the government of Elisabethville will decide what attitude to take," Kimba said.

Kimba conceded that U.N. troops could maintain control in Elisabethville, where U.N. forces crushed Katanga resistance in a two-week battle, but said that "to hold Katanga under the yoke is another thing. The fight would continue in the brush, but Katanga, I assure you, will not surrender."

Woman's Death Is Ruled Accidental In Monoxide Case

A finding of accidental asphyxiation was reported today by Coroner Francis J. McCardle in the death of Mrs. Nellie F. Jackson, of 60 Wilkie Avenue, who was found in the family car in a garage beneath the Jackson home.

The coroner said Mrs. Jackson died of asphysia due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Mrs. Jackson's husband, Clifford, who was found unconscious in a bedroom by his daughter, Carol, 16, was reported in fair condition today at Kingston Hospital. Mrs. Jackson's mother, Mrs. Mabel Furman, who reportedly suffered a heart attack Saturday morning prior to the discovery of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson was described in "apparently fair" condition at the hospital.

Retired Officer Honored Tuesday At State Event

A ceremony marking the retirement of the 50,000th member of the New York State Employes Retirement System was held Tuesday afternoon in the office of the State Comptroller Arthur Levitt. On hand to receive his first monthly retirement check was the 50,000th retiree, John J. Flannery of 10 South Clinton Avenue.

Flannery, age 65, was in State service for over 26 years and was an employe of the Correction Department. He served as a correction officer at the Eastern Correctional Institution, Napanoch.

Choosing Option One, he will receive a monthly retirement check of $212.82 which amounts to a little over half his final salary. Flannery thus joins some 29,000 other surviving retirees who each month receive a total of $3,437,000 from the System.

On hand for the ceremony in addition to Comptroller Levitt and Flannery were Paul D. McGinnis, commissioner of correction, Leon Braun, deputy comptroller in charge of the Retirement System and Charles L. McKendrick, superintendent of the Eastern Correctional Institution.

Flannery, who was born in Kingston, December 18, 1898, was appointed a guard (correction officer) on December 23, 1927, and served at the Napanoch Institution since then. Flannery is a veteran of World War I, having served with the 10th Infantry, 27th Division, for over three years, and having been awarded the Purple Heart.

Commissioner McGinnis commended Flannery not only for his long years of service but for the service rating of "superior" which Flannery has consistently earned over the years.

Superintendent McKendrick praised Flannery as one of the most capable, devoted and loyal members of the institution staff.

President Ends Work on Budget, To Be Balanced

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Kennedy has completed work on the budget for the next fiscal year and it will be balanced, administration officials said today.

No figures were disclosed, but speculation on its size has been in the area of $92 billion, about $3 billion above the current year.

Back Is Stronger

After visiting his ailing father, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, this forenoon, the President returned to the seaside mansion where he is staying. There he received a checkup on his back by a New York orthopedic specialist, Dr. Preston Wade, and the regular White House physician, Dr. Janet Travell.

Press secretary Pierre Salinger said the doctors reported the back is stronger than last summer, but it will be several months before Kennedy can resume vigorous physical activity.

Kennedy took a cruise aboard the presidential yacht Honey Fitz after the back examination.

Later, he planned another long conference with key advisers on the State of the Union message to Congress in January.

The President received word from the doctors attending the elder Kennedy that their patient had made progress in throwing off a mild pneumonia which developed after the ex-ambassador suffered a stroke Dec. 19.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Kennedy, drove himself to St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach to visit his father. They spent 25 minutes there. A Secret Service agent took over the driver's seat of the cream-colored convertible when they left.

Mrs. Sargent Shriver, Mrs. Peter Lawford and Mrs. Stephen Smith, sisters of the President, also visited the elder Kennedy.

No Recent Trouble

The back examination had been described by Salinger in advance as routine. He said Kennedy had had no recent trouble with his back which he hurt last year while shoveling dirt at a tree-planting ceremony.

Salinger reported the President has been taking a daily swim since his arrival here. There is a heated outdoor pool at the estate of Col. and Mrs. C. Michael Paul, where he is staying.

As to the condition of the President's father, both Salinger and St. Mary's Hospital reported it to be unchanged. The hospital said he had a satisfactory night.

Jobless Man Admits Extortion Try and Threat for Church

NEW YORK (AP)—Police say a jobless man has admitted he attempted to extort $1 million from a Protestant church by threatening to wipe out the minister and his staff with explosives.

The man, Harold LeRoy Grout, 40, was quoted by police as saying he wanted the money "to alleviate a lot of the ills in the world and the injustices."

He was charged with attempted extortion and making threatening telephone calls.

Grout, who first gave his name as Harold Grant, said he had lived in recent years in Evanston, Ill.

Grout's arrest Tuesday night climaxed a two-month police investigation.

A man walked into the Broadway Congregational Church at 56th St. and Broadway Oct. 25 and handed the switchboard operator a five-page letter for the Rev. Dr. Lawrence Durkin, the pastor.

The writer demanded $1 million under threat of destroying "the doctor, his staff and everyone connected with the church."

The writer followed up the letter with telephone calls to Dr. Durkin and five more threatening notes.

Grout was arrested as he loitered in the lobby of the school building of the Riverside Church, an interdenominational church.

Prudential Buys Empire Bldg. in $65 Million Deal

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—The Empire State Building, the world's tallest building and the unofficial symbol of New York City, was to be sold today to the Prudential Insurance Co. of America in a $65 million transaction.

Prudential will take title to the 102-story office building and tourist beacon for $29 million paid to the owner, Empire State Building Corp., whose principal owner is Henry Crown of Chicago.

Prudential is then to give a 114-year leasehold on the building to a real estate syndicate known as Empire State Building Associates. The syndicate will turn over $36 million to Crown, completing the transaction.

The Empire State grosses about $12.5 million a year.

The sale will be made at Prudential's headquarters in Newark.

3 Firemen Hurt, Man Is Stabbed As Mob Attacks

NEW YORK (AP)—Three firemen were injured and a civilian stabbed early today in what fire headquarters said was an apparently unprovoked mob attack on a fire truck.

Officials said a crowd standing in front of a tavern at Park Ave. and East 123rd St. hurled botttles at the passing hook and ladder truck as it returned to quarters from a minor fire.

A scuffle apparently ensued.

The three injured firemen were treated at Harlem Hospital, then questioned at a police station. Also there for questioning were a dozen civilians.

The fire truck, manned by four men under the command of a lieutenant, had responded to an alarm.

The injured civilian was taken to a nearby hospital.

Mayor's Statement

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today "I am deeply saddened at the news of the passing of my dear friend Ben Silverman.

"During the years he has lived in our city, Ben has been endeared to all who knew or met him. He has served the city well as a devoted public servant in the capacity of sealer of weights and measures and the loss of his deep interest in both the Democratic party and the City of Kingston will leave a great void in our city as well as in the Jewish community where he too served with honor and distinction."

Al Jennings Dies at 98

Records Don't Jibe With His Stories of Being Desperado

TARZANA, Calif. (AP)—Alfonso Jackson (Al) Jennings, train robber, ex-convict, lawyer, lecturer, evangelist, politician, movie celebrity and chicken rancher who hated killing chickens, is dead at 98.

The self-styled bantam badman from the Oklahoma badlands died Tuesday with his boots off in his tree-shaded white frame house.

His nephew, Tillman V. Eggleston, said Al had been despondent since the recent death of his wife Maude, 81, and "was suffering the illnesses of old age."

Despite Jennings' death, the controversy he created still lives.

Was he really a desperado of the Jesse James or Dalton gang caliber? Or was tiny Al, only a lick and a spit over 5 feet tall, just a onetime loser, a luckless train robber, who cashed in on a legend he embroidered for naive movie folks in later years?

Al said he was once a horse thief and declared: "Some of the finest men I ever knew were horse thieves." He also claimed he killed more men than he could count—all in self-defense.

A Contradiction

But author Stuart Lake, Western scholar and biographer of Wyatt Earp, says with a bit of scorn: "There's no record of Al ever killing anyone."

Al said he was a feared outlaw and train robber in the 1890s, terrorizing a score of trains in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Kansas.

The record shows Jennings was convicted in 1895 for robbing a Rock Island train in Oklahoma, sentenced to life imprisonment, paroled after five years and pardoned in 1907 by President Theodore Roosevelt.

Lake says of that one proven train robbery: "The gang netted only about three bucks apiece. A posse found out they were holed up at a ranch house and came after 'em. Al was so scared he couldn't pull the trigger. They took 'em all away to prison, like taking candy from a baby."

Al Jennings was born in Tazewell County, Va., and left home at 11 because his father killed his pet squirrel—"I could always kill a man without batting an eye but I couldn't stand to see an animal harmed," Al once said.

He was admitted to the bar in Comanche County, Kan., in 1884, moved to El Reno, Okla., and was elected county attorney in 1892.

After imprisonment and release, he became a lecturer, then an evangelist and ran for governor of Oklahoma in 1914.

Jennings came to California in 1915—and ultimately became an advisor to movie-makers on Western folklore.

Twins Arrive On Bargain Day

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Twins born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. John C. Townley arrived at a most opportune time.

Horton Memorial Hospital, where the twins were delivered, had announced earlier that when the 1,000th baby of the year was born in the institution there would be no charge to the parents.

The 1,000th was Martin Leonard Townley. He was followed 10 minutes later by a sister, Mary Caroline. Mother and children are doing fine—and doubtless pop, too, since the hospital said it would pick up the tab for the mother and both children. This probably will be about $150 to $200.

The Townleys have four other children and reside in nearby Circleville. The father is supervisor of tolls at the Suffern exit of the Thruway. The mother is 30 years old.

Man Killed, 35 Hurt as Train Hits RR Platform

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — One person was killed and at least 35 others injured Tuesday night when an elevated train rammed a station platform. Four of the five cars were derailed, teetering against a thin iron railing 35 feet above a busy West Philadelphia intersection.

Short circuits lit up the area with electrical flashes for 15 minutes following the accident at the Philadelphia Transportation Co.'s York and Dauphin Streets station.

The dead man was identified as Earl Giberson, 45, Philadelphia. Witnesses said the train bounced crazily for more than 200 feet before coming to rest, tilted against the railing. Falling concrete broke several store windows.

Police said there were about 100 passengers on the train, all of whom were trapped briefly until rescue workers could guide them to safety along the narrow catwalk. The injured were taken to nearby hospitals. None apparently were hurt seriously.

A fire, touched off by sparks from the third rail, broke out in the third car. Firemen controlled it quickly.

Auxiliary policeman John Somers, 26, one of the first rescuers on the scene, said there was some yelling but little panic.

AF Revises Dyna Soar, Step Is Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Air Force says it has ordered a major revision in its Dyna Soar program which will eliminate one step in the manned research craft's eventual path to space. It will combine solid and liquid fuel rocket engines.

The Air Force said Tuesday it has decided to use one big liquid-fuel rocket engine and two smaller solid-fuel rocket engines to hurl the glider-like Dyna Soar into the lower edge of space. From there it is to soar back to earth after orbiting.

All suborbital flights, using only the Titan II missile as booster, are now eliminated from the program.

The Titan II probably will be augmented with the thrust of two solid-fuel rocket engines arranged alongside the Titan rocket to provide the push needed to blast the Dyna Soar up to the 18,000 mile-an-hour speed needed for orbit.

The Dyna Soar program had called for three phases in its test schedule—an air drop of a glider from a B52 at high altitude; trajectory flight launchings, like missile shoots; and then orbital flights from Cape Canaveral, Fla., to landings at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

The revised plans mean the schedule will move directly from air drop tests to orbital flights.

Chrysler Shows Turbine-Driven Cars of Future

NEW YORK (AP)—The Chrysler Corp. displayed an experimental turbine-driven automobile today and made it clear that mass production was being considered.

The company said it planned to put the cars in the hands of a relatively few selected customers later this year.

Results of the tests, further engineering and cost studies, and consumer reaction could lead to volume production, said Robert Anderson, vice president.

Such cars would be a radical departure from the conventional piston-driven vehicles, of which there are now about 70 million on the road in the United States.

The turbine engines reportedly have one-fifth as many parts as reciprocating engines and require no oil changes or antifreeze.

Speculation was that if tests are successful the car will be manufactured in volume within five years. But Chrysler displayed its optimism by announcing booklets on the car will be available at all dealers shortly after the first of the year.

George Huebner Jr., executive engineer, told a news conference, "We would not be standing before you today if we did not believe the trend which we have started already exists."

The gas turbine runs on any fuel that can be sent through a pipe and that will burn with air.

"Even French perfume could be used," said Huebner. Gasoline would be the more popular and accessible fuel, he explained.

10 Taken From Drifting Dredge Boston-Bound

BOSTON (AP) — The Coast Guard cutter Acushnet pushed through gale-whipped seas today with 10 men rescued from a drifting dredge more than 200 miles out on the Atlantic.

One of the men, Merlin Robinson of Hattiesburg, Miss., was "apparently dead" when picked up, the Acushnet reported, and was revived by a medical corpsman with mouth to mouth resuscitation.

His condition improved to such a degree the Coast Guard cancelled a plan to lift him ashore by helicopter. The Acushnet with all 10 of the dredge Cartagena's crew headed directly for Boston.

The dredge went adrift Christmas Day when a hawser parted as she was under tow from Quebec to Baltimore by the tug Foundation Vigilant. Efforts by the tug and the Acushnet to get another hawser rigged were frustrated by fierce wind and sea.

The crew left the dredge Tuesday on a raft and was plucked from the sea by the Acushnet.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market advanced early this afternoon after an irregular morning. Trading was active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.20 at 260.70 with industrials up 2.50, rails up .40 and utilities up .20.

Gains of fractions to a point or more outnumbered losers among key stocks.

Some of the steels, motors, drugs, chemicals and utilities showed strength. The rise was spotty, however, nonferrous metals, aircrafts, rubbers, electronics and oils were mixed. Airlines were unchanged to a bit lower.

The rise came after eight straight days of decline and Tuesday's irregular session. It seemed llong overdue to Wall Streeters who have been counting on a traditional yearend rally.

Encouraging business news included a prediction by the head of General Motors that 1962 would be a seven-million-car year. Steel output stood at the highest level since April 1960. Construction contracts for November were reported at a peak.

U.S., Sukarno Talk Over Guinea Threat

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Howard P Jones conferred with President Sukarno today in a fresh American effort to avert the possibility of a Dutch-Indonesian war over West New Guinea.

Jones requested the meeting. American sources said he impressed on Sukarno the United States' "sincere desire to avoid a clash of arms" to determine the future of the Dutch territory that Indonesia claims.

Foreign Minister Subandrio, who was present, declined to say what was discussed. But he told newsmen "We are now watching closely the latest developments in The Hague." The Dutch Parliament is expected to discuss the issue next Tuesday.

Sukarno reiterated Tuesday that he is willing to negotiate but only on terms that would assure Indonesian sovereignty over the disputed area.

In The Hague, a Dutch government source said the Netherlands will ask that a U.N. representative sit in on Dutch-Indonesian talks if they materialize. The informant said the United Nations would then be left with the problem of deciding on the question of self-determination for West New Guinea's Papuan population.

Indonesia earlier rejected a Dutch proposal introduced in the U.N. General Assembly to make West New Guinea a trust territory preparatory to self-determination.

Yule Toll 524, Highest Since Christmas 1955

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths during the Christmas holiday totaled 524, the highest toll for a three-day Christmas period since 1955.

The Associated Press survey also showed 83 deaths in fires and 86 in miscellaneous accidents. The National Safety Council, which had estimated 500 traffic fatalities, said its count showed 523 killed. The traffic toll in last year's Christmas holiday period was 488, the lowest in 10 years for a three-day observance.

The council estimates 330 persons will be killed in auto accidents during the threeday New Year's holiday period starting at 6 p.m. Friday. The toll in last New Year's period, also a Saturday-Sunday-Monday weekend, was 338.

Says Reds Would Have Retreated If Wall Smashed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., says he was told by some defected East German police that they had orders to withdraw if the Allies moved in to smash the Berlin wall.

Scott, back from four weeks in Western Europe, said in an interview recorded for radio and television stations in Pennsylvania that the Western powers could have and should have "knocked the wall down."

He said he interviewed some of the East German military police who defected to the West.

"We learned from them in direct questioning that had we moved in to smash the wall down, their orders were to withdraw and not to fire unless we fired on government buildings," Scott said.

"And I also happen to know that only one out of four of these soldier had bullets in his gun, and therefore, we could have done it."

Ryan Appointed

Ward 10 years. He resigned last night to serve on the planning board. The alderman said he is vitally interested in the functions performed by the board and feels the appointment will give him the opportunity to continue to serve the people of Kingston.

Mayor's Statement

In a letter to Ryan, the mayor said:

"Your comprehensive grasp of the complex problems of city government and your ability to appraise and anticipate the exact effect each program will have upon our city's future and the taxpayers ability or desire to support such a program have always amazed me."

The mayor said he feels Ryan's acceptance of the appointment "will fortify an already active and vigilant board with Elmore Yallum and John R. Shults, who have devoted great efforts and energies pursuing the Urban renewal and master plan and its component parts."

Ryan has served as the city Democratic majority leader.

Read It in Freeman

The mayor-elect also said he was not aware the figures had been given out until informed by The Freeman.

The 1962 tax rate is $5.29 higher than in 1960. The amount to be raised by taxes this year was $2,418,375.44 and in 1960 it was $2,328 258.56.

Total assessed valuation for 1962 was reported last Friday at $40,320,878. The 1961 total was listed at $40,240,139 and in 1960 was reported at $40,097,989.

In 1961 the tax rate was first fixed at $59.80 per $1,000 and later raised 30 cents because of an additional sum granted the Kingston City Library. The final rate was $2.01 above the 1960 tax rate.

Nasser Ends Yemen Ties

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser's domain is back where it started—confined to Egypt—following severance of the loose federation that joined the little Arabian Peninsula kingdom of Yemen to the United Arab Republic.

Nasser broke the tie with Yemen Tuesday night, apparently because of the opposition of Yemen's feudal ruler, the Imam Ahmed, to Nasser's accelerating program to convert the U.A.R. to socialism.

Yemeni exiles in Beirut predicted the break with Nasser might touch off a revolution in their homeland that would unseat the Imam, one of the world's last absolute monarchs.

The two countries had been linked in the United Arab States, a loose federation formed a month after the proclamation of the U.A.R. joining Egypt and Syria in March 1958.

Syria broke out of the U.A.R. last September, but Nasser's government retained the name that symbolizes Nasser's thwarted dream of a unified Arab world.

The statement announcing the break with Yemen said the two governments had nothing in common "to make the federation between them an effective political instrument able to contribute positively in strengthening the Arab struggle."

In posing as the symbol of the new wave in the Middle East, Nasser could hardly afford to remain tied to the feudal Red Sea monarch, who published a poem attacking Nasser's Arab socialism after the break with Syria.

The association between Nasser and the Imam—theoretically co-presidents in the UAS—never approached the working relationship that Nasser had with Syria. It was a limited association in defense, cultural and economic affairs. The U.A.R. bore most of the cost.

Miller was Grand Chef de Gare of the State of New York.

Appointed by the late Sheriff Wright J. (Doc) Smith in 1930, Wesley A. O'Brien served under seven Ulster County sheriffs, including the late Abram F. Molyneaux, the late John A. Saxe, Howard C. Anderson, the late George C. Smith, Cluett Schantz and Claude Bell. In 1942 Wesley A. O'Brien interrupted his service to the county when he became a guard in the employ of the New York Central Railroad and served at the Wilbur bridge on the West Shore Division. After the close of World War 2 he again entered the sheriff's office and has since served as head jailer.

Arrests Solve Burglaries

LITTLE VALLEY, N.Y. (AP)—The Cattaraugus County sheriff's department claimed a solution to five burglaries today with the arrest of five Buffalo area youths.

The burglaries, all during the past month, were at the Niagara County Council of Girl Scouts camp at North Otto, a service station near Little Valley and three privately-owned chalets in the Holiday Valley ski area.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Investor, 88, Advised Not to Change Portfolio

Q) "I am 88 years old and very active for my age. My holdings include Kroger, American Cyanamid, American Steel Foundries, Armco Steel, Columbia Gas, Procter & Gamble, and Radio Corp. I bought most of these stocks prior to 1940 and they are now worth more than twice what they cost.

I have other income so I don't really need to sell. Do you like my stocks? What changes do you advise me to make?" Y. R.

A) It is a genuine pleasure to hear that you are still active and willing to make changes at 88 years of age. I hope we'll both be around ten years from now to review your holdings. Some of your stocks — such as Columbia Gas and Procter and Gamble — appeal to me more than the others

However, under the circumstances, I think your list is all right and I would let it ride just as it is. Any switching would put you in line for a large tax payment and in today's market I think you would have little to gain by making such moves.

Q) "We have two boys, 7 and 3, and for a long time have been putting away $2.00 a week each to give them a start toward a college education. They now have $725 and $300 saved, respectively.

A friend suggested we put this money into American Telephone stock and from then on, invest periodically in more shares. My husband is employed by the Telephone Company so we get a special rate. Should we do this?" D. L.

A) Your friend has a sound idea. Telephone shares are a very fine investment and since you can get them at a special price, I think you would do well to invest in them. In ten years, when your older son is getting ready for college, you will have invested a total of over $1,700, which supplemented by dividends and market gains, should be enough to give him a pretty good start.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Council Ballot

which would be in the uptown area. He also said that Schwenk's program would not require the demolition of a single high tax assessment property, and that it would be accomplished on a self-liquidating basis.

Alderman James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, Council majority leader, said the administration was much concerned over the off-street parking problem largely because of a continued heavy loss on the city's assessment rolls of important properties, and he felt that the more action was delayed, the more the city would lose.

Of the $290,000 sought, $185,000 would be for acquisition of properties, and $105,000 for construction.

Left with the finance committee was a proposal by Mayor Edwin F. Radel that consideration be given a federal grant of $102,000 made earlier this year to improve the city's sewage disposal system.

The letter noted that since the city's "engineering department is not geared to fully administer such a program, and since the city engineer is temporarily incapacitated, a contract has been drawn between Brinnier and Larios to act in behalf of the city of Kingston on this matter."

Two Are Honored

Another letter from the mayor asked that a silent prayer be offered "in behalf of the late City Historian Joseph F. Sullivan and that was done upon direction of Council President Harold F. Kaye.

In recent years, said the mayor, "Mr. Sullivan has served several administrations conscientiously and efficiently as the official city historian, a title he enjoyed and fulfilled with great effectiveness right up to his untimely death."

A like tribuute was paid to Ben Silverman, of 77 Fairmont Avenue, sealer of weights and measures, who died Tuesday night.

Enjoyed Serving

Four aldermen, due to be replaced, as of January 1, said they enjoyed their experience as aldermen and commended the council, as a whole, for its conscientious effort. They are: James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, majority leader; Samuel J. Perry (R) Fifth Ward, minority leader; Lawrence E. Woerner (D) Fourth Ward, and John P. Heitzman (D) 12th Ward.

Ryan said he had "thoroughly enjoyed' 'his 10 years as an alderman, and he felt that the aldermen had tried to do "the best job they could." Perry said he will miss the council after serving 12 years in it, and he said that despite the "pros and cons." he enjoyed it. He commended Council President Kaye for the assistance he had given. He also commended members of the press and radio, City Clerk Raymond McAndrew, said it had been a pleasure to serve with Ryan as majority leader, and felt his successor, Frank A. Adams would "do a good job."

Alderman Woerner thanked the aldermen for considerations given him personally and to his family, and said he hoped his successor (William P. Slover) would get the same cooperation that he had received in the council.

Heitzman said his two years "had been rewarding" and he felt the people dealt with by the aldermen in the city are generally "real nice people" and he would miss working with them. He said he hoped he had helped a bit and was appreciative of the assistance given him by Council President Kaye and Alderman Ryan. He is to be succeded by John Machione.

Praised by Kaye

Kaye, said he felt the retiring aldermen had done "a wonderful job," and upon his suggestion they were given a standing round of applause.

Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly, in bidding his farewell, said, "I have respect for this legislative body, and I think you have done a sincere job." He noted that he had attended meetings regularly, excepting one regular and one special session, in the past four years, and he hoped the public would become more aware of the work done by the aldermen.

City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew, in a brief statement, commended the aldermen, and wished the best of success to Walter S. Foster, present deputy city clerk, who is to succeed him.

Reminder on Hearing

Ryan reminded the aldermen of the budget hearing scheduled for tonight in the Common Council chamber, city hall.

Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, who heads a special committee dealing with proposed development of downtown caves as fallout shelters, noted that Perkins and Will of White Plains, had been assigned by federal authority to make surveys in a district includingUlster County. Its representatives, he said, would meet soon with committee members. This, he felt, indicates that plans are moving ahead "faster than anticipated."

The firm of Perkins and Will has done work for the local education board.

A report on pending claims, as requested of the corporation counsel was left in committee.

Rotron Company Announces New Vacation Plan

Rotron employes who complete ten years of service with the company will receive three weeks of paid vacation beginning next year, a company announcement said today.

This annotincement, along with three others concerning vacation plan improvements, was made by J. C. vanRijn, Rotron's president, at the company's annual Christmas dinner Saturday night.

van Rijn also announced that employes who previously would have received 2 weeks of paid vacation after 4 years of service, will receive it, starting in 1962, after only 2 years. In addition, employes who, in the future, complete 20 years of service will receive 4 weeks of paid vacation.

In total, 168 present employes will receive longer vacations next year because of the improvements. They were made in keeping with Rotron's policy of improving employes' benefit plans whenever the growth and condition of the company permit.

Rotron recently announced the addition of major medical coverage to its employe benefit plan as well as an increased life insurance benefit.

More Weaving Classes Planned

So popular have the weaving classes by Berta Frey proved at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen under its Adult Education program that it seems no sooner does one class end, then another begins.

Two new classes, one afternoon and one evening, are scheduled to begin January 4 and January 10. Early registration is suggested because Miss Frey, instructor, lecturer, writer and exhibitor, whose work has been internationally shown, has a special teaching technique that is in such demand.

Further details as to the days, hours, etc. may be obtained at the Guild Shop, which reopens Tuesday, Jan. 2, after the usual Christmas week closing, or by a telephone call to Miss Frey. A nominal registration fee is required and pupils pay for the materials involved.

Lancer Firm Probed

NEW YORK (AP)—The attorney general's office reported today it was investigating Lancer Industries Inc., a fallout shelter firm of which Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino once was a director.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office said a complaint against the firm was started by the office's securities bureau.

Unidentified Woman Third Victim

TV Writer, Fireman Perish In Central Park Hotel Fire

NEW YORK (AP) —Two residents and a fireman died early today in a fire on the ninth floor of the 17-story Hotel Mayflower overlooking Central Park.

Two other men—apparently residents—were burned, one of them critically. Seven firemen were burned or overcome by smoke.

No Panic

The guests—many of them in nightclothes—congregated in the lobby. There was no panic. Two of them carried pet canaries from their rooms.

They streamed down to the lobby via stairwells and elevators after the hotel manager pressed a button that sounded an alarm on every floor.

The fire burned out of control for almost an hour. City firemen, called out on two alarms, kept the blaze from spreading from the ninth floor.

An unidentified man, walking past the hotel as the alarm was sounded, heard calls for help and ran inside. He ran through the hotel, pounding on doors and shouting an alarm.

The dead:

Fireman John King, 29, a resident of Commack, Long Island.

Cause Not Determined

Fire officials said the blaze had started in Wyzel's room and spread to the hall. The cause was not immediately determined.

Firemen attached hoses to standpipes on the eighth floor, carried them to the ninth and trained them on the hall door. The door gave way and flames burst at the firemen. Two fire lieutenants were burned. Two firemen were knocked out by dense smoke pouring from the hall.

Revived Retriever

CUTLER, Maine (AP)—As a Coast Guardman, Chief Boatswain's Mate Ken Ashby knows how to apply artificial respiration on human beings. He had never tried it on a dog, but he thought it was worth a try when his pet Labrador retriever fell into the water and apparently drowned.

Ashby placed the dog's body on an oil barrel and gently rolled the barrel back and forth. The dog was fully revived in an hour.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's gotten so that if an American president stayed home he'd look like a snob.

In the past 11 months President Kennedy has received at least 30 visits from foreign heads of state and prime ministers, plus scores of ambassadors, and has made several foreign visits himself.

Four Good Reasons

There are four good reasons for this back-and-forth business:

Truly fast travel; end of isolationism and new, close ties with other countries; abandonment of the idea that only a president's subordinates should dabble in diplomacy and Premier Khrushchev himself.

It would have taken President James Madison about 2½ months—allowing two weeks for a look-around—if he had wanted to visit the 1815 Congress of Vienna in those days of sail and coach.

That would be too long for any president to be away. But Kennedy could get to Vienna now in less than 11 hours by jet.

Once this country moved out of its historic isolation—with World War II—it began moving in the exact opposite direction. Now it is tied to nations around the world by military alliances and foreign aid.

Community Interest

This has created a community interest which this country never shared in before and makes it natural for all the big wigs involved to visit one another and talk shop.

In the long history of American isolationism it was routine for American presidents — with the brief exception of Wilson and until Franklin D. Roosevelt—to stay home and let their secretaries of state and ambassadors do the direct dealing with other governments.

There was no reason why they shouldn't have stayed home: the United States' policy was to be aloof.

The war ended that. The British and Russian foreign secretaries were nobodies in the wake of Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin. Time was short, events momentous. So Roosevelt dealt with them in person.

All Tied to Nik

He made some memorable trips abroad to do so. President Harry S. Truman began the foundation of military alliances and foreign aid which President Dwight D. Eisenhower inherited. This led in time to exchange of visits, but for one particular reason above all.

Premier Khrushchev made personal diplomacy a way of life for a head of government. He said the foreign ministers were messenger boys, who could handle the grimy details after the top men made agreements.

But, he said, only the top men could get things done. Eisenhower would have looked negative or self-conscious if he had refused to meet the Russian.

Wasn't Failure Though

The fact that his summit meeting with Khrushchev produced no successes has beeen pointed to by those who want a return to the stodgy diplomacy of the past as a reason why presidents should stay home.

But that summit meeting can't be called a failure. It would have beeen amazing if, in one brief meeting, the world's ills could have beeen healed.

So far Kennedy, who met Khrushchev in Vienna last June, has not had to go into lengthy negotiations on any of his foreign trips. No doubt he will in time.

That he will continue to make visits abroad—given new times and new problems—seems inevitable.

Dean Rusk in 1960, which was before he became Kennedy's secretary of state, took a dim view of personal negotiations or summit meetings by a president. He suggested the job should be done by professionals.

To Do Own Talking

Kennedy, who dominates both Rusk and American foreign policy seems to think differently. He doesn't act like a man who wants someone else to do his talking for him.

And, since his visitors would still continue to pour on him, he'd have to return some of them with trips abroad, even if he didn't negotiate at all.

7 Banks Maintain Holding Company Would Not Hurt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government approval of a plan to form the largest bank holding company in America will meet a demand for increased services in New York State without lessening competition, seven banks maintain.

The Morgan New York State Corp., the proposed holding company said in a memorandum filed with the Federal Reserve Board that present banking arrangements were inadequate to attract new industry to the state, to provide capital and to precess loan applications swiftly.

These arguments were in a 16-page statement by corporation president John M. Meyer Jr. In the statement, made public Tuesday, Meyer took issue with testimony Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., gave at a hearing on the plan.

$6 Billion Assets

"Economic cannibalism" was a term used by Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, in referring to the proposed holding company, which would have assets in excess of $6 billion.

The holding company would comprise the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York City; Lincoln Rochester Trust Co., Rochester; Manufacturers and Traders Trust Co., Buffalo; The National Commercial Bank and Trust Co. of Albany; First Trust Deposit Co., Syracuse; the Oneida National Bank and Trust Co. of Central New York, Utica, and the First-City National Bank of Binghamton.

Seen As Error

"A flagrant example of an error," Meyer said, "is his (Celler's) insistence upon placing all assets of Broome County offices of Marine Midland in Elmira so as to claim a concentration for First-City National of 92.6 per cent in Binghamton."

Reed H. Albig, president of the Independent Bankers Association and the National Bank of McKeesport, Pa., said in a supplementary statement that approval of the holding company would set off a chain reaction of bank mergers in other states. In New York State, he said, a handful of banks eventually would control all financial activity.

Customer Comes First

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A robber held up a supermarket here but didn't get all the money he had intended to take.

He demanded the money from store manager J. S. Presley who started to sack it up. But a woman who was paying for her purchases objected. She wanted her change, she said, "before he takes it all."

She got it.

Albany, Lake George Banks Plan Merger

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The State Bank of Albany and the First National Bank of Lake George have voted to merge.

Directors of the Albany bank, which has resources of $469 million, and the Lake George bank, with $4,616,000 voted to merge Tuesday.

Stockholders of both banks, the state superintendent of banks and the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System must also approve.

American Beauty Contest Launched By Massachusetts

Young ladies over 16-years of age are eligible to enter the 1962 American Beauty Contest, a highlight of the 13th Annual Western Massachusetts flower Show. This was announced today by Richard Simard of Aldenville, president of the Connecticut Valley Horticultural Society sponsor of the floral spectacular which will be held at the Better Living Center, Eastern States Exposition Park, West Springfield, Mass, Feb. 21 to 27, 1962.

This marks the 11th successive year of the American Beauty Contest at the Flower Show. A suitable crown of flowers, plus an all-expense-paid trip to Bermuda for two will go to the winner selected by a panel of three judges. The winner will be announced Tuesday evening, Feb. 27, a fitting climax to the seven-day Flower Show which officially heralds spring in Western Massachusetts.

Entry blanks may be secured from any florist in Western Massachusetts, members of the Connecticut Valley Horticultural Society, or directly from the Flower Show Office, 495 Union Street, Springfield.

Assisting Mr. Simard planning the 1962 Flower Show are the officers of the Horticultural Society — Vice-President John B. Small Jr., of Springfield; Secretary James A. Denver, Springfield; Treasurer Paul A. Cantin, Easthampton; the board of directors of the Society and General Manager Albert Appleman.

Mrs. Simon Honored

NEW YORK — Secretary of State Caroline K. Simon has received an "Outstanding Citizenship Award" from the American Heritage Foundation for her work toward modernization of election laws. Among her most recent recommendations, Mrs. Simon proposed that the privilege of absentee ballot be extended to persons on vacations. The Secretary of State made her recommendations to the Joint Legislative Committee to study Election Law and Related Statutes. Mrs. Somon also suggested that the residency requirements be reduced for newcomers to the State for voting in presidential elections, providing they had qualified to vote in the state in which they formerly resided

ENTERTAINING HER ABSENT FRIEND'S HUSBAND

Q: A friend of mine is in a sanitarium recuperating from a nervous breakdown. She has been there a month and will be there at least another month. Her husband, who is also a good friend, is very lonesome and has asked me to go out to dinner with him some night. I am very sorry for him and can appreciate how he feels and would like to help in whatever way I can. Would it be proper for me to accept his invitation to dine with him? I am single and live at home with my mother.

A: It would be a mistake to be seen dining in a public restaurant with your absent friend's husband and will almost certainly cause unpleasant gossip. Why not invite him to dine with you and your mother at your house? This will be entirely proper and could certainly cause no criticism.

Bookplates Showing Joint Ownership

Q: On bookplates to be given to a man friend as a gift, should the name appear as John Smith or, considering that he is married and the books are jointly owned, should it be John and Mary Smith, J. and M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, or what?

A: The names on the bookplates should be John and Mary Smith.

Prefers To Be Called "Mom"

Q: My son, and only child, was married six months ago. As I always wanted a daughter I am so very happy over this marriage and have the deepest love for my daughter-in-law who is a very lovely person. However, I have one complaint and that is that she calls me by my first name. This hurts me very much. I would like to know how I can tactfully tell her that I do not like being called by my first name and ask her to call me "Mom" as my son does.

A: Explain to her how much you have always wanted a daughter and the pleasure it would give you to have her call you "Mom."

We Appreciate Your Patience

During the hub-bub of the wonderful Christmas Gift Buying Season just past, we became aware of several of our shortcomings. Your marvelous response to our varied gift selections caused us at times to get a little behind in our usually prompt free delivery service; our usually prompt free gift wrapping service . . . and, at times, we may have seemed abrupt while waiting on you at the store or perhaps giving not-too-complete answers to your telephone queries.

Please understand and bear with us through such periods. Your splendid patronage is one blessing for which we are very thankful and do not wish to jeopardize in any way. If during the Christmas season, you thought us lacking in any of our usually prompt services that we ordinarily offer you, we appreciate your patience and realization that the increased buying pressure at that time caused us to tax our facilities to the fullest.

Thanks again for your understanding, patience and loyal patronage.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Make Your Sympathy Constructive in Nature

Dear Mrs. Lawrence: Our daughter's husband hasn't worked for five months. He has never been able to hold a steady job. We have been giving money to our daughter because we don't want to see her and our two dear little grandchildren suffer.

We are worried because we are retired and are using up our savings. What makes her father angry is that she won't tell her husband about taking money from us. She says it would hurt his pride . . .

Answer: In the old days parents said to children in your daughter's situation, "You made your bed. Now lie in it."

This attitude had some value. By refusing to make a child's uncomfortable bed easy to lie on, they faced the child with the truth of its bumpy mattress and broken springs.

We can improve on the value of this old attitude.

We can offer your daughter the means by which she herself can get up from this uncomfortable martial situation. Instead of giving her money to maintain it, let's offer her to pay for a course in stenogrphy that will enable her to earn her own.

Let's offer to look after the babies while she is learning, and, later, working. But let's stop trying to make tolerable for her a bed whose intolerableness she has a right to be feeling.

You see when we feel sympathetic toward anyone dependent on us, he tends to interpret our sympathy as a promise of continued support. The sorrier we show ourselves to be for him the surer he becomes that he can expect to go on leaning upon us.

As there are limits to what we can do for him, the sympathy is unfair to him. So, if we love him we tell him the truth..

We face him with the limits of what we can do for him and, as I have suggested, try to open his eyes to ways by which he can help himself.

Your daughter may at first resent suggestions that she herself must take action on her problem. But not for long, I think. The probability is that she herself knows it and has been waiting for someone to clarify her awareness of what she knows.

If we regard a child's marriage as a poor one, we have no right to impose that opinion on him But we have every right to hold it ourselves.

The more certain we are of our right to dislike it, the less critical we become, the less we need to make the resentful and hurting remarks that rally the mismated child's defensiveness. This is always unfortunate.

All our criticism does is to drive him to hide in unhappiness from himself — and the energies he should be using to improve his uncomfortable lot are diverted to pretending that he like it.

Secretaries Enjoy Annual Yule Party

The December dinner-meeting and Christmas party was held recently by the Kingston-Poughkeepsie Chapter of the National Secretaries Association at Broglios'.

After a short business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Gloria Starling, president, the traditional carol singing, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson Dayger and led by Mrs. Walter von der Bent and Mrs. Croswell Sheeley, opened the program. Mrs. Charles Osterhoudt added to the festivities of the evening by playing the role of Santa Claus, distributing the exchange gifts from a decorated chimney. Miss Margaret Zilnik also played a Santa role, collecting from the members, gifts for patients at the Ulster County Infirmary. In addition, each attendee received a collection of holiday season booklets, plus a Christmas ball decorated especially for the secretary. Under the direction of Mrs. James Kelly, the evening was highlighted with the presentation of a special program "Presents Under the Tree." Dressed as Hawaiian dolls, Mrs. Frank Perry, Mrs. Michael Carlo and Miss Blanche Cartier performed a Hawaiian Cha-Cha. A gift of jewels—a pearl from 1925—was presented in the form of a Charleston performed by Mrs. Christopher Starling, costumed for the dance. In addition, Mrs. Kelly performed a solo tap and was later joined by Mrs. Starling for an interpretation of a waltz-clog. The program ended with the wishes of the officers and committees to all in the form of a solo by Miss Lillian M. Styles, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

The next meeting of the Association will be held on January 15 at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel. At this meeting, the annual visitation will be made by the Division officers. A special program, "This Is Our Life," is being prepared and details will be announced later.

Saugerties, Albany Academy Win Tourney Cage Contests

Clubs to Collide Thursday Night ForChampionship

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

It will be Saugerties again Albany Academy for the championship of the third annual Sawyer cage tourney on Thursday and the host team is favored to make it three straight titles.

Coach Bud Smith's defending DCSL champions moved to a big lead in the first period and then struggled to a 49-46 verdict over Middletown last night in the feature game of a twinbill. In the first tilt, Neil Murray's foul shot in the final three seconds enabled Albany Academy to nip Cairo Central, 36-35.

Cairo will play the Middies in the 7 p. m. consolation game on Thursday and then Saugerties and Albany will meet in their title test. Off the performances last night, the Sawyers rule as the favorites.

Getting good performances from Al Hrdlicka and Mike Dodig, the Sawyers led all the way. Each time the Middies came close, either Hrdlicka or Dodig would do the scoring or rugged Bill Schirmer would pluck the backboards clean. Middletown didn't get more than one shot at a time very often. The DUSO League club made a big bid in the final five minutes of play and Saugerties leading, 42-35.

A Late Rally

Big Billy Gray put in a pair of free throws and then Keith Mills hooked a deuce for the winners. Gray then tallied six straight points, tapping in a rebound, sinking a side one-hander and driving in for a layup. This sliced the margin to a point, 44-43, with 3:06 remaining.

The Sawyers rose to the occasion. Dodig swished a jumper from behind the foul line. After George Cline hit for the visitors, Mills scored from underneath to zoom the margin to four points, 48-44. This stopped the Middie bid.

Hrdlicka and Mills had 13 points while Dodig scored 12 to pace the Sawyers. Grey rimmed 18 for Middletown but he was almost useless off the boards. Schirmer outrebounded him most of the time.

Murray's free throw ended the opening tilt just when it appeared Cairo might pull it out after a stirring second half comeback. The upstaters led most of the way but almost blew the game in the final stages.

This was a sloppy game with both sides taking turns throwing the ball away and committing frequent violations.

Three of Top Ten Teams Await Ohio State Invasion

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mighty Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 college basketball team, heads into the Los Angeles Classic tonight—the biggest challenge it is likely to encounter until the postseason tournaments.

Waiting for the Jerry Lucas-led Buckeyes are three of the top 10 teams in the country: Southern California, Purdue and West Virginia. A capable Utah team form the principal opposition for all-winning Ohio State.

The Buckeyes take on Washington in first-round play in the classic, one of the most important of the holiday tournaments. Also kicking off tonight are the Big Eight affair in Kansas City and the Far West in Portland, Ore.

The last two first-round games in the All-College tourney at Oklahoma City also are on tap. The survivors of first-round action in the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York and the Quaker City in Philadelphia take the day off.

First-round play in three major tournaments Tuesday night—the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York, the Quaker City in Philadelphia and the All-College in Oklahoma City—produced some mild upsets but generally went according to form.

Two previously unbeaten teams, Cornell and New York University, were eliminated from the exclusive list. NYU now 6-11 before unbeaten Dayton (7-0) 75-67 in Holiday Festival first-round match while Bradley (6-2) stopped touring Cornell's winning streak at six with a 85-59 trouncing of the Big Red in a nontourney game.

Second-ranked Cincinnati had no trouble eliminating St. John's (N.Y.) 97-68, Wisconsin handed slumping Providence its third straight loss, 95-84 and LaSalle toyed with Dartmouth 87-66 in other Holiday Festival games.

The semifinal pairings Thursday have LaSalle (5-1) vs. defending NCAA champion Cincinnati (7-1) and unbeaten Dayton (7-0) vs. Wisconsin (5-2).

In Philadelphia, Villanova and Duquesne retained unbeaten records with easy first-round victories and will meet in a semifinal match Thursday. Villanova crushed Niagara 72-45 while third-ranked Duquesne bombed Wyoming 64-47.

In other Quaker City first-round matches Penn tumbled Holy Cross 73-64 and Iowa stopped Penn 67-48.

Thursday semis pit Villanova (9-0) and the powerful Duquesne Dukes (7-0) and Penn (5-1) goes against Iowa (5-2).

Houston came from behind and beat Texas Christian 82-76 and Utah State took Oklahoma City 80-71 in first-round games in the All-College. Seattle puts its 5-0 record on the line against Bowling Green (5-1) and eighth-ranked Wichita (8-1) meets Texas A&M (4-2) in other first rounders tonight.

Aussies Sweep Italy To Capture Davis Cup

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—A team as hot as the sun that blistered the Kooyong Stadium courts for two days clinched Australia's 10th Davis Cup tennnis championship in 12 years today, sweeping the doubles for a 3-0 lead over challenger Italy without loss of a set.

The Australian pair of Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson routed Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 for the clincher before a crowd of about 9,000, who chanced the near 100 degree temperatures to be in on the kill of the Italians for the second straight year.

There was about as much tension to the doubles match as Tuesday's singles—also straight set romps in which Emerson turned back Pietrangeli 8-6, 6-4, 6-0 and Australian ace Rod Laver disposed of Sirola 6-1, 6-4, 6-3.

The sweep reduced Thursday's closing singles matches to formalities and proved again that the Italians are far from Australia's class when it comes to playing on grass courts.

Coupled with a mid-summer heat wave that today shot the mercury to 96 in the shade and an estimated 110 at courtside, the surface handicap and the exceptionally steady play of the Australian team was too much to overcome.

The Italians, who eliminated the United States the last two years to reach the challenge round, scored only one service break against Emerson and the veteran Fraser.

Passing Attack Gives Mississippi Edge

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Mississippi is favored to win the Cotton Bowl game next Monday because of a passing attack that ranked No. 2 in the nation.

Texas generally is conceded to be superior on the ground but while its touchdown output there was more than Mississippi the margin wasn't as wide as Mississippi's in the air.

The Rebels threw for 19 touchdowns compared to 11 for Texas. They also averaged 182.7 yards per game along the air lanes, which is more than twice as much as Texas held its opponents to. The Texas defense yielded 85.9.

Plastic Boats Will Dominate New York Show

NEW YORK — Fifty per cent of the boats to be displayed during the 52nd Annual National Motor Boat Show at the New York Coliseum, January 10-21, will be made of plastic materials. The percentage gives some idea of the strides made by fiberglass boat builders since the first plastice pleasure craft was designed in 1942.

There were 16,000 fiberglass boats built in 1954. That total is a drop in the bucket to the 157,000 plastic boats built in 1961. Experts predict there will be eight million outboard-powered pleasure crafts in the United States by 1965. Boat builders are insisting plastic will play an ever increasing role in boat construction circles.

"Upwards of 90 million pounds of plastic, produced by Allied Chemical and others, was used by boat manufacturers in 1961," says Abner Crosby of Midwestern Industries, Harlan, Indiana. Midwestern Industries is one of the nation's top producers of custom made fiberglass boats. "Most everyone concedes the total amount of plastic to be used in 1962 will be considerably higher.

"The biggest single plastic material used is polyester resin," says Crosby. "Though this is true, many other plastics are finding applications aboard pleasure crafts."

"The use of plastic is becoming more popular because the materials are economical and often replace assemblies that formerly required many more parts," explains Crosby

Some of the other plastic materials include: nylon, polyethylene, polypropylene, vinyls, urethane foam and acrylics

"Nylon," says Crosby, "is used in a number of different ways. Chiefly, however, as covering for control cables, pulleys, sheaves, gears and bearings.

Giant Cripples Back in Shape

NEW YORK (AP) — The team's three cripples — halfback Alex Webster, end Joe Walton and tackle Roosevelt Brown — were back in action when the New York Giants resumed workouts Tuesday for next Sunday's National Football League title game at Green Bay.

"It's too early to tell whether they'll be able to go full speed," said Coach Allie Sherman. "I am hopeful they'll be okay. We'll need all the offensive punch we can get."

All three of the injured players are members of the offensive unit. Webster suffered a pulled groin muscle and Walton strained a leg muscle against Philadelphia Dec. 10. Brown has been playing a month with a bad knee.

"If we're to reverse those two losses to the Packers (20-17 in an exhibition game and 20-17 later in a regular season contest), we're going to have to control the ball," Sherman added. "They have a hard-hitting attack."

The Giants, idle over the Christmas holidays, worked out at Yankee Stadium Tuesday afternoon. Morning drills are scheduled Wednesday, Thursday and Friday before the team takes off from LaGuardia Airport at 1 p. m. Friday by chartered plane.

The game between the Eastern and West Division champions of the NFL is scheduled to start at 1 p. m. CST (2 p. m. EST) in Green Bay's City Stadium. The Packers rule a 2½ point favorite.

Wallkill and Cornwall Win Holiday Contests

New Paltz Cage Tourney Slated ToBeginTonight

Action in the first annual New Paltz Central school cage tournament is slated to start tonight at the Huguenot gym. In the 7 p. m. opener, Valley Central of the Orange County league will meet Red Hook, a small school DCSL participant.

In the 8:30 tilt, the host school will play Roosevelt Central, the favorite to annex DCSL laurels. Losers of the two tilts will play Friday for third place with the championship tilt slated the same evening at 8:30 p. m.

Roosevelt looms as the tourney choice. The Presidents have lost only to Poughkeepsie while annexing wins over Dover Plains, Arlington, Highland and Wappingers Falls. Wes Bialosuknia, a 6-3 junior, is the top cager for the Hyde Park school.

Cornwall High and Wallkill Central collected 58 points each to win opening games in the Monroe-Woodbury Christmas Holiday tournament Tuesday night.

Cornwall overpowered Pine Bush, 58-18, while Wallkill toppled host Monroe-Woodbury, 58-48, with a steady display of power. The winners meet for championship Thursday night.

Eleven of the 12 Cornwall players scored against Pine Bush. The losers never had more than seven points in a quarter—the last one—as Cornwall showed steady power with quarter scoring of 13-13-15-17.

Bob Murphy paced Cornwall with 9 points and Jerry Gorton added 7. Two Pine Bush players—Bob Leonhardy and Dean Weed hit 4 points apiece.

Wallkill got a 19-point performance from Ed Mooney to build up a 25-17 halftime lead over Monroe. The teams battled on nearly even terms after the intermission.

Dave Myers contributed 12 points and Doug Edebohles 10 to the Wallkill total. Jerry Johnson bucketed 16 and Demarest and Tom Mutscheller had 11 apiece for the losers.

Associated Press Sports Writer

Unbeaten Ohio State was a unanimous choice today for the No. 1 position in The Associated Press major college basketball poll.

Winner of their first seven games by margins of from 13 to 43 points, the Buckeyes continued to dominate the voting among a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters. They received all the 42 ballots cast for first place.

Cincinnati, the national collegiate—NCAA—champion, held on to second despite a 52-51 loss to Wichita, but the rest of the standings underwent considerable change.

Newcomers to the standings were Wichita, which followed up its victory over Cincinnati with a 60-48 rout of Santa Clara; Kentucky, 80-67 winner over Kansas State, and Duke, winner over West Virginia 69-65.

Ousted were Providence, which fell all the way from third place to the also-ran category after dropping decisiions at DePaul and Xavier of Ohio; ninth-place St. Bonaventure, beaten 74-57 by Duquesne, and Seattle and Arizona State, which had been tied for tenth.

The poll included games through Monday but none of the post-Christmas tournament action.

Ray's Tackle, Byrne Chevies Stay Undefeated in 'Y' League

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Elsewhere on the sports page is chronicled the selection of Y. A. Tittle as winner of the Jim Thorpe Trophy, highest individual award in professional football.

There is little argument with the naming of Tittle. He literally came back from the dead to spark the Giants into the Eastern Division title and may well catapult the New Yorkers into the league title Sunday at Green Bay. It is a poignant tale beautifully written by Murray Olderman, who instituted the Player of the Year Thorpe award for NEA.

We emphasize this merely to point out that all-league and all-star selections in pro football are not easily come by. By all standards, Monty Stickles had a great season with the San Francisco 49ers, but not good enough to make any of the four teams picked by his NFL mates. He closed out the season with 50 catches, quite an improvement over the 22 he nabbed during his rookie season. Monty missed the tenth spot in NFL pass receiving ratings by just three passes. A year from now, the big, lantern-jawed ex- Poughkeepsie High school athletic great could go all the way.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Harry Gayson tells succinctly in one line why the pros have pretty much taken over football wherever it is played: "The owners are selling a tremendous commodity-violence in a big betting game" . . . We have asked Bill Dixon, proprietor of the Irvington in Woodstock, and Eddie Logan, mixoligist at Salvucci's, to name their all-time picks in each of the major boxing categories. The contrasts and the comments should be interesting. Both are highly qualified to talk on the subject of boxing. . . The Baseball Hall of Fame game at Doubleday Field in Cooperstown on Monday, July 23, is expected to attract an all-time high of 10,000 spectators. That's easy to figure out when you learn the featured teams are the New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Braves. Requests for tickets should be directed to the Cooperstown Baseball Committee. All seats are reserved on a first come, first-served basis.

• Bowling Average Down Slightly:

The average of the American Bowling Congress' more than 4 million members has dropped slightly in the six years since the last such survey was made. The average Congress members last season held an average of 153.968, less than a point below the national average for the 1953-54 season. The survey shows that 155 is the midpoint, with just as many bowlers above that average as below. The ABC is not unhappy about the slight dip. "We are confident the very slight drop in average really reflects an overall growth in bowling excellence in the six years since the previous survey," said Albert R. Matzelle, assistant secretary of the ABC, who headed the survey. "In those six years our membership more than doubled. We have to assume that a large percentage of these bowlers are, or have been, in the lower average ranges because they have been bowling a relatively short time." The survey drew an amazing response of 43 percent of all Congress members, or a total of 1,830,911 actual reported averages.

• Changes at Wiltwyck:

At it's recent general meeting, Wiltwyck Country Club eliminated the non-resident membership classification, changed the date of the annual meeting and fixed a new fical year. Of major significance was a decision to give the board of directors of the golf club the authority to levy assessments when deemed necessary and in the best interests of the club. The other changes are self explanitory. Annual meeting date was set as the first Wednesday in November and the fiscal year from Oct. 1 to September 30, thereby assuring a complete yearly report at the annual membership meeting. As might be expected, the assessment proposal was not unanimously carried, but there was a substantial majority in favor of it, indicating that Wiltwyck members are genuinely concerned that every precaution be taken to insure a stable future for the club. Following the pattern of the past few years, the golf game will continue to boom in the Ulster county area. Enlightened leadership is the most valuble asset any club can possess in the pressure-packed period ahead. It is a commodity not always readily available, as many golf clubs have learned the hard way.

Drake Quintet Is Favored In Queen City Cage Tourney

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Drake University's towering basketball team was rated a slight favorite to sweep the honors in the eighth annnual Queen City Tournament which gets under way here Thursday.

The fast-breaking Bulldogs from Des Moines will get things going in the opener against St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium. The second game pits host Canisius against once-beaten Cornell University.

The consolation and final rounds will be played Saturday.

Drake, the defending tournament champion, sends three men averaging six-foot-eight into the forecourt. The tallest is center Larry Prins at 6-10. Then comes forwards Ray Quinn at 6-8, and Marv Torrence at 6-6.

It was the first unit's "Little Man" Bill Hahn who sent a jump shot from the corner at the buzzer to give the Bulldogs a 79-77 title victory over Canisius. Hahn is an even six.

Cornell's shuffling offense was dealt its first setback in seven games Tuesday night as the Bradley Braves piled up an 85-59 victory at Peoria. Canisius has lost once in four games, while Drake and St. Joseph's have a 4- 2record.

The Big Red offense is keyed on the screening pivotman whose return passing is intended to produce more frequent closein shots. Canisius also uses a patterned offense, designed to get the ball inside to Bill O'Connor, a slick-shooting junior with a 25.5 average.

Both Drake and the Hawks from Philadelphia rely on error-provoking defenses in an effort to ignite fast-break situations.

Canisius, three-time winner and twice runner-up in the mid-season tournament, may be hard-pressed to make its sixth appearance in the finals.

A CHANGE in the format for the closing position round of the 1962 BPAA All Star tournament, booked for January 3-13 in the Miami Beach, Fla., Convention Hall has been made by the BPAA Tournament Committee.

Going into the position round, the bowlers will drop their Petersen Point totals and clash in three-game matches, the winner on a total pinfall basis taking the position leadership.

For example, the men in first and second place at the end of the 15th round will meet in the three-game match, the winner on pinfall capturing the All-Star crown. Those bowlers standing third and fourth will meet, the winner on pinfall taking third place, and so on. This also will apply in the women's competition.

It had originally been announced that these position round meetings would be decided on a best two-of-three game basis.

Don Savage Dies; Was Ex-Yankee

MONTCLAIR, N. J. (AP)—Donald A. Savage, former third baseman and outfielder for the New York Yankees, died Monday night at Mountainside Hospital after a year-long illness. He was 42.

Savage played for the Yankees during the wartime years of 1944 and 1945. The following year he was with the Newark Bears of the International League. He quit baseball in 1947 after aggravating a knee injury that plagued him since his sophomore year on the Bloomfield High School football team.

Savage also had a history of diabetes, which caused him to miss the 1942 baseball season.

Game's Highest Honor

NFL Players Pick Y.A. Tittle As Jim Thorpe Trophy Winner

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The most valuable player in the National Football League and the recipient of the seventh annual Jim Thorpe Memorial Trophy is Yelberton Abraham Tittle, Jr., the remarkable quarterback of the New York Giants.

The trophy, donated by A. G. Spalding & Bros., will be presented to Tittle on the pre-championship game show Dec. 31 on NBC-TV.

A poll conducted by Newspaper Enterprise Association of all the players on the 14 teams in the NFL acclaimed the Bald Eagle as the outstanding performer of 1961, the man who did most for his team and who best represented professional football.

But on the evening of Aug. 18, at 6 o'clock, in the lobby of the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles, a bald man of 35, with mournful deepest eyes stood forlornly, hoping someone on the Giants would ask him to dinner.

No one did.

So he walked a couple of blocks down Wilshire Boulevard to the restaurant where the doorman had told him some players had gone, saw six Giants and a chair and apologetically asked if he could sit down.

Now, on the night of Dec. 19, at Jim Downey's Restaurant on Eighth Avenue in New York, the Giants gathered to celebrate the winning of the Eastern Division championship. And when all the pretty little speeches and tributes had been made, a spontaneous clamor went up around the room:

"Y.A. . . . Y.A. . . . Y.A."

The same bald man, the eyes now sparkling mistily, got up and told them about "the greatest year in my life."

He did it humorously and softly, for Y.A.—or Yat, as some of the guys call him—is a modest, gentle man who works hard to control his emotions.

He doesn't always succeed. When he called his wife, Minette, in California, to tell her the Giants had won, she started crying. Y.A. cried, too. Four minutes later the operator interrupted, "Your ti-yime is up."

On the field, Tittle becomes effusive and aggressive. Without him the Giants wouldn't be playing for the NFL title in Green Bay Dec. 31. He came to them a worn traveler of 13 years in professional football, spanning two leagues and loss of the curly locks he had at Louisiana State

The day the San Francisco Forty Niners told him in training camp, at Saint Mary's College, he was traded, Tittle drove his car home to Atherton, across the Bay, and contemplated his future. He had a thriving insurance business, three children and a comfortable home. Only three men in history—Sammy Baugh, Bobby Layne and Norm Van Brocklin—had completed more passes (Y.A. is on the verge of passing Van now).

"I made up my mind," he confesses, "to quit Till I got home. My mother-in-law agreed to stay with the kids so my wife could get to New York for a month."

On that slender thread he stayed in football. Still nagging him was the fact he had never played on a winner. He hurt his back on his first play as a Giant and was out a month. The Giants lost their opener without him. He relieved the veteran Charley Conerly against Pittsburgh in the second outing and won the game. From that point on, the Giants took off.

It wasn't easy on Tittle. He had to learn a new system, with its complicated checkoffs and different numbering. The change still plagues him.

But as backfield coach Don Heinrich points out, "Y.A. was the difference."

Paul Brown adds, "In football, the quarterback is the point of the spear. The Giants got that point with Tittle."

Previous winners of the award were Harlon Hill (Chicago), Frank Gifford (New York), John Unitas (Baltimore), Jim Brown, Conerly and Van Brocklin.

The Jim Thorpe Memorial Trophy is football's highest award.

Bowling Proprietors Slate Giant Score Awards Program

A giant new high score awards program has been announced by the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America.

The BPAA's new program, which originated with the Promotion Committee and is being administered by the Tournament Committee, includes awards for high scores achieved in the BPAA National Tournaments as well as in those events which are conducted by affiliated local, district and state proprietors' associations across the country.

The awards will be offered at no cost to all proprietors' association tournaments. Tournaments which will offer these awards will display the BPAA Approved Tournament seal on their entry forms and posters.

The rich awards will be for both men and women, with exclusive jewelry and trophy designs in 46 different styles included in the array.

Awards for men will be for 300, 299 and 298 games, and for three-game series of 800 or better and will be in the form of diamond rings, wrist watches, lapel pins, tie pins, tie bars, belt-and-buckle sets, money clips and trophies. Bowlers will have their choice of the items in each award category and they also will receive attractive arm patches.

For the women the BPAA has designed awards for 300, 299, 298 and 275-or-over games and for three-game series of 700 or better. The bowlerettes will have their choice of diamond rings, bracelets, lapel pins, wrist watches and trophies and they, too, will also receive arm patches as part of the award.

Late Picks Arrive For Blue-Gray Game

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Two hurry-up additions to the Blue-Gray rosters were expected to arrive in time for practice today, just three days before the 23rd annual all-star football game.

Officials announced signing of end Tom Smith of Florida for the South and halfback Mike McClellan of Oklahoma for the North.

They will fill in for a pair of gridders injured in practice sessions that began Saturday.

Home Ice Best For Quebec Aces

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Home is sweet for the Quebec Aces, who consider the road something else again.

Still winless away from Quebec, the Aces ran thei rwinning streak to five and their overall mark on home ice to 13-6 Tuesday night, beating Pittsburgh 4-2 in the American Hockey League's only game.

Once again it was the two Michels —Harvey and Labadie — who led the way for the Aces. Michel Harvey, who has scored seven goals in his last four home games to jump into the league's top ten scorers, and wing mate Michel Labadie each scored a goal to go with singles by Frank Martin and Jean-Marie Cossette.

The Aces took a 3-1 lead in the first period and stayed in command, although both teams skated hard throughout and the goalies were pressed. Quebec's Charley Hodge made 26 saves and Gerry McNamara made 22 for the Hornets.

The loss was the 23rd against only five victories and a tie for Pittsburgh, buried in the AHL's Western Division cellar. Quebec, last in the Eastern Division, climbed to within six points of third place Providence.

Offensive Line Is What Makes Packers Click

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—What makes the Green Bay Packers run?

Manning the three prime posts for the Packers are all-pro center Jim Ringo and guards Fred Thurston and Forrest Gregg. They anchored the line that helped the Packers to their second straight Western Division crown and into Sunday's National Football League clash here with the New York Giants.

At the Green Bay-New York meeting in Milwaukee on Dec. 3 the Packers took a 20-17 victory and clinched their division title. The Packers rolled up 16 first downs on the ground to 4 for New York. They gained 270 yards rushing to 69 for the Giants. The Packers added 145 yards passing for a total gain of 415 yards. New York passed for 210 yards and a total of 279.

Ringo is the best center in the league, Austin said, because "he's quick and smart."

Thurston, at 250 pounds, has amazing speed for a big man. Gregg, a 240-pounder, is an all-pro tackle, but shifted to the guard spot when Jerry Kramer was lost for the season with an ankle injury.

Playing the tackles are Norm Masters and Bob Skoronski, a pair of 250-pounders.

Against the Giants, the Packer line time and time again cleared wide routes for fullback Jim Taylor. He responded with his greatest game, running for 186 yards in 28 carries.

Coaches Predict Rugged Football In Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The Rose Bowl game, patriarch of all post-season bowl games, promises to be a display of "stone age football," in its 48th renewal on New Year's Day.

This was, more or less, the admission Tuesday of the two coaches embroiled in the Pasadena classic, Murray Warmath of favored Minnesota and Bill Barnes of UCLA.

Appearing at the dedication of the new $356,000 Rose Bowl press box, those two proteges of the University of Tennesseee's famed football purist, Gen. Bob Neyland, predicted a slam-bang game free of gridiron chicanery.

There may have been more truth than tongue-in-cheek when Barnes told more than 100 football experts of varying pedigrees:

"We don't have any secrets but I know that this will be a tremendous football game. We hope our stone age football pays off. . ."

Warmath said his Gophers have tried a few new "little knicknacks," but added: "What we have been doing all season got us here and that's what we hope will sustain us next Monday."

40-0 Prediction Stir Folks in Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —A "forty-to-nothing by halftime" prediction has given the underdog Colorado football team unexpected ammunition to use against Louisiana State.

Coach Paul Dietzel, who brought his fourth-ranked LSU Tigers to town Tuesday, winced at the psychological warfare weapon Colorado has found in preparations for Monday's Orange Bowl game.

A New Orleans newspaper was quoted here as saying "Louisiana State will not embarrass the Orange Bowl Committee by winning by more than 40 points." It continued by saying the early kickoff would permit television viewers (ABC-TV) to see LSU run up a 40-0 halftime count before they switched to other games.

Dietzel battled to maintain his poise and choke back the words on the "40-0 story."

"I don't think we have any advantages in the build-up to this game," he said later. Dietzel referred unhappily to the fact LSU was favored. "Colorado has all the advantages going for it," he added.

Nicklaus Turns Pro in LA Golf

LOS ANGELES (AP)—National amateur golf champion Jackie Nicklaus is turning pro to play in the $50,000 Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

This announcement came Tuesday from the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the tourney Jan. 4-8.

Nicklaus, an Ohio State University student, is known for his distance driving. He won the U.S. amateur twice.

Also turning pro for the Los Angeles tourney is Duff Lawrence, California Open champion.

Brown, Moore Are Rated Tops Among Boxers

NEW YORK (AP) — Lightweight champion Joe Brown and featherweight king Davey Moore were awarded the top honors today in Ring Magazine's copyrighted rankings of 1961.

Brown, the 35-year-old clouter from Baton Rouge, La., and the 28-year-old Moore of Columbus, Ohio, were the only champions placed alone in the category in their respective divisions.

On the other hand, Ring editor Nat Fleischer rated three fighters Ring recognizes as champions behind other men in their divisions.

Light heavyweights Archie Moore, recognized by New York, Massachusetts and Europe as champion of the 175-pounders, was placed second behind Harold Johnson, of Philadelphia, hailed as king by the National Boxing Association.

Gene Fullmer, the NBA-recognized middleweight champion from West Jordan, Utah, was placed on top of the 160-pounders with Paul Pender of Brookline, Mass., second and Terry Downes of England, third.

Vintage Coaches In Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The football fortunes of Alabama and Arkansas were rather dismal in 1958 when both schools hired new coaches.

Paul (Bear) Bryant returned to Alabama—his alma mater—after becoming almost a legend as coach at Maryland, Kentucky, and then Texas A&M.

Alabama makes its third bowl appearance under Bryant in the 1962 Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. The Tide is a predominant favorite for its first post-season victory under the Bear, after one defeat and a tie.

Alabama's opponent will be Arkansas, whose young Frank Broyles is rapidly building a legend at Fayetteville.

In 1958, Broyles came to Arkansas after making his debut the previous year as head coach of Missouri.

Under Broyles, Arkansas has a 29-13 record. Three successive bowl appearances represent a new high at Arkansas.

Schayes Streak To End at 705

BOSTON (AP) —Veteran Dolph Schayes' great iron man performance will come to an end tonight when the Syracuse Nats meet the Los Angeles Lakers in a National Basketball Association twinbill at Philadelphia.

For Schayes will be in a hospital bed here—his right cheek bone shattered—as the players tap off in the city of brotherly love.

The 33-year-old Schayes, highest scorer in NBA history, was injured Tuesday night in a collision with Al Attles of the Warriors in the first game of a twinbill won by Philadelphia, 118-111.

The injury stops Schayes' consecutive game streak at 705—at 764 including playoff action.

The fancy Boston Celtics finally overcame the Lakers in the nightcap of the doubleheader here, 127 112.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It was a year of trial and tragedy for Hollywood.

Trouble came in big doses in 1961. Economics were grinding at the movie industry. There was much cry that films were becoming immoral. More of the greats were taken by death.

But show people are incurable optimists. At year's end they managed to find hope for the film business, which still could look lively when it was supposed to roll over and die.

10 Hollywood Stories

This is how the top 10 stories of Hollywood appeared to this reporter:

1. Gary Cooper dies. Even though his death was expected after a wasting illness, it was front-page news all over the world. Hollywood never quite realized his greatness until he was gone.

2. Liz Taylor wins Oscar. She had previously captured headlines when she declined a rendezvous with death in a London hospital. Her tottering walk to collect her Oscar for "Butterfield 8" was one of the great moments of Motion Picture Academy history.

3. The fire. Hollywood found itself caught up in real-life drama when a brush fire swept the hills of Bel-Air and Brentwood.

4. Jeff Chandler dies. His death after surgery was a shock, since he was believed to be suffering a minor ailment. It is a story that is not yet concluded.

John Clark Gable Born

5. John Clark Gable born. This news was a joyous aftermath to the loss last year of Hollywood's king.

6. The runaways. This was a continuing story that focussed light on Hollywood's new economics. A congressional hearing found no solution for the increasing move of filming to foreign lands.

7. Dinah Shore and George Montgomery part. This was the shocker amid the usual crop of filmland divorces. There was no preparation for the news of their impending divorce.

8. Morality. Another year-long story concerning Hollywood's attempt to match the outspokeness of European films.

9. Marilyn Monroe sheds Arthur Miller. Double-M showed no loss of her knack for making news during 1961, her illnesses and dates with Frank Sinatra adding to the total.

10. Lucille Ball remarries. Comedian Gary Morton annnounced "I love Lucy" and they tied the knot in New York.

The earliest child's toy may have been a miniature version of the caveman's club.

Icy Air Still Grips North Florida Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fresh surge of icy air spread across snow-covered regions in the northern Midwest today and freezing weather hit areas in northern Florida for the third straight morning.

Temperatures moderated in southern Florida after two days of unseasonable cold, with the mercury dropping to below freezing south of Miami Tuesday. It was 60 in Miami early today compared to Tuesday's low of 42, a record for the date, and 65 in Key West.

In Tallahassee, the state capital, it was below freezing, 31 degress, but warmer than Tuesday morning's chilly 20 degrees, the official low in the state. Temperatures were in the 30s in much of northern Florida but forecasters predicted readings would range from 65 to 70 today, with 70 to 75 in southern sections.

The cold weather in Florida caused some damage to unprotected young citrus fruit and to vegetables in the north central part of the state.

The frigid air in the northern Midwest, fanned by strong northwesterly winds, extended from the extreme northern Plains to western Lake Superior. It headed east and southward into other parts of the midwest, the lower Ohio Valley and upper Great Lakes region. It was -9 in International Falls, Minn., and -6 in Minneapolis with sub-zero readings in the Dakotas.

Readings were in the teens from the Rockies and other sections of the northern Plains into the western upper Great Lakes region.

It also was cold in sections of the east, with temperatures in the 20s in the northern Atlantic Coast states.

Normal Temperatures Due Through Jan. 1

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau for the period from 7 p.m. today to 7 p.m. Monday:

Eastern New York — Temperatures will average near normal. Turning colder at the beginning with no major day-to-day changes thereafter. Precipitation mostly as light snow or flurries tonight into Thursday and again over the weekend.

Western New York — Temperatures will average one to three degrees above normal. Colder Thursday and Friday then warmer over the weekend. Precipitation will average one half to one inch as occasional periods of snow or snow flurries during the period.

Temperature normals—Daytime highs 28-34; nighttime lows 8-18 generally except 16-24 near the lower Great Lakes.

Barclay Heights Fire Burns Out Family of Five

A Barclay Heights family of five was made homeless by fire Tuesday night which heavily damaged their home in Garden Circle. Firemen from Ulster, Malden-West Camp and Saugerties assisted the Glasco Vols in battling the flames.

The blaze, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Anderson, is believed by fire officials to have started in the family car, parked in a carport adjoining the home. The flames, according to Chief Charles J. Cafaldo of Glasco, had gained great headway when discovered. They completely destroyed the automobile, and the carport and then spread up the kitchen side of the Anderson home and into the attic.

Will Take Time to Repair

Chief Robert Desmond of Saugerties said firemen removed all the furniture from the home and as a result water damage was held to a minimum. He was unable to give an estimate of the damage but said the house, a one-story building, was so badly damaged it will take some time to make it fit for occupancy again.

The Andersons and their three children, all of grade school age, had plenty of time to escape to safety.

The Vols, who answered a bell alarm at 7:30 p. m., fought the flames more than one hour before recall was sounded.

Ministry Career To Be Topic at Bible Conclave

Saturday evening, Jan. 6 delegates at a Bible conference to be held here by Jehovah's Witnesses will be encouraged to consider, The Ministry as a Career, as Douglas Cowan speaks on this subject.

Mr. Cowan is a familiar figure to the 80 delegates representing the local congregation of Witnesses. He has been a resident of Kingston for 15 years and graduated from the Kingston High School.

Mr. Cowan has pursued the full time ministry for two and a half years. However, as all ministers of Jehovah's Witnesses are volunteer Bible educators and receive no pay for their ministry, he supports himself with the position of handyman for the Clinton Avenue Nursing Home here in Kingston.

Following the three days of conference, Mr. Cowan will continue giving free instruction in the Bible to many families both in Kingston and Saugerties.

Farm Income About Same 1st 11 Months

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported today that farmers' receipts for their products during the first 11 months of this year were about 2.5 per cent above the like period last year.

Total cash receipts were about $31,275,000,000, compared with $30.5 billion in the like period last year.

The report said a continued rise in consumer buying power this year is helping to support demand for farm products.

But of perhaps even greater importance in determining farm income, the report said, has been greater stability in prices of goods, services and machinery bought by farmers.

Executive Order Unlikely

Doubt JFK to Act On Housing Bias

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to lay aside an executive order that would prohibit racial discrimination in federally aided housing.

But, officials said Tuesday, he will speed up action on creation of a Cabinet-level department of urban affairs and housing, probably by taking a short cut—establishing the department under his own reorganization powers.

If this were done, congressional opponents of the new department would have to muster enough support to veto the plan within 60 days of its announcement by the President.

It has been widely predicted that Robert C. Weaver, administrator of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, would be named secretary of the department and become the first Negro to attain Cabinet rank.

But officials said privately this apparently is as far as the Kennedy administration will go in the field of racial equality in housing until Congress adjourns next summer.

On the advice of administration leaders in Congress and some other political advisers, it was reported, Kennedy is deferrin' a long-considered executive order barring racial or religious discrimination in any housing built with federal help in the form of loan, loan guarantee or mortgage insurance.

Officials earlier predicted freely the order would be forthcoming before Congress reconvened Jan. 10. Kennedy promised such an order in his presidential election campaign.

Kennedy is expected to support civil rights bills pending in both houses to prohibit racial discrimination in employment, speed up integration of schools and outlaw poll taxes in federal elections.

Bomb Shelters Are Urged for World Newlyweds

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Anthropologist Margaret Mead urges bomb proof shelters for the world's newlyweds—to assure continuance of the human race in the event of nuclear war.

Dr. Mead, of the American Museum of Natural History, offered the suggestion in a talk to the 128th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science Tuesday.

"Let the United States propose," she suggested, "that the United Nations be asked to debate the feasibility of an internationally financed shelter system in which a cross-section of the most productive and highly motivated members of every country on every continent could be saved.

"Let us propose a program in which each country is assisted to build a blast-proof shelter sufficient to accommodate all of the people married in that country during a two week period (and that) during the first six months after marriage (they) spend two weeks in the shelter."

Addressing a special symposium on "Problems of Survival," Dr. Mead said such a shelter system for newyweds would enable the survival of a group that "would be the most highly motivated to try to continue their lives together and to reproduce themselves."

Son Identifies Woman in Snow, Still Critical

NEW YORK (AP)—A son has identified the woman found bruised and almost frozen to death in a snowbank on an East Riverfront parking lot on Christmas Day.

She is Mrs. Mary Saouter, 55, a widow, of Manhattan.

She was identified Tuesday night by Joseph Saouter, 20, a student at New York City Community College.

What happened to the woman is still a mystery. She is on the critical list at Bellevue Hospital, has only occasional moments of consciousness and cannot be questioned.

The son could tell police only that she spent Christmas Eve visiting friends in Manhattan.

He went to the police missing persons bureau Tuesday night and was sent to Bellevue Hospital to look at the previously unidentified woman.

Mrs. Saouter's face was discolored as though she had been slapped repeatedly.

Vientiane Talks Are Underway for Coalition Regime

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)— Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong arrived in Vientiane to talk with rightist Prince Boun Oum about formation of a coalition government.

Predictions of the outcome of the latest round of negotiations ranged from cautious hope to, "It will take a miracle to get a government formed."

It was Souvanna Phouma's first visit to Vientiane since Dec. 9, 1960, when his government abandoned the capital to the advancing forces of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, now the deputy premier in Boun Oum's government. Souphanouvong and his top lieutenants escaped from a Vientiane prison in the spring of 1960.

Boy, 15, Admits Holdup Slaying

NEW YORK (AP)—A 15-year-old boy has admitted the holdup slaying of a Brooklyn hardware store proprietor on Christmas Day, police report.

Police lodged a homicide charge Tuesday night against the boy, Stanley James of Brooklyn, a ninth-grade student with two previous arrests for juvenile delinquency.

The victim was Armin Braun, 50, a German refugee who survived a Nazi concentration camp. He was stabbed to death with a bayonet in his store.

The holdup attempt failed. It cost the killer $1, which he paid for a padlock in a ruse intended to get Braun to open the cash register.

Braun, however, made change from his pockets. Police said the boy made a grab for the money in Braun's pocket, and when Braun resisted the boy stabbed him.

James is a Negro.
